ROOSEVELT HT BY AUTO

THE HOME PAPER OF BOSTON

BOSTON AMERICAN

FIFTH EDITION

Weather Forecast: Wednesday, Unsettled.

VOL. 7—No. 196. Registered in U. S. Patent Office. BOSTON, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1910.

Copyright, 1910, by the New England Newspaper Publishing Company.

PRICE ONE CENT.

BIG FAIR OPENS AT BROCKTON

BROCKTON, Oct. 4.—Brockton Fair, the annual four-days' whirl of this city of shoes, opened to-day for its thirty-seventh consecutive season, with Claude Grahame-White, the English aviator, as the headline attraction.

It's lucky Brockton Fair doesn't occur when they are taking the census. The census man would have a fit. From the time the gates swung apart at 7 o'clock, thousands, literally thousands, kept coming into the fair grounds.

The attractions, the entries and exhibits, are record-breakers in quantity. The opening day attendance looked as though it would be the same. Last year let 10,000 men, women and children through the gates on the first day of the fair. With the superb program offered this year the 1910 Brockton Fair was a bigger magnet than ever.

White, The "Headliner."

Of course Claude Grahame-White, or Grahame-White, as they called him at the big aviation meet at Squantum—is the big special card, in a manner of speaking, the headline act this year is "away up in the air." Which is the proper place for a flying machine artist to be. It is a high act and it brought a high price—$15,000. But that's the way they do things at Brockton Fair. Funny thing, Grahame-White not only carries Brockton Fair up in the air this year, but the Fair also ducks down underground for the first time in its honorable history.

The subway is underground. Yes, there is a subway at Brockton Fair. It leads from the grandstand enclosure, right down under the home stretch of the race track and up and out into the track enclosure. Ed. Thompson, as treasurer of the Fair, had to draw a check for about $6,000 for that little subway feature. But it will be worth that to save people dodging across the race track between heats.

There's a Midway show partly underground, too, the Flying Ride. Tiger Pat are new to Brockton Fair this season. The tank they dive in is sunk in the ground.

Figures help sometimes in giving an idea of this show's features:

Brockton Fair, during its four days last year, had a total attendance of 157,557. The total gate receipts were $37,655.

This year's total attendance and gate receipts remain to be seen, of course.

But entry and exhibition figures are known. Here are a few:

Horse races—444 entries, last year 404.

Horse show—851 entries, last year 446.

Cattle show—1144 entries, last year 294.

Poultry, pigeons and pet stock—7,700 entries.

Flying machines, one entry (a record.)

H-A-N-G-A-R Spells Hangar.

Lots of Brocktonians were at the Squantum meet, of course, but lots of them were not. And those who were wish to see Grahame-White once again, for the interest in the English birdman "birdman" has to be used once in this aviation story) is keen.

In coming to the fair Grahame-White has brought another new feature here. This is the first time that Brockton Fair ever had a really, truly hangar.

Now, for the love of Mike, as Mutt says, don't call it a tent. It's a hangar—ha-n-g-a-r, just like that. The "g" is hard, something as though you started to say "hand-car" but had a cold and spoke it with a tremolo. Several persons were detected right in the act to-day of calling it a tent, which isn't at all clubby, not by a skid-full.

Most any time to-day, when the Grahame-White biplane wasn't biplaning one could see about 5,464 people jammed around the hangar and trying to figure out which one of the mechanicians was Grahame-White.

Having settled to their satisfaction which one of the flying machine flew fastest, the crowd strolled along, reflecting on the money there must be in aviation at $15,000 per four days' work at it.

Well, they couldn't all be aviators. But that's no reason why Fred Bitles, having hired six feet ground frontage from Boss Pope of the Midway at the front foot for a lunch stand, shouldn't stick a little tin model of an aeroplane on top of his stand and call it the "Mooning Lunch." Bitles isn't overlooking a single publicity bet.

The Same Midway Favorite.

It's the same Midway this year only more so. There are new shows side by side with some of the veterans.

Among the old timers is that peerless trio of Brockton showmen, Lew Walker, "Gold Button Bill" and "Billy" Nelson. One bid is on reliable authority that "we" constitute the three most famous showmen on the ground.

Lew Walker, Jegal "Diamond Lew" because his bicycle are plugged with diamonds (gold being scarce that year) is on the same old stand on the right-hand corner of the Midway going in. He has his vaudeville show, as usual.

On the other corner is "Billy" Nelson with "Elsie, the Wonder," and a chaste collection of snakes, iguanas, baby "crocs" and such reptiles. Down the line on the right "Gold Button Bill" shows the "Terrible Child," with "Indian Pete," six helper same as ever. It's twenty or twenty-one years—maybe twenty-three since they began coming to Brockton Fair. They can't recognize themselves.

All These Things to Be Seen at Brockton Fair

The funny side of the fa ir as seen by Moynehan.

QUINN WINS NOMINATION ON RECOUNT

John Quinn, Jr., defeated at the primaries for the Democratic nomination for the Governor's Council in the Third Councillor District, was to-day declared nominated after a recount of the ballots just completed by the Board of Election Commissioners. By the original count former Representative Edward D. Collins of South Boston lead Quinn by 15. The recount gives the nomination to Quinn by 18.

Quinn made a net gain of 25 votes in the recount of the ballots in Wards 6, 7 and 3, which was done to-day. In Ward 6 he gained 7. In Ward 7, his own ward, he gained 35. The original figures in this ward gave Collins 40, Quinn 644. To-day's count makes the result stand Collins 45, Quinn 681. The error was caused here by the tabulators counting 50 votes which they failed to transfer to the tally sheet.

In Ward 3 Quinn gained 11 more. Added to the gains he made yesterday, it gives him a lead of 18 in the city of Boston. In Cambridge, two wards, of which alone are comprised in the district, Quinn gained 4 votes by a recount of the ballots last night.

Mr. Quinn's nomination is equivalent to an election.

LYNN EMPLOYERS OF CHILDREN ARE FINED

LYNN, Oct. 4.—For employing children in their factories without a permit from their parents and the school authorities Charles P. Simpson, manufacturer of machines, and Baldwin & Beckman, shoe manufacturers, found guilty by Judge Lummus in the local Police Court to-day. Simpson paid $20 and Baldwin & Beckman $50, which was the cost of the court. Their cases were placed on file. Their appearance in court was the result of a crusade started by Angus McDonald, the State factory inspector.

WESTERN FREIGHT INCREASE HALTED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Advances in rates on westbound transcontinental traffic from eastern points, which were to have become effective October 10, were suspended to-day by the Interstate Commerce Commission until February 6 next. The new schedule contemplated advances of from 8 to 25 per cent. on lumber, mineral products, cement and other commodities and affected 491 railroads operating in almost every section of the United States.

STEALS $180 PLUMES.

The plate glass window of the store of Barnett Roberts, No. 51 green street, West End, was broken early to-day with a brick by some person, who afterwards took a number of ostrich plumes valued at $180.

THE WEATHER.

Fair to-night; Wednesday unsettled, probably fair. Brisk southwest winds.

Sun rises, 5:45 a. m.; sets, 5:23 p. m.
Moon sets, 6:08 p. m.
High tide, 12:02 p. m.

ROURKE DROPS HOURIN IN CITY YARD QUARREL

Christopher D. A. Hourin, chief inspector of the Sanitary Division of the Street Department, was discharged by Superintendent of Streets Rourke to-day for assaulting Eugene Canney, one of the laborers of the department and for carrying a loaded revolver.

Eugene Canney, the laborer, whose dispute with Hourin caused the latter to draw a revolver, was also discharged, the superintendent finding him guilty of drinking during working hours and of using insulting language to his superior officer. Both discharges take effect to-day.

The action of the superintendent follows public hearings given to both employes at which the trouble which occurred in the South End yard of the Street Department on September 2 was thoroughly aired. The evidence proved that Hourin had drawn a revolver upon Canney after the latter had remonstrated with him over being temporarily suspended.

In discharging Hourin, Superintendent Rourke ignores a recommendation made by John A. Sullivan, chairman of the Finance Commission, Sullivan made a personal investigation of the charges and sent a letter to the superintendent stating that he did not believe that the evidence warranted Hourin's discharge. He admitted that while he might be guilty it would be better to punish him with a temporary suspension rather than have the city lose the services of a capable and efficient employe.

Hourin has been in the employ of the city eleven years and was paid $1,000 per year.

His place has been temporarily filled by the appointment of Thomas J. Watson, who has been employed as a foreman at $1,300 per year.

MELLEN AND BYRNES ON INSPECTION TOUR

President Charles S. Mellen, Vice-President T. J. Byrnes and General Manager Frank Barr of the Boston & Maine will start on a tour of inspection tomorrow morning, covering about 700 miles. This trip is for the purpose of studying the physical condition of the road and to consider more expeditious handling of traffic.

JOHN CARMICHAEL BURIED.

The funeral of John Carmichael, for eighteen years a trunt officer in Cambridge, was held to-day from the Church of St. Mary's of the Annunciation, Cambridgeport. High mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. Dennis Brown, assisted by Fathers Barry and Walsh. Seated inside the chancel rail was Mgr. John O'Brien, pastor of the Church of the Sacred Heart, East Cambridge. John B. Whorisky sang "Pie Jesu" and "De Profundis."

5 MILES SWEPT BY FIRE

ROCKLAND, Oct. 4.—With five square miles of valuable timber land laid waste, and several houses destroyed or badly damaged by flames, forest fires were still burning in the thick woods between this village and Abington late this afternoon.

Hundreds of volunteers have been helping the fire departments of Abington and Rockland to prevent the flames from reaching the villages.

The big fire has been burning for five days and the firemen and volunteers who have been battling with the flames almost constantly since Thursday morning are almost exhausted. Several thousand dollars' damage has already been caused by the fire.

The firemen are massed on the outskirts of this town and the same at Abington. If they succeed in preventing the flames from reaching the two villages the fire is certain to sweep several more miles through the woods in the other direction before it can be checked. Persons here are praying for rain as it is thought a heavy rainstorm will check the progress of the fire.

The dense smoke hangs like a pall over the surrounding country and the heavy atmosphere is causing great inconvenience not only among the men who are fighting the fire but among the residents of neighboring towns.

Aid Asked of Other Towns.

Calls for assistance have been sent to several of the cities and towns in the vicinity and additional firemen and volunteers arriving from all directions to take the places of those who are worn out by their battle with the flames. Fire Warden Lawrence is directing the work of the firemen and his work so far has been very effective in keeping the flames away from the towns.

Should the wind suddenly shift Rockland will be directly in the path of the fire. The fire has leaped up several times, creeping up to within fifty yards of the valuable residences and the firemen had all they could do to keep the flames from many houses and barns which were in danger. Several of these caught fire as a result of sparks falling on the roofs or lodging among the eaves but each blaze was discovered almost as soon as it started.

The fire after raging through the Whitman woods is burning in the wooded section north of Summer street and bounded on the west by Plymouth street in Abington, on the east by Spring street and north by Centre avenue in both Rockland and Abington.

If the fire crosses Spring street it will enter the woods near the Rockland almshouse and will sweep through to Concord street and along Summer street toward West Hanover. A determined stand is being made here. For the past forty-eight hours the firemen have been trying to prevent the flames from leaping across Spring street into the wooded tracts on the other side.

Burning in Grove.

The fire is moving northeast from Abington toward Spring street and the flames sweeping across the fields and woods have reached the Holy Family cemetery and are now burning in the small grove which lines the roadway. The residences of Francis Gilbride, James Mahoney and William Gaines are situated on Centre avenue, almost at the very edge of the woods directly in the path of the fire. These houses caught fire several times but the members of Hose Company No. 1 and Hose Company No. 2 made a valiant stand there and succeeded in turning the fire. The house of Fire Engineer Horatio Burgess of Hose Company No. 1 also caught fire but the flames were extinguished before much damage was done.

NAVY YARD WORKMEN BACK POLICE CHIEF

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Oct. 4.—Chief of Police Thomas Entwistle has been indorsed for the appointment of Commissioner of the Navy Yard League of Workers. While in the police department thirty years Chief Entwistle has held many offices, including that of State senator. Since an opponent presented to the board of police that the officer had no right to accept other offices while remaining at the head of the police department. Chief Entwistle refused to resign and the board of police refused to remove him.

WRONG MEDICINE; MAN DROPS DEAD

NEWBURYPORT, Oct. 4.—Charles A. Stewart, a well-known driver in West Newbury, sent to the medicine chest in his home yesterday afternoon to get some spirits of nitre for a cold with which he was suffering. He took instead a bottle of muriatic acid, drank some and fell to the floor dead in the presence of a woman relative. The body will be taken to Lawrence, where relatives live.

INDIAN WINS BY 9 VOTES.

EASTPORT, Me., Oct. 4.—A special election was held at the Pleasant Point village of Passamaquoddy tribe, five miles from here, to-day. Lew Mitchell was chosen Representative to the Legislature by a majority of nine votes. William Neptune of the same tribe was a strong favorite at Peter Dennis Point settlement, near Princton, where a smaller branch of the Passamaquoddy tribe is located.

MR. NALETTA PAID.

Luigi Naletta of Border street, West Newton, was fined $50 in the Newton District Court to-day for maintaining a liquor nuisance. He paid.

"WHO'S LOONY NOW?" PIG IS NAMED AFTER PRINCE DOLGOROUKI

RICHMOND, Oct. 4.—John Armstrong Chalmer, brother of "Sheriff Bob" Chanler of New York and the originator of the query, "Who's Loony now?" has come again into the spotlight at the Virginia State Fair by entering his prize pig under the name of Prince Dolgorouki, after the Russian nobleman who has played a prominent part as the friend of Cavalieri in the publicity given the ex-sheriff and his songbird wife. The porker's pen is elaborately bedecked with banners bearing the name of the Russian Prince, and great crowds of the sightseekers gather about it. It has proved the amusing feature of the big fair.

HEINZE AGAIN ON THE STAND IN LOAN SUIT

The cross-examination of F. Augustus Heinze, which is expected to continue for the rest of the week and in which at least a dozen lawyers are expected to take part, was commenced to-day before Master F. Rockwood Hall when the hearing on Heinze's suit against a score of Boston brokers was resumed. A. D. F. Adams is the principal defendant. The charge made by Heinze is that Adams and other disposed of securities left by him with Adams to secure loans amounting to $300,000.

When court opened Heinze was questioned briefly in continued direct examination. He testified that in November, 1908, when the first two loans were made by Adams, he did not know that the Shawmut Bank and the J. Thomas Reinhardt Company figured in the transactions. Heinze also declared that all three copper stocks that he gave as security—Ohio Copper, United Copper and Davis-Daly—had a good future. He said he still believed this.

Questioned by Jones.

Former United States District Attorney Boyd Jones, a member of the array of counsel for the defendants to cross-question the copper magnate. He secured from the witness the admission that the Heinze interests had dealings with Adams and Warfield were made for Heinze's benefit and the collateral given by those two was entirely satisfactory to them, and, further, that the money they received all went to him. Attorney Jones then asked:

"How long ago did you know that you were to testify at this hearing in your own behalf?"

"I think it was at the time the suit was brought."

"Have you discussed with your counsel the subject matter of your testimony recently?"

"Yes."

"When?"

"Last Sunday, when I came to Boston."

"When before that?"

"Friday, in New York, in August before that and in April before that."

Never Examined Checks.

"Up to the present time have you examined your check books to find out what rate of interest and commission was paid on the Adams loan?" No. I never examined my check books to detail. I began, though, that they are very lovely check books.

The copper magnate laughed heartily as he gave this answer. As he laughed he dropped a pair of gold pince-nez which he had been playing. The instant they were dropped at least six lawyers and a court officer jumped to the stand to find them. Heinze himself picked them up after a few minutes.

"Have you examined your check books generally?"

"No."

"What did you mean then when you said that you had never examined them in detail?"

"Well, I have seen the outside covers and that is about all."

"Did you between last Sunday when you conferred with your lawyer that your check books showed the rate of interest and the commission on the Adams loan?

"Yes."

Ready to Show Books.

Mr. Heinze then denied that he talked with his lawyer about producing his check books in court and that his counsel had advised him not to produce them.

At this point Lawyer Badger for Heinze announced that check books were in court. Mr. Jones said that he would call for them later. He then asked the witness:

"Have you any objections to producing any other books that may relate to this matter?"

"I have not the slightest and would be glad to produce any books of documents that may in any way refer to this matter."

"Were any of the Ohio Copper stocks deposited by you as collateral for the Adams loan?" asked Lawyer Jones of the witness.

"Mr. Tyrrell W. Cavendish, at her home, Little Oak Hall, Stafford, Eng., Mr. Siegel received a "mother and son going sleighing" cablegram."

HENRY SIEGEL HAS GRANDSON

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Henry Siegel, dry goods merchant of national reputation, has a grandson, born to his only daughter, Mrs. Tyrrell W. Cavendish, at her home, Little Oak Hall, Stafford, Eng. Mr. Siegel received a "mother and son going sleighing" cablegram.

EX-PRESIDENT'S HORSE COLLIDES WITH A MACHINE

OYSTER BAY, L. I., Oct. 4.—Theodore Roosevelt had a narrow escape from death at the entrance of his Sagamore Hill estate to-day when a spirited black horse which he was riding was struck by an automobile and the Colonel sustained slight bruises.

Mrs. F. Southback, widow of a New York real estate dealer, was riding in the automobile.

ESCAPES WITH SLIGHT BRUISES.

Colonel Roosevelt's Western experience doubtless saved him from a fatal fall upon the macadamized roadway. Shortly after

TAFT STARTS SPOKANE FAIR

BEVERLY, Oct. 4.—President Taft pressed a button which set the machinery in motion and formally opened the Dry Farming Congress at Spokane, Wash.

Golf, a luncheon and motoring, together with a few hours at official business engagements, made up the President's first of the last two weeks of his Beverly vacation.

REWARD FOR LIQUOR SIGN.

Paisley Curley, whose conductx a liquor store in Hampden street, Roxbury, has offered a reward of $100 for the arrest and conviction of the person who took the large brass signs bearing his name from the Hampden street door of his establishment.

KING HONORS WASHINGTON

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 4.—King Frederick received Booker T. Washington, had a long talk with him about the colored race and asked for a copy of one of his publications.

Afterward, as the guest of prominent Danes, Mr. Washington motored to Fosklide, the ancient capital of Denmark, where he visited a school and had luncheon.

The AMERICAN has the evening "home" field in Boston exclusively."—Advertisers' Magazine.

Filene's "Walk Through Every Day" Filene's

Tunnel Bargain Basement

Entrance from Washington and Winter streets and Direct from Tunnel Trains.

Perhaps A Sign in the Tunnel Bargain Basement Is the Only "Ad" for Some Article You Want But Do Not See Advertised—

Obviously, with HUNDREDS OF BARGAINS every day—and only a few in the advertisements, the goal naturally must be advertised only by the signs and the price tags. That is why it is so important to make it a point to WALK THROUGH THE TUNNEL BARGAIN BASEMENT EVERY DAY!

A Big Sale of FALL SUITS —WEDNESDAY— Sold at These Low Prices Because They Are "Samples and Odd Garments"

Closed Out by the Manufacturers at Concessions!

Perhaps this is Just the Chance you have been waiting for to get your Fall Suit at a Saving.

Those who have been to Tunnel Bargain Basement sales before, know how extraordinary the values usually are. Those who have never been before will find this a good time to begin.

Hundreds of Other Lots Not Advertised—Wednesday!

Lot 1—29.75 to 35.00 Sample and Odd Suits: Imported Broadcloths and Worsteds; satin or mau de cygne lined; HARDLY ANY TWO ALIKE; trimmed or plain tailored styles. 19.75

Lot 2—22.50, 25.00 and 27.50 Suits: for women, misses and small women; Broadcloths, Serges and Worsteds; in navy, black and mixtures; ALL NEW MODELS, many with modifications of the Hobble; self or contrasting trimmings. 16.75

Lot 3—15.00 to 18.50 Fall Suits: made on the new straight lines; guaranteed satin linings; made in navy and black. 13.75

49th Weekly Sale Tomorrow

A Few

NEW PIANOS $190

Selected for their rare tonal quality and attractive case design, in Mahogany, Oak and Walnut; beautifully veneered and fully guaranteed. These instruments are selling in other stores from $250 to $300. Special at $190 .....

$5 Down, $5 Monthly

We also offer several exceptional bargains in Used Pianos, including Standard Makes of

UPRIGHTS AND CHICKERING GRANDS

Convenient Terms of Payment

Chickering & Sons

Salerooms at Factory, 791 Tremont St.

Cor. Northampton, Near Mass. Ave.

BOSTON AMERICAN

DICTIONARY COUPON

Tuesday, Oct. 4.

SEVEN COUPONS OF CONSECUTIVE DATES CONSTITUTE A SET.

Dictionary Dept., 272 Devonshire Street, Boston

HOLBROOKE IN NEW YORK TO GO ON STAND

George M. Holbrooke, manager of the Boston office of B. H. Scheftels & Co., arrived in New York today to be a witness in the case before the Federal Grand Jury there in regard to charges against members of the concern. He was served with a subpoena by mail in Boston yesterday afternoon.

The document was registered and left New York on the 5 o'clock train, and was received by Frederick P. Schmid, special agent in charge of the Department of Justice in this district, at 9:30 o'clock, and given to United States Deputy Marshal Bancroft to serve upon Holbrooke at his home, No. 120 Bowdoin street.

Holbrooke was released from Charles Street Jail yesterday after being locked up there for four days, at the request of the United States District Attorney in New York. The complaint charging him with using the mails in a scheme to defraud was withdrawn. Holbrooke went home, and wanted Mr. Schmid to accompany him to New York, because he wished to be guarded against approach by anybody who might want to dismiss the Scheftels case with him. The special agent went to New York with him.

Henry C. Kendrick and other Boston creditors of the Scheftels firm to-day sought from Judge Richardson in the Equity session of the Superior Court an injunction restraining the firm from disposing of any stocks, bonds, securities or money now in their possession. They also sought the appointment of a receiver. Attorneys for the firm pleaded the entire affair was in the hands of the Federal Government in New York. They offered to prove this and the case was continued until Monday.

VANNUTELLI IS IN NEW YORK TO-DAY

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—The celebration of the consecration of St. Patrick's Cathedral, the largest and most elaborate Roman Catholic edifice in America, began today when a party of clergymen headed by Monsignor Murphy and a number of laymen left Pier A, Manhattan, in a chartered boat for Hoboken, where they officially welcomed Cardinal Vannutelli, the papal delegate at the Eucharistic Congress recently held at Montreal, who will be the principal assistant at the consecration. Cardinal Vannutelli, with his suite, reached Newark from Philadelphia early today where they were the guests of Bishop O'Connor. A special mass will be celebrated in St. Patrick's Cathedral at Newark.

BOSTON BANKER SUED FOR DIVORCE

Suit for divorce against Benjamin H. Cram of Newton, a Boston banker well-known in yachting and club circles, has been begun in the Superior Court by his wife, Mrs. Myrtle A. Cram of Boston, who also asks alimony. Married at Cambridge, on April 11, 1904, the Crams lived together in Newton until Aug. 29, 1907, when, as the wife says forth in her libel, she was deserted. Mrs. Cram hailed the banker into the East Cambridge divorce session in 1908 and was granted separate support.

RAILROAD MEN IN SOUTH GET RAISE

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 4.—Announcement of a general increase of wages on the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad employees was made by J. L. McCallum, superintendent of the Nashville and Atlantic Railway Company, which is under lease to the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis. He said the increase is effective from Sept. 16, and that added to the increase by the same road on July 1 will swell the payroll about $300,000 yearly.

TO FIGHT HOOKWORM WITH KEROSENE OIL

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 4.—The Rockefeller Hookworm Commission of which John D. Rockefeller donated a million dollars to carry on its researches has been led by its investigations to believe that kerosene oil is the best weapon for fighting the ravages of the disease, according to an announcement made today. The scientists of the commission declare that nothing is so fatal to the larvae of the hookworm as kerosene. So far they have not expressed a preference for any special brand.

TO-DAY'S CABLE NEWS

Up to Midnight London Time

Miss Le Neve Writing Autobiography in Jail.

LONDON—Dr. H. H. Crippen and his alleged accomplice, Ethel Le Neve, are apparently not worrying over the outcome of their trials this month when both will be arraigned, charged with the murder of Crippen's wife, Mrs. Belle Elmore Crippen. The American doctor is confined in the infirmary of Brixton Jail. He has elaborate meals sent in from a fashionable restaurant. He spends his time in reading, his preference being given to love stories. Miss Le Neve, who is charged with being an accessory after the fact, is an inmate of the infirmary of Holloway Jail. She appears to be cheerful and has spent the greater part of her time dictating her autobiography, which will subsequently appear in book form.

$50 For Coronation Seats.

LONDON—Although no announcement has been made of the official route of next June's coronation procession the pageant will probably take the following course: From Buckingham Palace, by way of the Mall and the new Trafalgar Arch, through the Strand and Fleet street to Ludgate Circus; thence to Blackfriars Bridge, returning by the Victoria embankment to Westminster Abbey. Agents are already booking seats along the Strand and Fleet street at high as $50 apiece.

Gladys Unger's Play a Success.

LONDON—One of the wittiest and best acted plays London has seen in a long time is "Inconstant George." It is Charles Hawtrey at his very best. It is safe to predict that for many months it will fill the Prince of Wales Theatre. Miss Gladys Unger, an American girl, adapted from the French the farce by Messieurs De Flers and Caillavet and made an exceedingly good job of it.

Meteor Half as Big as Moon.

JOHANNESBURG—The sunglow of this city were startled by the appearance of a huge meteor which seemed to be about half the size of the full moon and which illuminated the sky for fully three minutes. The brilliancy of the meteor was fully equal to that of a naval searchlight at a distance of not more than fifty yards.

To Lock Out 500,000 Germans.

BERLIN—The negotiations which have been going on with the object of preventing a lockout of the metal workers have failed. Nearly 100,000 men are affected in Berlin alone, while it is estimated that at least 500,000 throughout Germany will be turned out on October 8.

First Flight Over St. Petersburg.

ST. PETERSBURG—The first aeroplane flight over St. Petersburg was made by Lieutenant Rudakoff in a Farman machine. Starting from the aviation field of Novaya Derevnaya, the aviator followed the river Neva, twice circled about the spire of Saint Isaac's Cathedral, and passed over an island in the Finnish Gulf.

Claretie Quits as Director.

PARIS—Mons. Jules Claretie will retire from the directorship of the Comedie Francaise, with which he has been connected for twenty-five years, on October 25, and become dramatic critic of the Journal.

Portuguese Deputy Shot.

LISBON, Portugal—Professor Homem-rio, a Republican Deputy and brilliant anti-Clerical, was shot and dangerously wounded by an army lieutenant, formerly a patient in Bombeiros Hospital.

Temperance Honor for Pollard.

AUGSBURG, Bavaria—The National Temperance Convention gave one day to honoring Judge William Jefferson Pollard of St. Louis, whose system of reforming inebriates will be introduced in Germany.

17th Lord Borthwick is Dead.

LONDON—Lord Borthwick, the seventeenth of that line, died to-day, and the famous old Borthwick title expired with him, as he left no heir. The Borthwick barony was created in 1452.

Fooling

Some may think so—but——what about those—most of whom come six times a week—

ASK 'EM—THEY KNOW—what we claim is true—to serve the VERY HIGHEST GRADE of FOOD at prices out of question with the old style of restaurant—IT'S THE NEW WAY!!

OUR MENU IS VARIED—A FEW PRICES

Soup 5c	Chicken Croquette 8c
Fried Scallops 15c	Corned Beef Hash 7c
Prime Rib of Beef 15c	Salads 5c
Hamburg Steak 12c	Home Made Pastry 5c

PURITAN CAFETERIA

QUALITY FOOD

597 Washington Street

Opp. Siegel's. Over Rikor-Jaynes' New Store. Elevator Service.

Open Evenings Until 7.30. Music Saturday Evenings

DOUBLE LEGAL STAMPS FORENOONS

Houghton-Dutton Co

It pays to pay Cash

NEW ENGLAND'S GREAT CASH HOUSE.

WEDNESDAY

Is House Furnishing Day Here

$22.95 for This $33.50 Suit

The Above Cut shows one of the neatest and best proportioned 3-piece Parlor suits we have seen. It is a full serpent back, scroll arms and cane seat. The upholstering is of silk plush. Regular value $33.50. Our price..... 22.95

$3.95 Mission Rockers $1.98

Mission Rockers, like cut, made of very heavy stock, roomy and comfortable, and we consider it a wonderful bargain. Chair to match at same price. Value $3.95. 1.98

8.50 Oak Dressers 5.95

This Golden Oak Dresser has 5 large store drawers, the French plate mirror is 24x28 inches, the finish and construction is excellent. Value $8.50. Special at 5.95

$8.95 for This $14.00 Couch

This Couch is of the Famous Steel Construction, and is full size. The frame is made of selected oak, the upholstering is of Boston leather, with diamond tuft. Regular value $14.00. Our price..... 8.95

$5.50 Bed For 3.98

Heavy Continuous Post Iron Bed like cut, with 2 inch posts, all white enamel finish. All sizes..... 3.98

$5.50 Mattress for $3.98—Combination mattress, 6 inches thick, with extra white cotton top and bottom and excellent grade of ticking; a heavy fancy striped ticking. 3.98

10c Pillow for 59c—A guaranteed all feather pillow; 20x26 inches; fine ticking in red and dust; blue and white ticking; 59c each.....

23.50 Brass Bed Outfit for 15.75

"Colonial Design" Brass Bed—Like cut, with 2-inch posts, an all steel National spring and a white cotton top and bottom mattress. All sizes..... 15.75

$2.00 Spring for $3.75—All steel frame, pricely bronzed, with a National wire top; has extra heavy pine slats and large coil springs, that make spring unusually high. 3.75

$15.00 Mattress for $9.98—A guaranteed all hair mattress, made in our own workrooms. Regular thickness and 40 lbs. weight. A. C. A. ticking..... 9.98

$9.50 Bed For 6.98

Fancy Enamelled Bed like cut, with 2-inch posts, full size, with heavy fancy links and spindles. All sizes..... 6.98

$5.00 Couch Cot $3.98—All steel frame couch, 30 inches wide with a National fabric spring, complete with white cotton top and bottom mattress..... 3.98

$9.00 Enamelled Bed for $6.49—Drop side couch, all steel, with National spring, complete with bleached mattress that rests perfectly flat at the sides..... 6.49

Comfort and Economy in Bed Clothing

Comforters

$1.25 Comforters, white cotton filled, silkoline covered, neat patterns, a quick and durable covering at 87c

$7.50 Fine Wool-Filled Comforters, covered with plain silk of all colors..... 5.00

$2.00 Blankets, gray or white, very good quality, good size, very warm. Per pair 1.49

$5.00 Blankets, white, with pink, blue or gold borders, full bed size, with 4-inch silk binding to match color of border. $3.50 per pair 3.50

All Pure Wool Blankets, extra fine quality, as good value as we know of anywhere; 5 lbs. of pure wool to the pair, at $5.00 per pair.. 5.00

Fringed Bed Spreads, with fringe, full size, worth today $1.75 each. We bought all the mill had, and offer them at..... 1.23

Blankets

$3.50 Blankets, a fine lot, extra quality and size, a very good blanket at $3.50 a pair. Our price 2.50

$2.50 Blankets, gray, white, pink or plaids, in the lot, including 300 pairs of pink Hospital Blankets, made to sell at $3.00 per pair; all to go at one price, $1.79 per pair..... 1.79

$2.50 Bed Spreads, with tied fringe, extra size, very heavy quality Marseilles patterns; a splendid bargain at..... 1.75

15c Quality 'of Pillow Cases—These we consider the best values in Boston at 15c each. Our price, per pair, 20c..... 20c

Seamed Sheets, size 72x90 inches, good quality of cotton; only a small quantity at this price, and worth 69c..... 46c

Bedspreads

Full size, worth $1 each, hemmed ready for use, only 210 in this lot, while they we could secure; 69c each..... 69c

Scotch Lace Curtain Sale

COUCH COVERS—Special lot of 200 covers, consisting of Kashgar, Nogas and beautiful tufted covers, in a wide variety of colors and designs, fringed and plain, worth from $1.75 to $3.00. Special for this week at 98c

$1.25 Covers, each 98c
$1.98 Covers, each 1.39
$2.50 Covers, each 1.69
$3.00 Covers, each 2.98
$5.00 Covers, each 3.98

MUSLIN CURTAINS—Scrim and fancy weave muslin curtains, with full ruffle all around, plain or figured centers, 2½ yards long. Value 44c

SASH CURTAINS—Scrim and fancy weave muslin, very well made and of good quality. Value 19c. Value 25c a pair..... 19c

HUCK TOWELING—In plain red and green, suitable for fancy work and hemstitching; also for general use. Value 15c a yard..... 12c

This $2.00 Curtain and 12 others PAIR 1.39

This $3.00 Curtain and 14 others PAIR 1.98

This $4.00 Curtain and 10 others PAIR 2.98

Above pairs shown in 5 of the 15 lots of these beautiful curtains. You will find every number in quality a good value in proportion.

CRETONNES—36-inch, 40-inch, 45-inch in light and dark effects, many new and pretty patterns, value 20c a yard..... 15c

CURTAIN MATERIALS—Consisting of madras and cretonne in colors, fancy nets, in ecru and colors, 30 styles; values up to $1 yard..... 39c

COLONIAL CURTAIN SCRIM, in colors, can be made into beautiful fancy curtains; handsome color combinations, worth 25c. Value 20c a yard..... 19c

FISH NET CURTAINS—Full 3 yards long, white and ecru, with knotted fringe, in neat and effective patterns. Regular value 75c a pair..... 59c

COTTON ARMURE PORTIERES, in solid colors, finished with knotted fringe, rich colors, serviceable quality, regular $5.00 a pair, at..... 3.98

SOFA PILLOWS—24x24 inches, covers of silk with ruffle all around, with silk cushions with green, green and tan, and blue. Value 69c each..... 39c

RUG FRINGE—Plain wool Bullon Rug Fringe in solid and mixed colors, made with hooking to admit rug; value 10c a yard, at..... 5c

Floor Coverings at New Low Prices

AXMINSTER RUGS, beautiful covering for parlor floor:
Size 8.3x12.6, $21 value, at 15.98
Size 9x12, $22 value, at 17.98

CREX GRASS RUGS, size 36x72. Regular price $1.25, at, each..... 98c

AXMINSTER RUGS, choice Oriental designs:
Size 27x63, $2.25 value, at... 1.63
Size 36x72, $4.00 value, at... 2.98

TAPESTRY BRUSSELS RUGS:
Size 8.3x10.6, $11 value, at... 8.98
Size 9x12, $14 value, at... 11.98

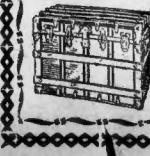
20,000 YARDS OF CHINA MATTING, just received, new fresh stock of our own direct importation. Special sale prices for this week only:

Lot 1—15c Value, at 9c
Lot 2—25c Value, at 15c
Lot 3—38c Value, at 25c

These prices are by the roll of 20 or 40 yards only. On any other quantity we shall be obliged to charge the regular price.

INLAID LINOLEUMS, colors through to the back, tile patterns, $1.25 value, at 78c per square yard..... 78c

Theatrical Trunks at Very Low Prices



Our Beacon Trunk belongs in this class. It is made as well as it possibly can be and the material used is of the best. We give a guarantee for one year against damage. Come and examine it. We give below the prices on three sizes:

34-in. 36-in. 38-in.

$9.98 $10.49 $10.98

BOSTON PLANS BIG FETES FOR COLUMBUS DAY

Not only will Wednesday of next week, October 12, be a legal holiday, so declared by the State in honor of the great discoverer, Christopher Columbus, but in Boston it will be a real fete day replete with features of patriotic significance and splendor.

A Columbus Day parade, the largest demonstration Boston has witnessed in many years, will march through the city streets and the leading business houses along the route will be decorated in appropriate manner.

The executive committee in charge of the Columbus Day observance has received assurance of the most hearty co-operation from the general business public, both in the retail and wholesale districts, and from every quarter come signs that the new holiday will be respected in wholehearted and enthusiastic manner.

Mass at Cathedral.

The Boston celebration of the day will begin with a solemn pontifical mass at the cathedral to be attended by many of the clergy of Boston and the archdiocese and at which a sermon on the meaning of the day will be preached by Archbishop O'Connell.

The great Columbus parade, in command of Colonel Sullivan as chief marshal and Captain J. G. Feeuessey as chief of staff, will start at noon sharp from the corner of Beacon and Hereford streets. It will come in towards the centre of the city through Beacon street to Tremont street, to Court square, to Washington street, to Temple place, back to Tremont street, to Boylston street, to Park square, where the parade will be disolved.

Review of Archbishop.

The column will be reviewed at the corner of Arlington and Beacon streets by Archbishop O'Connell, at the State House by Governor Draper, on the Tremont street side of the Common by Mayor Fitzgerald, and at Park Square by Colonel Sullivan and his staff.

In addition to the Boston celebration, Columbus Day will be honored by parades or banquets in Worcester, Springfield, Lowell, Brockton, Haverhill and other cities and towns throughout Massachusetts.

PASTOR COACHES SCHOOL ELEVEN

MIDDLEBORO, Oct. 4.—The Rev. Harry Webb Farrington, pastor of the South Middleboro Congregational Church, has been engaged in coaching the Middleboro High School football eleven. The Rev. Mr. Farrington is a graduate of Harvard and obtained a considerable knowledge of the game at that place. He done his scrimmage togs daily and gets right into the game, showing by his own actions how the new plays should be executed.

Who Said They Never Come Back?

TAFT RE-ELECTION OVERSHADOWS ALL OTHER 1912 ISSUES

My view of American politics is that the people are making a fuss over the most minor questions and that before election both parties will sink their differences and present solid fronts. The re-election of President Taft in 1912 is so much to be desired that the Republicans should put every other issue aside.—Andrew Carnegie in interview at London.

You see the AMERICAN everywhere—in the homes, clubs, restaurants, hotels, cars and boats.

"Swift & Company's sales of Fresh Beef in Boston for the week ending Saturday, October 1st, averaged 9.35 cents per pound."

'OLD DOC' COOK 'COMING BACK' TO SHOW US

Stop the engines! Brake up! Throw in the reverse! "Old Doc," Cook is coming back. He did discover the North Pole and he's going to prove it yet. There's nothing to this Peary stuff. So says "Old Doc," Cook.

Dr. Cok disappeared from the limelight last November. Since May he has been living in London. When he left New York a year ago he went to Toronto, Halifax, Liverpool, Gibraltar, Tangier, Portugal, Lisbon, Buenos Ayres, Valparaiso, back to Liverpool and thence to London. Now he is planning to return to the United States and to show the revi "Who's Who at the North Pole." And there will be no place for one Pear ym that work.

"I did not run away from my task," says Dr. Cook, "but from the intolerable conditions that were created to ruin it and to goad and harass me. What I so dearly earned may have been filched from me, but only temporarily. It will come back to me, just as I shal come back."

Dr. Cook objects particularly to Peary's claim to have traveled 135 miles in four days on the return trip from the Pole to his ship.

"Peary has only one to on each foot," says Cook, "and Perus cripled he could not have made the journey in four days without an airplane."

In this connection it is interesting to note that despatches from Portland, Me., quote Peary's diary in support of Peary's original contention. The diary reads:

"From her to the Pole and back has been a glorious sprint, with a savage finish. Its results are due to hard work, little sleep, much experience, first-class equipment and good fortune in the way of weather and open water."

This entry was written two days on the way back from the Pole. It explains in a nutshell, Peary's friends say, the remarkable speed to which Dr. Cook takes exception.

DROP RAID CHARGE AGAINST POLICE HEAD

WAKEFIELD, R. I., Oct. 4.—Police Chief Caswell of Narragansett was discharged by the District Court on a charge of malfeasance, Judge Lewis saying sufficient evidence had not been presented. Caswell was not obliged to take the stand. The case is an aftermath of the raid on the Narragansett Club, August 7, by Constable Cross, who claims that he found about thirty New York society people in the club rooms, which contained many gambling implements. At the conclusion of the State's testimony Attorney A. J. Cushing, for the defense, moved to have the case dismissed.

BAD HALF DOLLARS SOLD FOR A QUARTER

It is believed that counterfeiters have adopted a novel means of disposing of their spurious coins in Boston. Federal authorities have discovered that counterfeit half dollars have been sold to Boston newsboys for twenty-five cents. The discovery was made when a boy who paid to had bought the half dollar, asked John P. Mahoney, a cigar dealer at No. 240 Washington street, if one of the coins would pass. The piece was made of base metal and silver plated. Secret Service Agent Patrick J. Ahern was notified and is making an investigation.

80 DROWNED IN EXPLOSION OF STEAMSHIP

COLON, Panama, Oct. 4.—Eighty persons perished when the Pacific Steam Navigation Company steamship Chiriqui plunged to the bottom of the Pacific Ocean, following the explosion of her boilers ninety miles from Panama, according to advices received here to-day from Point Jarachine.

The Chiriqui was being driven under high pressure in the endeavor to make up lost time, this report states, when her boilers exploded. It was late in the afternoon of September 27, and the vessel was making top speed through a calm sea when, without warning, a terrific explosion occurred.

The passengers and members of the crew, about 100 in all, were thrown into a panic and a terrible fight took place around one of the life boats, which a few of the cooler members of the crew immediately started to launch. Before this boat could be lifted over the side the stern of the vessel lifted and the bow began to sink, the water rapidly creeping up the deck. At least half of the frenzied mob was swept overboard in the struggle.

The report from Point Jarachine, which is said to come from survivors, says that not more than a dozen succeeded in fighting their way into the lifeboat. Some of the survivors claimed that a second boat was launched and manned, but the majority of the dozen who landed at Jarachine on Saturday declare that but the one boat got away. If this is so the loss of life will be somewhere between 80 and 90.

The Chiriqui, which was bound for Colon, Peru, was equipped with wireless but the terrific force of the explosion and the swift sinking of the vessel made it impossible for the operator to even send out the "S. O. S." distress call.

RUNNING FOR MAYOR FROM PRISON CELL

VINELAND, N. J., Oct. 4.—Preferring, he says, imprisonment to paying for gasoline for official joy rides, William J. Schiner is running for Mayor, while locked in a cell. He is the Socialist candidate, and when fined $1 for being disorderly at a political discussion, refused to pay it, and went to prison.

THE STORY OF FATHER JOHN'S

Fifty years ago Rev. Father John O'Brien of Lowell, Mass., recommended to his parishioners and friends the prescription that restored him to health and strength, so the people named it Father John's Medicine. It cures colds, heals throat and lungs and builds up the body.

As a guarantee that the story of Father John's Medicine is absolutely true, the sum of $25,000 will be given to any charitable institution if it can be shown otherwise.

THE WHITE DENTAL PARLORS

520 Washington St., opp. R. H. White

Do you realize it is serious to neglect your teeth? Don't wait until they decay—don't wait. Our business is to save them without pain at reasonable rates. Porcelain filling, the color of your teeth, $1.00 here; and no pain. Call and get a free examination and we will tell you just what your work will cost. We are up to date in every branch of Dentistry. None but experienced dentists. We have every modern appliance to extract and do our work absolutely painless. Inquire about us. 10 years at 520 Washington. With us you get far more work and more. We guarantee and make good. We don't promise one thing and do another, and advertise impossibilities. We do everything that can be done in Dentistry. Hours 8:30 to 8. Sundays, 10 to 4.

KONDON'S CATARRHAL JELLY

Autoists Use for Dust

—Write For Free Sample

A great many Autoists use "Kondon's" to keep from breathing dirt into their throat and lungs. Rub a little into nostrils before start. Kills germs and catches the dust. Kondon's is so soothing and healing that it gives instant relief, and its continued use will cure permanently all forms of catarrh or hay fever, etc. Over 25,000 druggists sell it in 25c and 50c sanitary tubes. Doctors, nurses, druggists recommend it. Even our sample will convince you. Write us today for liberal free sample.

Kondon Manufacturing Co. Minneapolis, Minn.

Even Pure Enough to Eat — In Sanitary 25c & 50c Tubes

FREE — FREE

THREE DEATHS FROM CHOLERA IN MARSEILLES

MARSEILLES, Oct. 4.—Cholera has been brought into France by Italian immigrants. Three deaths occurred in this city to-day. Following this discovery the civic authorities began preparations to combat the disease and prevent the entrance of further immigrants from the plague infected regions of Italy. The residents of the city were thrown into a state of intense excitement by to-day's developments and made preparations to flee.

Simultaneously an outbreak of the plague was reported from North Sardinia where a number of incipient cases have been found.

The city department of health started a vigorous investigation in the Italian and immigrant quarters as rumors of many cases of the plague exist. Arrangements were also made for the establishment of a field hospital on the outskirts of the city for the treatment of patients.

LABOR WILL AID INVESTIGATION OF EXPLOSION

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 4.—The State Federation of Labor in session here today took initial action toward the appointment of investigators to work with the committee appointed by the city officials in investigating the explosion at the Times plant.

Under the auspices of rewards, aggregating $10,000, offered by the city, the county and the Merchants' & Manufacturers' Association, hundreds of policemen, detectives and private citizens in all Pacific coast cities are searching for clews which may lead to the arrest of the conspirators who blew up the building. The entire city is thoroughly aroused.

ANGERED BY WIFE, KILLS HER AND SELF

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 4.—Angered because his wife sent for a policeman when he came home under the influence of liquor, Albert Polwartschesky fired upon her with a shotgun, the charge entering her side and seriously injuring her, and then blew off his own head with the same weapon.

How to Keep the Head Clean

Frequent washing with a shampoo composed of pure soap, cocoanut oil, glycerin, white of eggs and salicylic acid imparts a feeling of cleanliness and invigoration that is hard to describe. This opens up the pores leading to the hair roots, removes dandruff and scales, and puts the scalp in such a healthy condition that the loss of hair is naturally stopped. Birt's Head Wash is made of the above ingredients. It contains no free alkali, as is the case with most soaps and shampoos. It contains no alcohol, which is one of the principal ingredients in many so-called hair remedies. Free alkali is deadly in its effects, and alcohol turns the hair gray. Be on the safe side. Use Birt's Head Wash. The full formula is printed plainly on every tube. At drug and dept. stores 25c and 50c.

1910 Atlas of the World Given FREE

To the readers of the Boston American who take advantage of the SPECIAL OFFER now made in connection with

WEBSTER'S NEW INTERNATIONAL

NOT a mere revision a mere edition BUT a New Creation

400,000 Words and Phrases — 6000 Illustrations 3000 Pages

WITH ATLAS OF THE WORLD IT IS THE COMPLETE CIRCLE OF HUMAN KNOWLEDGE

The Publishers now offer to readers of Boston American this NEWEST AND MOST COMPLETE REFERENCE WORK on the remarkably easy terms named below.

The Atlas is the 1910 NEW REFERENCE ATLAS of the World with 124 pages of Maps in colors with marginal indices also illustrated description of the PANAMA CANAL all richly bound in red cloth.

The Dictionary also contains a NEW GAZETTEER OF THE WORLD treating nearly 30,000 Geographical Names also NEW BIOGRAPHICAL DICTIONARY of nearly 12,000 noteworthy persons.

BOOKS will be sent with the privilege of 5 DAYS EXAMINATION if desired. If not found perfectly satisfactory they may be returned at our expense and the amount paid will be refunded.

NOW is the best time to secure this NEW DICTIONARY and ATLAS of the WORLD BECAUSE the early impressions of the NEW PLATES give the clearest print of text and illustrations.

The Entire Work in Full Leather (with Atlas) Bound in Rich, Full Red Leather with Complete Reference Index and easy payments thereafter of only a few cents a week.

DELIVERED FOR $1.00

The Latest Most Complete Easiest to Consult Largest Value for Cost

To those who respond at once

We will send a copy of an amusing "Test in Pronunciation" (with key), entitled "A Visit to the Deering High School," and also a "Red Facsimile Booklet" of interesting questions with references to the answers. Mail this coupon at once to

G. & C. MERRIAM CO., 120 BOYLSTON ST., BOSTON. J. B. ADAMS & CO., Distributors. Sole publishers of GENUINE Webster Dictionaries for over 67 years.

G. & C. MERRIAM CO., 120 Boylston St., Boston. J. B. Adams & Co., Distributors.

Please send me free of all obligation or expense a copy of "Test in Pronunciation," the Free Facsimile Booklet with specimen pages of the Boston American Webster's NEW International Dictionary.

Name .....

Address .....

R. H. White Co's Bargain Basement

SHOP IN "OUR BUSY BARGAIN BASEMENT"

You will very rarely walk through our "BUSY BARGAIN BASEMENT" even though you walk through every day, but what you will find plenty of most attractive opportunities to take advantage of a big bargain in some one or more items on your shopping list. It therefore behooves you to take that walk every shopping day.

In other words, SHOP IN WHITE'S BUSY BARGAIN BASEMENT.

We Have Never Offered Women A Better Opportunity Than This

FOR WEDNESDAY

Women's 18.50 Suits at $12.50

We think $12.50 a very low price for one of these beautiful suits, when you see them you'll think so, too. (Made exactly like illustration.)

Materials—Fine serges, in navy, brown and black. Style is particularly attractive. Smart 30 in. coat, four buttoned mannish effect, inlaid velvet collar, lined throughout with guaranteed satin. Handsome newly designed skirts—all sizes. Value $18.50. Bargain Basement Price.. $12.50

Our Buyer Says— "These are two awful good items"

Women's $1.98 Night Gowns, made of very fine quality flannel material, cut very full; some with collars; in pinks, blues and plain white, all sizes, values up to $1.98 at 94c

Women's $1.50 Petticoats, cut very full with deep ruffle; some trimmed very fancy, in pink, blue, red, gray and white stripe flannel, also plain white with embroidered scalloped edge; values up to $1.50 at 49c

Walnut Fudge College Ice, for Wednesday at Our Bargain Basement Soda Fountain..... 5c

An Apology

WE WISH to apologize to the purchasing public of Greater Boston for our inability to handle our vast trade of yesterday. On Sunday we advertised more extensively for extra help than did any other store in Boston, but we simply could not get the help. We anticipated a great trade, owing to the unusual prices in our Sunday Announcement, but the response was many times greater than we anticipated. This, and the lack of help, put us at such disadvantage that we could not adequately serve the throng that swarmed in upon us. We feel constrained to make this explanation in justice to the thousands on whom our force could not possibly wait.

Houghton & Dutton Co.

HAMLIN OUT WITH ANSWER TO CHAIRMAN

Charles S. Hamlin, one of the three candidates for the Democratic nomination for Governor at the Faneuil Hall convention on Thursday, issued a statement today that may be taken as an answer to the announcement of Chairman Morisod of the Democratic State Committee, that he is for Foss, in which Mr. Hamlin calls upon the rank and file of the party to demonstrate that the state machine "is the servant, not the master of the Democratic party."

This is Mr. Hamlin's statement:

"I have read the statement of the chairman of the Democratic State committee as to the nomination for the office of Governor. This was given out with the purpose of relieving the Democrats of Massachusetts from the trouble of choosing the candidate. It was also announced in the press that the chairman had reluctantly abandoned the plan of having the convention nominate a candidate for United States Senator.

"I regret very much that it could not have been announced at the same time just who had been decided upon for Lieutenant-Governor, Attorney-General and the other State offices.

"Possibly, however, it may have been decided to permit the Democrats of the State to exercise the free choice as to these latter offices decided to them as to the Governor and senatorship.

"The only comment I care to make is that just at a time when the Republicans throughout the country are prepared to shatter their machines and machine rule generally, it is unfortunate that machine domination of the most audacious kind should be thus thrust upon the Democrats of Massachusetts.

"In fact as it may, however, no machine can exist without confidence, nor can it withstand the force of public condemnation. As representing reforms which I truly believe to be the hope and inspiration of the people of Massachusetts, I accept this machine challenge, and I call upon the rank and file of the party to rise up and demonstrate in no ambiguous manner that the nomination for the coming great reform fight will be made by the people and to settle once for all that the State machine is the servant, not the master of the Democratic party."

MATTHEW CUMMINGS IS OUT FOR SHERIFF

Matthew Cummings has declared his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for sheriff of Suffolk County. He says he is an anti-Fitzgerald candidate. The convention is held at 8:30 o'clock tonight in Lorimer Hall, Tremont Temple, Cummings said today that he expects to be nominated by the delegates from Wards 2, 5, 9, 21, 22 and 22, who are said to be opposed to the Mayor. The Mayor and Martin Lomasney are supporting Sheriff Seavey, who will also get the Republican nomination. It is not improbable that in the event of Seavey's nomination tonight Cummings will be an independent candidate at the polls. District Attorney Pelletier will be renominated at the Democratic District Attorney convention in Tremont Hall at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

PRENTICE CHAIRMAN OF N. Y. COMMITTEE

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Ezra P. Prentice was today selected chairman of the New York State Republican Committee at its headquarters in West Thirty-Ninth street. The selection of Mr. Prentice was announced in the first place, leaving the Roosevelt faction wavering, and in the second place, because the "Old Guard" believes him to be unalterably opposed to Judge Alton B. Parker's candidacy for Governor. Jr. Coquhoun, and moderator, Rev. John F. Walsh, a curate attached to St. Mary's Church, John Dix Casey and Herbert J. Hughes have been chosen as members of the executive committee.

10 BAY STATE CONGRESSMEN ANTI-CANNON

Every one of the ten Republican Congressmen in Massachusetts has been instructed by the leaders of the State Committee to pledge himself to vote against Cannon if he hasn't done so already, provided his constituents put the "Cannon issue up to him.

Even a consistent a stand-patter as Congressman Frederick H. Gillett has declared against Cannon.

With this declaration he was able to muster only 84 votes out of 116 delegates to the Second Congressional Republican Convention.

Congressman Gardner, also just renominated, has been anti-Cannon for some time. His pledge to vote against Cannon for Speaker is therefore not surprising.

Despite the tendency of Senator Lodge to pooh-pooh the Butler Ames candidacy for the United States Senate, the Senator is really alarmed. He fears the election to the Legislature of enough Democrats to defeat him on joint ballot in combination with the Ames forces. In a letter to the Rhode Island Republican State Committee, Senator Lodge says that he will be able to speak before the Rhode Island State convention on October 19 because he will be too much occupied with his own campaign in Massachusetts.

Either Congressman Ernest W. Roberts was misquoted or he is truly alarmed over the chances of re-electing Republican Congressmen in Massachusetts, in a Washington dispatch to a Boston morning newspaper, Roberts is quoted as saying that "he can see will be a fight in the district in Boston and in the district now represented by Mr. Foss. We have a chance, too, of carrying the Twelfth District."

The Twelfth District is represented by Congressman John W. Weeks, reputed to be stronger with his constituents than any of his Republican colleague. At Republican State headquarters it was said today that Roberts either meant the Tenth district, where Curley or Galvin are contesting, or else really said "Tenth," and was misquoted.

Roberts is also quoted in the Washington dispatch as saying that Massachusetts will go Republican this Fall. Roberts was quoted in a dispatch in the same newspaper a couple of weeks ago as saying that "Governor Draper hasn't got a look in for re-election."

ROGER S. HOAR IS NAMED FOR SENATOR

Roger Sherman Hoar of Concord is the Democratic nominee for Senator in the Fifth Middlesex District, heretofore Republican stronghold. There is considerable resentment by independent Republicans over the manner in which the State machine and the vested interests helped Edwin A. Bayley to win the Republican nomination, and leaders of the Republicans have promised to support Hoar in the event of the late Congressman Roger Hoar and a grandnephew of the late United States Senator George Frisbie Hoar, is the chairman of the National League of Democratic College Clubs. Hoar is still a student at Harvard Law School.

DEBATING SOCIETY HAS NEW LEADER

The following officers have been elected by the Socialist Debating Society, Cambridge, which is connected with St. Mary's church: President, Daniel F. Sullivan; Vice-President, Francis L. Shea; Secretary, Edmund J. Butler; Treasurer, Joseph J. Scollins; Censor, Matthew R. Quinn; Councilors, and moderator, Rev. John F. Walsh, a curate attached to St. Mary's Church. John Dix Casey and Herbert J. Hughes have been chosen as members of the executive committee.

WAVE OF DEMOCRACY IS SWEEPING NATION, SAYS G. W. COLEMAN

Unless the radicalism that is sweeping the country is tempered by religion there will be trouble. A popular wave of democracy is sweeping this country as it swept it at the close of the eighteenth century, and we are finding out that we cannot have democracy in government unless we have it in other things as well, in our business, in our commerce, our industry, and our social life. The church is preparing people for the next world, rather than showing them how to live in this. Religion, in my opinion, isn't anything unless it relates itself to life.—George W. Coleman to Pilgrim Publicity convention.

FIND $92,000 SHORTAGE IN QUINCY FUND

Defalcations amounting to $92,051 have been discovered in the finances of Quincy by a special committee which has just rendered its report to the city council. The committee says the shortage is due to errors in bookkeeping, and no actual disappearance of the city's funds was brought to light.

The investigation was conducted in cooperation with the heads of departments. The committee recommends that the deficiencies be taken care of, so that they will not continue to be a permanent burden. The discrepancies found are as follows:

Assessors' department	$33,853
Tax collector's department	8,451
Sewer department, unpaid	31,705
Money appropriated and charged to unexpended balances and unappropriated receipts	18,000
Total	$92,051

The committee found that there were several parcels of real estate taxed to the city, after being bid in by the city for unpaid taxes, and recommended that the titles be registered in the name of the city and the property sold.

The committee recommends that the books of the collector of taxes be balanced January 1, each year, and be closed up to January 1, three years previous.

The deficiencies, the committee states, are not the result of dishonesty, but of the usual methods of city financing in vogue, not only in Quincy but in many others, and under the auditing system created in 1909 these deficiencies cannot occur in the future, they say.

ANNOUNCE STAFF FOR THE STYLUS

The faculty of Boston college have announced the editors and staff that will take charge of the Boston College Stylus for the year. The Editor in Chief, David J. Walters, '11, of Newton; Business Manager, Francis E. Low, '11, of Wakefield; Alumni editor, Stephen H. Mahoney, '12, of Somerville; Domi editor, Francis J. Sullivan, '13, of Dorchester; Athletics, Francis Harrington, '12, of Wakefield; Associate editors, James L. Cotter, '11, of Roxbury; Edward Cummings, '11, of South Boston; Cornelius Gulney, '11, of Boston; James H. Hinchey, '11, of Dorchester; Dennis A. Dooley, '12, of Roxbury; James E. Gibbons, '12, of Roxbury; Thomas J. Gannon, '13, of Beachmont; Edward Sullivan, '13, of Cambridge, and Patrick J. Dawson, '14, of East Boston.

Political News Notes

CALENDAR.

TO-DAY and every day except Sundays and holidays—Registration of voters at Old Court House, rear of City Hall, 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. and 6 p. m. to 10 p. m., except Saturdays; Saturdays 9 a. m. to 12 p. m. and 6 p. m. to 10 p. m. Recount of State primaries ballots for Boston in Faneuil Hall, 9:30 a. m. 10:30 a. m. seventh Councilor Republican Convention, Hartford Hall, Worcester. 1 p. m. Fourth Councilor Republican Convention, Wesleyan Hall, Bromfield street, Boston. 2 p. m. Fifth Councilor Republican Convention, Fifth Congressional Republican Convention, City Hall, Holyoke. 2 p. m. Middle District (Worcester County) District Attorney Convention, Horticultural Hall, Worcester. 3 p. m. Worcester County Republican Convention, Horticultural Hall, Worcester. 3:30 p. m., Eighth Middlesex Senatorial Republican Convention, Republican head quarters, Lowell. 7:30 p. m., Suffolk County Democratic District Attorney convention, Lorimer Hall, Tremont Temple.

TO-MORROW, 10:30 a. m.—Norfolk County Convention, Westgate Hall, Bromfield street, Boston; 11 a. m.—Fifth Congressional, Republican Convention, Republican headquarters, Eastern District, Lorimer Hall, Tremont Temple; Eastern District, Eighth Councilor, Town Hall, Danvers; 11:30 a. m., Fourteenth Congressional Republican Convention, Republican head quarters, Lowell; 1 p. m., Essex County Convention, Republican Hall, Danvers; 2 p. m., Southeastern District (Norfolk and Plymouth counties) Republican Congressional convention, Wesleyan Hall, Bromfield street, Boston; 2 p. m., Fifth Essex Senatorial Republican Convention, Chipman Hall, Tremont Temple; Boston; 2 p. m., Hall, Tremont Temple; Boston; 2 p. m., Third Essex Senatorial Republican Convention, Republican headquarters, Marshall street, Lynn; 7:30 p. m., Democratic "Night Before," Quincy House; Republican "Night Before," Republican Convention, Whittier Hall, Everett.

THURSDAY, 10 a. m.—Democratic State Convention, Faneuil Hall; Republican Convention, Tremont Temple. Friday, State election. Eighth Councilor Convention, 12 m.—Sixth Councilor Convention, Bromfield street, Boston. 2 p. m., Fifth Councilor Convention, Sixth Councilor Convention, Republican headquarters, Marshall street, Lynn; 8 p. m., Democratic "Night After," Democratic Headquarters, Bromfield street, Boston.

OCTOBER 10, 11 a. m.—Third Essex Senatorial Republican Convention, Republican Hall, Ipswich; 1:30 p. m.—Eighth Councilor Republican Convention, Memorial Hall, Springfield; 4 p. m.—Seventh Councilor Republican Convention, Whittier Hall, Everett.

OCTOBER 11, 11 a. m.—First Councilor Republican Convention, Town Hall, Middleborough; 1 p. m.—Eighth Congressional Convention, Republican headquarters, Marshall street, Lynn; 4 p. m., Democratic Rally, Democratic Headquarters, Bromfield street, Boston.

OCTOBER 19—Registration for State election ends at 10 p. m.

NOVEMBER 8—State election.

It will be Harvard vs. Harvard in the Eighth Congressional District. Both W. Dudley Cotton, Jr., Republican candidate, and Congressman Andrew J. Peters, Democratic candidate, are grads of the Cambridge college. Cotton supported his colleague Peters two years ago against Lewis Stanton Pierce and Lane is knocking him for the same reason.

Keep your eye on James A. McGlaney, Jr., in Ward 24. He is making a real fight for the Ward 24 boss and is putting up a fine fight to win. Ward 24 has been a pretty hard nut to crack, therefore since the present system of voting by wards and by Assembly lines were established. He was Mayor Fitzgerald's candidate the present councilman, McGlaney has been hustling for weeks and has a fine organization. Votes in line and his friends say that he has met with much success.

It will be all harmony to-night at the Democratic district attorney convention. Democratic district attorney Pelletier, the present county prosecutor, will be nominated to succeed himself without a single opposition. There was a rumor that ex-District Attorney Felix McGettrick will be an independent candidate but his friends say that he is idle gossip.

Which Galvin has opened up his campaign offices in the Kimball building and Curley in the Adams building commanding. Ex-Judge Dana is in charge of the Galvin forces and Representative Joe Scollins of Curley will have headquarters in every ward of the district. There will be a fine fight to figure the district. Three years ago Curley polled a small chance of such a result in this strong Democratic district, however.

Bill Newton stands as the only candidate who offered to donate his salary to charity who succeeded in winning. Although he lost one vote in the recount he is safely by as one of the Democratic candidates for the House of Representatives from Ward 13.

Charlestown politicians say that there is a possibility of Ward 3 electing a Republican to the House this year. If such a thing should happen in this overwhelmingly Democratic Ward it would be a political upset that would be startling. Dr. Fred Fallihan, who was formerly a secret service official in the Republican city party, is said to have a chance, largely through his popularity with the Democrats.

Tommy Casey of Ward 14 slides in by four votes on the recount of the Democratic ballots for Representative in that district. On the original returns he was a winner by seven. Teddy Ware, who was the near winning, has been 2 candidates three times and nearly landed each time. Ware's friends in that old adage "if at first, etc." and will be a candidate next year.

There is a well defined rumor that many of the Democratic leaders will bolt the Democratic convention will finally pick either the "Little General" or William Gaston as the standard bearer this year. Nobody knows exactly how it started but it was whispered from ear to ear until almost everybody who takes an interest in politics has heard of it. The Mayor himself says there is nothing to the story.

Secretary Walter Parton of the O'Connell Club says that the organization will not go the line and do its best for Councilman Curley. He believes the latter will be a fine fight and should be supported. Michael F. Culliney of the ward committee also indorses this sentiment.

Sheriff Fred H. Seavy will get the Democratic nomination for sheriff to-night. There was a movement on foot to get Street Commissioner Gaffney to oppose him but he declined. Overtures were afterwards made to Representative Timothy F. Callahan of Ward 9 but the proposition did not look good to him. It now looks smooth sailing for Seavy.

Politics makes business good for hatters. Have you noticed the number of new "Pats" displayed the past few days. Bill McNary bought some, other defeated candidates bought others, Joseph A. Cahalan, Democratic campaign manager, won four and to think of going into the hat business.

WOMAN HURT IN CRASH ON BRIDGE

Mrs. Isabel F. Ricker of Cambridge has painful injuries as a result of an automobile accident on Harvard bridge. Mr. and Mrs. Ricker were in their runabout, coming into Boston. Following their auto was a touring car, driven by R. S. Crowell of No. 15 Palmer avenue, Somerville. According to Ricker, Gates tried to get ahead of the Ricker automobile and in doing so struck the rear wheel of the runabout. The force of the touring car caught a front wheel of the runabout, and swung the latter vehicle into the iron railing on the right-hand side of the bridge.

Y. M. C. A. NIGHT SCHOOL.

The night school of the Young Men's Christian Union opened last night. President Locke, Treasurer Church and other officials of the Union were present to welcome prospective students and to assist in the opening night of the week will be the opening night for from six to eight classes. The classes for foreigners are salesmanship, lettering and placard writing, drawing, English for foreigners, bookkeeping, Spanish, French and penmanship.

McCULLOUGH A CANDIDATE.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 4.—The Pittsburg district miners today received notice that E. S. McCullough, former vice-president of the Miners' International Union, is a candidate for re-election.

INDEPENDENCE LEAGUE PLANS STATE CAMPAIGN

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—The New York County executive committee of the Independence League met at the Park Avenue Hotel and for nearly two hours plans for the convention which is to be held at Cooper Union to-morrow afternoon, and for the vigorous campaign which is to follow the naming of a ticket were discussed. John J. Hopper, chairman of the State committee of the league, addressed the executive members, and several others spoke. At no time since the league started has more enthusiasm been shown than was manifested at the gathering.

At the same time that the New York County members were meeting there was a meeting of the Kings County Executive Committee at No. 76 Court street, Brooklyn. This meeting, like the one at the Park Avenue Hotel, was largely attended. At the conclusion of the meeting in Brooklyn it was announced by reporters that the matters discussed were of a confidential nature and that nothing would be made public for the present.

The State Committee of the Independence League will meet at 8 o'clock tonight at the Park Avenue Hotel. There are 100 members of the committee, and a full attendance is expected.

Plans for the convention will be made at this meeting and a more definite idea of the resolutions of the league regard the present situation in the State is bound to develop from the discussion that will take place. here are 457 delegates and alternates to the convention which will be held at 4 o'clock to-morrow afternoon at Cooper Union. Many of the delegates are already in the city and others are expected to-day.

Resolutions were adopted by the Bronx Independents Democratic at a special meeting held last night, hailing the Democratic State ticket named by Charles F. Murphy at Rochester last week and urging the Independence League convention to-morrow to consider the nomination of Representative Sulzer as the head of its State ticket.

The resolution will be sent to the convention.

END 40 HOURS' DEVOTION.

The closing ceremonies of the Forty Hours' Devotion in the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Harrison avenue and East Concord street, took place this morning at 9 o'clock. Mass was celebrated by the Rev. Thomas Gosnell, S. J., president of Boston College. At the close of the mass a solemn procession of the Blessed Sacrament was held in which many of the Jesuit fathers connected with the church took part.

The AMERICAN goes into more homes than all the other evening papers of Boston combined. It is the Quality newspaper.

THE C. E. OSGOOD CO. THE C. E. OSGOOD CO.

OSGOOD
WHEN IN DOUBT BUY OF
744 TO 756 WASHINGTON ST.
AMERICA'S LARGEST LIBERAL HOME FURNISHER

Just a Few Steps From the Boylston and Essex Tunnel Stations.

Our Liberal Credit Plan and a little each month our patrons may furnish their homes attractively without the hardship of a large outlay of money. One year's credit if you want it.

We open accounts with everybody. By paying a little down and a little each week you can have the comforts of home.

Iron Beds Exactly like illustration, all sizes, heavy steel posts, handsome scroll in head and foot pieces, brass trimmings. An especially strong value. Regularly $9.00. Our price this week..... 6.45

Boston Agents for the GLENWOOD RANGES

THE only furniture house in the world that gives a receipt in full on balances due on credit accounts up to $500 in case of a customer's death.

Dining Chairs Exactly like illustration, golden oak, box cane seat. Regularly $2.00. Our price this week 1.45

OPEN SATURDAY EVENINGS

MAIL ORDERS GIVEN PROMPT ATTENTION

Dressers Exactly like the illustration; golden oak, double serpentine top drawers, bevel French plate mirror. Regular $15. our price this week 10.75

THE C. E. OSGOOD CO. THE C. E. OSGOOD CO.

Open Saturday Evenings.

These Suits Are the Suits You Will Want

This talk on Men's and Young Men's Suits is intended for men who want to improve the standard of their clothes at no greater cost—possibly less.

"Boston-Made" clothes are made in our own shops under our personal supervision—they have all the style—possibly more—than most of the clothes on sale today—We Know they are tailored right because we made them—And you can very soon ascertain if they fit by trying—We will sell them to you at one profit only—Maker to wearer.

You may search from morning till night for the equals of these Men's Suits—They are shown in a variety of models—not one length of coat, but several, in order to fit you more to your satisfaction—This is a "Talbot" innovation and worthy of your consideration—Blacks—Fancies in stripes and mixtures—all the new shades..... $15

Men's Suits at $20 ought to be very much out of the ordinary—and these are. These are made of specially selected fabrics for these special lines and embrace a wealth of grays, browns and tones—superbly tailored and finished..... $20

Others from $10 to $30

"Blue Ribbon" Guaranteed Derby Hats $2—John B. Stetson Hats up to $5—and the greatest assortment of soft hats you ever saw.

New England's Largest Clothiers

TALBOT CO.

Makers of Fine Clothes for Men and Boys

395-403 Washington Street

FREE TO THE DEAF

All Persons Suffering From Deafness, Catarrh, or any other Chronic Disease will be Treated Absolutely Free Until Cured If They Begin Treatment on or Before October 8.

No ear doctor and no matter what your trouble may be, whether deafness, catarrh, or any other chronic disease, you can call at my office and get a positive free examination, advice, free treatment and free prescriptions until cured if they call on or before October 8. This offer is given without any reservation of any kind, and I will be able to recommence the treatment on all who call on the date mentioned. If you call on or before October 8 you will be cured absolutely free until cured.

THEY WERE DEAF

Mr. Charles H. Killan, Ashland, Mass., 78 years old, and mechanic of his farm for 10 years. Cured of deafness by the Pisano Pneumo Treatment.

Miss Agnes Wilson, 200 Emerson street, South Boston, is deaf in the left ear for twenty years and is not hear at all in the right ear. Cured by the Pisano Pneumo Treatment.

Mr. Wm. T. Davidson, 225 Lengyel St., is deaf in the right ear for 15 years and the left one was badly effected. Cured by the Pisano Pneumo Treatment.

PHONO-PNEUMO TREATMENT

Suite 1, 92 Huntington av., Boston, Mass. Near Mechanics Building.

Hours: 8-11 a. m.; 1-3-5-8 p. m. Tuesday and Friday evenings, 7-8. Office Sundays and holidays. Books on Deafness and Catarrh free.

Specialties. Deafness and Chronic Diseases.

Painless Tooth Extraction.

DR. TOWNE, 9 Cambridge St., Bowdoin Sq., extracts teeth without any pain; no torturing needles or suffocating gas; investigate our honest testimonials. Geo. E. Cady, 20 Summit St., Roslindale, says: "No pain; it's wonderful; had 8 extracted."

"SAVED MY BABY"

Mother and Child Owe Life to Dr. Greene's Nervura.

How many precious young lives are lost each year through nervous diseases in childhood? Is your little one weak and puny? Does it grow tired quickly when at play? Is it troubled with poor appetite or irregular bowels?

If these derangements of the blood and nerves are not overcome at once the child will be hampered through life. Dr. Greene's Nervura Blood and Nerve Remedy is perfectly adapted for successful treatment of children's diseases.

Mrs. Wm. F. Robinson, 206 West 41st Street, New York City, says:

"My baby is now seventeen months old. Last summer, his first summer, he was terribly sick, and the doctors said he couldn't live. I gave him Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and anyone who doesn't know what a wonderful medicine that is would be surprised how much good it did him. He plays with the other children all the time and is never sick. "I was nursing him and doing my own work and taking care of all the other children. So before he was better my health broke down. But I thought that if Dr. Greene's Nervura helped the baby it would help me too, so I began to take it myself. From the very first it seemed to helped me. It is a splendid tonic for young and old, and I recommend it to all who are sick. Any woman who has a case of sickness in the house can't go up night and day and neves gets the rest she needs, ought to take Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. It will help her over any trouble of that kind."

Dr. Greene is the well-known public medical lecturer and specialist in treatment of all nervous and chronic diseases, and can be personally consulted at his office, 34 Temple Place, Boston, Mass., or by mail free.

TEA, COFFEE & CANDY, 59c

This combination costs 1.50 elsewhere at other stores, our regular price is 1.00, cut price this week only 59c

Tea "GOLDEN ROSE." Any type 35c
Coffee "PRIDE OF ADEN" Mocha & Java Type 27c
Chocolates Fine assorted 50c lb. elsewhere 38c
ALL THREE FOR 59c reg. price 1.00

Butter 33c

Finest Vermont, Fresh Made, 40c value

Eggs—Strictly Fresh Laid, Guaranteed	29c
Flour Cut—Bag 85c, Bbl.	6.73
Golden Rose, best bread flour made
Sugar—Best granulated, 5 lbs.	27c
Campbell's Soups—all varieties	7½c
Evap. Milk—Van Camp's	9c
Pea Beans—Small, pk. 69c, qt.	9c
Peas—Tender, early Junes, can	9c
Shoulder—Sugar cured, lean, lb	12½c
Lard—Pure, in pails, lb 16c, blk, lb	15c
Pork—Fancy backs, fat, lb	13c
Rice—Whole head, Japan, lb	5c
Crackers—G. M. Cookies, 3 lbs	25c

Mentor Rye 69c

Worth 1.25, Cut to, 4 qts., 2.70, qt. 69c

Fuze, rich as 3 choices, it shows its years, best in quality
Port—Imp Tarragona, bot.		47c
Scotch	("Lords of England" Real Glenlivet	bot. 91c
Duffy's Malt		bot. 75c
Malt Whiskey	Aqueduct	Pt. 73c, Qt.
Booth Old Tom Gin		87c
Wines	Pure California Port, Sherry	bot. 23c
Wines	Santa Teresa, Cal. Port, Sherry, 20c Value	29c

Write for Complete Free Rosary Liquor Price List. Quick, Free, Prompt Delivery

Ginter Co

163 Summer ★ Elm & Union
495 Washington ★ 16 Canal
Phone, Beach 1700 Fan. 1705 Tremont

KEEP THIS AD (It's Worth $1.00)

Any new patient presenting this ad and receive $1 out of cost of having dental work done. you may have teeth filled, crowned or extracted without the least pain. This places you under no obligation to have more than the dollar's worth of work.

Best Bridge Work, a Tooth, $3
Pure Gold Crowns $3
All Our Work Is Guaranteed 10 Years

A scientifically constructed rooffess plate, gives lasting comfort and satisfaction, enjoyed fresh food as before. Simple in design. Easy to remove. Hygienic. So natural in appearance that it deceives your friends. DO NOT BE HAD ELSEWHERE. Shown and demonstrated FREE. Come and call and avoid scraping and have to extract. Don't wait. Call at once and have perfect teeth at once. Free examination. Lady attendant. Tel. 2830 Beach. NEW TEETH $5.00

A Gold Tooth Free on Plates
Gold Filling $1 Up; Silver Filling 50c

DR. NEWSON

508 WASHINGTON ST., BOSTON
Hours: 8:30 A. M. to 6 P. M. Until 8. Sundays 9 to 1. Tel. Ox. 1807-1

CAFE BOVA

96 ARCH ST.

3 doors from Summer St.
3 minutes from South Station.

The Leading Italian Restaurant of Boston

Dining Parlors Overlooking Fort Point Channel. Table d'Hote Dinner from 5 to 8:30 P. M..... $1.00

Wine Included.

Lunch from 11 to 3 P. M.

Neapolitan Singing.
Open for business Columbus Day.
Booths reserved for Navy Ball 1912.
Theatre Parties, 10 MINUTES AWAY.
VISIT OUR BOWLING ALLEYS NEXT DOOR

CAPTAIN KING COMES FROM NOVA SCOTIA TO AID HATTIE LE BLANC

New light was thrown upon the Glover murder mystery to-day when State Detective C. Edward Byrnes returned from Cape Breton with witnesses for the trial of Hattie Le Blanc, the seventeen-year-old girl accused of the crime.

It is believed that he found facts that will prove highly illuminating when the case is called.

Of deep interest to the thousands who have become interested in this baffling crime is the story of aged Captain Peter King, who came all the way from West Arichat, C. B., where Hattie Le Blanc used to live, to Boston to help the accused girl.

In the will fight over the Glover property it was hinted that Captain King could tell things that would reflect on Hattie. The old man—he is seventy—declares that Hattie was a good girl and that it is an outrage to make such insinuations against the girl. This is Captain King's story:

Captain King's Story.

"Detective Byrnes came to my house with Miller Terrio, whom I know by reputation, and asked me questions concerning the life of Hattie Le Blanc. I told him all I knew about the girl and that she was an honest and upright girl while she lived in Arichat. He took down what I said in a note book, and later on went to visit other people in the town.

"I told Detective Byrnes, who said he represented the government, that Hattie had always been well known and well liked in West Arichat. She lived with her parents until the family grew, down beyond the centre of the town. We are all modest fisher folks. I never saw Mrs. Glover in my life, for whenever she was in Arichat I was away on fishing trips, but I knew her father and mother very well.

"I am 70 years old and the younger portion of the village grow so without my knowing that they are started along. It is common talk around West Arichat what difficulty Hattie Le Blanc, whose family I know well, has got into. I have also read about what has been going on around Boston. Hattie lived with my daughter. She worked for her for a time, but was always a nice little girl, as far as I knew and saw. The charge which Mrs. Glover has made against me is absolutely false. It is outrageous.

"I left Arichat to come to Boston to help the little girl all I can. I thought the trial was to be this month.

"Detective Byrnes learned that I had left. He had to take a sailboat, a whaling boat, and sail to Port Mulgrave, where he took a train to Halifax and then got on board the steamer I was on.

Defends the Little Girl.

"Hattie led the same life as all children in a place like West Arichat. She is one of about a dozen children, and her father is a fisherman and farmer. With so many children it is hard to provide for all, and the girls having been brought to Waltham from themselves."

The three witnesses who arrived by train from Cape Breton are to testify also regarding Mrs. Lillian M. Glover's character while she was in West Arichat. Through an interpreter, one of them told a story relating to a moonlight ride Mrs. Glover took to Petit Degrat. Grat two years ago during her last visit to West Arichat. All three of these witnesses were sent to Woonsocket, R. I., to await the trial of the little girl.

Girl Eager for Trial.

Hattie Le Blanc has been in the East Cambridge Jail for about ten months and has been a model prisoner. She works in the laundry department and is looking eagerly forward to her trial, which is scheduled to take place some time in January.

It is Hattie's idea, if her lawyers permit, to take the witness stand and tell all that she knows about the shooting of Clarence F. Glover in his Waltham laundry.

The accused girl declares that she is innocent and that when the trial takes place she will tell things that have not yet appeared in print.

At the time of the crime Hattie was working in the Glover home in Waltham as a maid. Her two sisters, Irene and Lillian, were also employed in similar capacities in Waltham, all three of the girls having been brought to Waltham from their home in Cape Breton by Mrs. Lillian Glover, the wife of Theodore P. Glover.

After Hattie's arrest Lillian and Irene went to the home of relatives in Gloucester. The two girls soon obtained employment there and declared that they would save what money they could to help out their sister's defence.

Cheered by Her Sisters.

Both of the sisters have visited Hattie at intervals in the East Cambridge prison and their visits to her frequently. With the exception of these two sisters and some cousins in Gloucester, the girl-prisoner has no one to help her fight the big battle for her life, which she must soon face.

An interesting figure in the case is Mrs. Lillian Glover. She has told on the witness stand her story of the Waltham her husband tried to break his will in crime, it coming out when the inventory of the East Cambridge Probate Court.

Mrs. Glover will be one of the principal witnesses at the trial of Hattie Le Blanc. She says that she knew nothing of Hattie's movements on the night of the shooting except that she left the house shortly after her husband died. She declared positively that she instigated the shooting or that she knew Hattie was in hiding for three days and nights in the cellar of the house.

Besides Mrs. Glover, the two sisters of Hattie will have interesting stories to tell on the witness stand. Their testimony, if admitted, will be the only direct evidence to corroborate that of the sisters of Hattie Le Blanc as to Mrs. Glover's attitude toward her husband.

YELLOW JACK IN MEXICO.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—An outbreak of yellow fever at Campeche, Mexico, with two deaths, and of cholera at Sardinia, Italy, with four cases reported and one death, were reported to the State Department.

Hattie Le Blanc, Accused Girl, and Her 2 Sisters

ENGINEER IS DYING AFTER TRAIN CRASH

BRIDGEPORT, Oct. 4.—Engineer Fred Deforest of New Haven, a member of the New York on the New Haven railroad, jumped the track just east of the Housatonic River bridge at Naugatuck Junction and piled up on the bank of the river.

His fireman escaped with bruises. He was brought to Bridgeport Hospital. An operation was performed, but the engineer's condition is critical.

The train, made up of eight steel express cars containing perishable matter and other valuable goods for New York, was badly damaged. The first three cars were shot forward on to the engine. The other cars were derailed. Express matter was scattered all over the track.

The train pulled out of New Haven at 4.15 p. m. The rails on the upper level of the Housatonic River are joined to the ground rails serving the feet from the bridge proper. The train was derailed where the ground and bridge rails join. The engine shot off to the outside of the track, dragging the heavy cars after it. The engine plowed along the banking and stopped within twenty feet of the river, with the forward cars heaped in wreckage on top of it.

The south-bound track was blocked. Traffic was switched over to the north-bound track while the wreck was being cleared.

Health and Beauty Talks

BY MRS. MAE MARTYN

Mrs. L. G.: It is not necessary that your face reflect your age. You could easily have a much younger, fresher, smoother and more youthful complexion if you will using powder and tried a good lotion. Illusolve four ounces saxrmax in a half-pint bottle water and add two teaspoonfuls glycerine. Apply this to your face, neck and arms, and it will improve your looks wonderfully. It will soften and whiten your skin and remove that shiny, sallow look. This inexpensive lotion will not rub off like powder, and is very beneficial in preventing and removing freckles and skin pimples, and makes a wonderful complexion. You can get it anything I recommend at almost any drug store.

B. Sisters: If the parents of your "beauty parlors" object to shampoos made from soap on account of the great danger of the soap's alkali ruining the lustre of the hair, try a shampoo made by dissolving a teaspoonful of sunlight in a cup of hot water, and after shampooing rinse the hair as usual. Canthrox makes the most satisfactory shampoo imaginable and leaves no bad effects. It lathers splendidly in the hottest and most impure water, cleanses it have ever seen. It relieves scalp irritations and leaves the hair fluffy, soft, fluffy and easy to do up. This shampoo dries very quickly, is perfectly harmless and will not cause faded, streaky or gray hair as soap and other shampoos are likely to do.

Weak Eyes: Wearing glasses is not likely to help your weak, dull, inflamed eyes. What you need is a good wash for your eyes. The next time you go to a drug store get an ounce of cryptos and dissolve it in a pint of water. Drop a few drops of this in each eye and bathe the eyes and you will be surprised how soon it will give you relief. It will not smart or burn the eyes and is one of the most perfect tonic for anyone to use who has eye troubles. It is splendid for treating eczema, expressionless eyes or granulated lids. It makes the eyes clear, bright and sparkling.

R. K.: I would advise you to seek health first, before beauty. You say you are not sleep, but that you feel tired all ways, look sallow and have pimples and eruptions. Try this home-made blood purifier and system tonic: Get from your druggist one ounce of sarsone, dissolve in one-half pint of good whisky, one-half cup of sugar, then add enough hot water to make a full quart. Take a tablespoonful before each meal. This remedy should tone up your system and build up your strength. It aids digestion, arouses a torpid liver and purifies the blood. When your blood is pure, your sallowness and pimples will disappear and you will have more strength and energy.

Grace: No, I know it doesn't add to your peace of mind when you are conscious that you are fretting so fat that your dress is continually gaping in the back and you fear the constant strain will pop the much for the buttons. If you would not worry, try this without stare—Ice of those very large pores.

WOMAN OUT OF WORK PLUNGES FROM WINDOW

Mrs. Margaret O'Neil, a middle aged woman without relatives or friends in this city, was found sprawling on the sidewalk in front of her lodgings at No. 156 Kneeland street today. Her right ankle and collar bone were broken. She received these injuries in plunging down to the sidewalk from her second-floor window, eighteen feet above. The police report said that the woman either fell or leaped from the window. People in the neighborhood thought that the woman leaped from the window in desperation, caused by starvation and helplessness. She was taken to the City Hospital.

A man living in the neighborhood said of Mrs. O'Neil:

"This woman has lived upstairs for some time. I don't know just how long. She has always been alone. Apparently she had no friends or relatives. She was to my own personal knowledge in desperate circumstances. She certainly starved. We did what little we could to help her. Up to five weeks ago she had been working as a cook, but the restaurant where she was employed closed and she was forced out of employment. She tried time and again to get work, but her age counted against her. She was despondent. We heard she had thrown herself out of the second-story window on Kneeland street."

Big Meeting Here.

The executive committee in charge of next Sunday evening's meeting is satisfied that it will be one of the finest gatherings held in Boston for many years, in support of the Irish cause. Mayor John F. Fitzgerald will preside and the meeting will be called to order by Hon. Augustine J. Daly, former Mayor of Cambridge.

While in Boston the visitors from Ireland will be guests at the Hotel Lenox. The importance of the position now occupied in the House of Commons by Mr. Redmond is clearly shown by Mr. Redmond in his speech at Carnegie Hall, New York.

Said the Irish Leader:

"I am not asking your help to secure unicellative reforms. So far as they go we have all Ireland ran ever hope to get from an ignorant Legislature. I am here now to ask you to help us to obtain self government for Ireland.

"The question of the Home Rule movement is not merely that of a question between the English and the Irish people. There is a great obstacle in England to Irish Home Rule. It is the House of Lords.

"The mass of the people are not now opposed to us. From my intimate knowledge of the English I feel safe in saying that the mass of the people are reasonably reconciled to the idea of Home Rule. We have various ways of appealing to them. We can with work we use persuasion. And when we find it necessary we use what in this country you call the 'big stick.'

Lords Real Obstacle.

"In the last count we had a majority of 290 to 300 in the fifth seat in Parliament. In the election character we had, disregarding the Irish votes, a paper British majority of sixty. The real obstacle is the House of Lords. It is in Parliament by hereditary right—the House of Lords. They can reject any measure of the elective chamber. They are the block in our path. For 200 years the House of Lords has set up a claim to direct taxation, but they never dared to exercise it.

"Last year—and thank the Almighty for it, because the budget transferred some of the taxes from the poor to the rich—the House of Lords lost its head and was guilty of an act of madness in rejecting the budget of the people. The Lords have themselves raised the question of who is to have the power in the future, the House of Lords or the English people. This is the greatest issue that has been before the English for centuries. Until that question is settled nothing else can be decided.

"Once we, it will be settled right, so far as Ireland is concerned, or the Irish people will bring about a crisis in the parliamentary life of England which will make necessary a general election before next January.

"The English ministers, and they are friends to my cause now, know exactly where we stand and what our position is. And from that position we shall not recede one inch.

The whole world now acknowledges that Ireland has a right to the restoration of her national Parliament. And that right we will defend to the last limit of our power."

The National Committee of the United Irish League will probably circulate by mail throughout the country a verbatim report of the remarkable address delivered in the Buffalo convention by the Rt. Rev. Dr. Fallon, bishop of London, Ont.

ASKS DAMAGE FROM A FORMER EMPLOYE

A bill of complaint has been filed in the Suffolk Superior Court by Edwin P. Lindsay against Jesse G. Swift, his former confidential clerk, asking for damages, and claiming that Swift gained his great knowledge in his employ. Lindsay states that he has sold white and manilla paper and made a profit of $24,000 for having the exclusive agency. Swift, Lindsay claims, formed a company of New York, Lindsay claims that Swift, while employed as head of the manilla paper department, entered into an agreement with Whiting Paper Co. and the William H. Claflin Company to get control of the exclusive agency for the Continental Company, violating his contract with Lindsay.

MAY RETURN CZAR'S SUBJECT TO RUSSIA

United States Commissioner Hazen, after a hearing to-day, ruled there was probable cause against Theophile Duval, clerk, whom the Russian Government wants to extradite for trial in the Czar's country on the charge of stealing about $2,000 from the postal service while he was an employe there. Through an interpreter the commissioner told the defendant of the ruling, and that he would be referred to the Secretary of State at Washington for action. Pending proceedings there the defendant will be confined in Charles street Jail. Parishioners here, for a time, the youngest having been born in Boston, where the father has lived for two years. His friends are going to fight against his being extradited.

You see the AMERICAN everywhere—in the homes, clubs, restaurants, hotels, cars and boats.

IRISH ENVOYS WILL ADDRESS BIG BOSTON MEETING ON SUNDAY

By C. O'CONNELL GALVIN.

The four envoys from Ireland, John E. Redmond, M. P., T. P. O'Connor, M. P., Joseph Devlin, M. P., and Daniel Boyle, M. P., who are to speak on Home Rule for Ireland in Symphony Hall next Sunday night, are expected to arrive in Boston next Friday evening. They will speak in succession evening in Philadelphia, Academy of Music, where Archbishop Ryan, Governor Stewart, Michael J. Ryan, national president of the United Irish League, and the Mayor of Philadelphia, will take a leading part in the exercises.

Honest Statement of Well Known Citizen.

An advertisement of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, which I saw in the St. Albans Messenger some time ago, induced me to give your remedy a fair trial. I was then suffering from terrible pains in the small of my back. The pain was usually greatest during the morning, and often when I attempted to arise from my bed to go to work I found I could not do so without the assistance of some member of my family. I am very grateful for the good your great remedy has done for me.

I thought I would have to use much more bloxogen than I did, in order to get well, but am absolutely cured of my kidney trouble and am now without the slightest pain, after using only seven bottles. Was cured about six months ago, and though I do heavy work in the shop where I have been employed for the past forty-four years, have had no recurrence of the trouble or pain in the slightest degree.

I am doubly thankful for this, and while now an old man, I again feel the strength of my youth, thanks to Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. Many others also use it to as good advantage as I have.

Very truly yours,
JOHN FRAZIER,
St. Albans, Vt.

State of Vermont }ss.
Franklin County }

At the city of St. Albans, in said county, in this the 20th day of July, personally before a Notary Public, within and for said county, John Frazier, whose mark I hereby witness with W. E. Powers, well known to me as a reputable citizen of this community for the past thirty years and fully entitled to credit, and made oath that the foregoing affidavit by him signed is true and correct.

JOHN G. KEENAN,
Notary Public.

Letter to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

Prove What Swamp-Root Will Do For You

Send to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. It will convince anyone. You will also receive a booklet of valuable information, telling all about the kidney and bladder. When writing be sure and mention the Boston Daily American. For sale at all drug stores. Price fifty-cents and one-dollar.

CAT'S PAW CUSHION RUBBER HEELS

TREAD SOFTLY STEP SAFELY

ORDER BY NAME

FOSTER RUBBER CO., BOSTON, MASS.

Have Cat's Paw Heels Put on Today and Walk Safely All Winter

"And the Leaves of the Tree were for the Healing of the Nations."

So are the Roots, Herbs and Barks which Dr. Liverpool uses in his medicines. Dr. Liverpool has his office in Boston, at 589 Tremont street, where he may be consulted every Monday, Tuesday and Saturday, 10 to 4 p. m. Evenings, 7 to 8. Sundays, 10 to 2 p. m. Dr. Liverpool is at Salem office, 60 Washington street, every Wednesday, 9 to 4 p. m. Evenings, 7 to 8. Also Sundays, 9 to 6 p. m.

Dr. Liverpool is at his Lynn office, 10 Central avenue, every Thursday and Friday, 9 to 4 p. m. Evenings, 7 to 8.

IMPORTANT TO INVESTORS AND HOME-BUYERS

BOSTON AMERICAN

MID-WEEK

REAL ESTATE BARGAINS

ARE ISSUED

EVERY WEDNESDAY

If you want to buy a home, a farm or a lot of land, be sure to read the offerings in the Real Estate Columns of the BOSTON AMERICAN tomorrow.

OH! LISTEN—

See the full page story on Mutt and Jeff in today's AMERICAN, telling you the inside facts about the Book of Cartoons—How to get one of these books explained thoroughly. Show class!

S. & H. Stamp Premiums Make the Home Beautiful

DOUBLE S. & H. STAMPS UNTIL ONE O'CLOCK

HENRY SIEGEL CO

Largest and Finest Restaurant in New England—Orchestra 12 to 2

Bread Raiser, on foot, with ventilated cover, to mould. Regular 50c. Sale price, reduced,

35c

Oval Wash Boilers, with cover and patent rack, to scald meat; slats for grating copper bottom. Sizes 7, 8, 9. Choice

98c

$3.50 Oil Heater

$1.98

The famous Water-wash brand; 60 size, 3 wicks; portable; will hold 2½ quarts of oil and burn from 6 to 8 hours.

$4.00 Oil Heater

$2.98

Japan finish in black with nickel trimmings; has 3 wicks and an automatic indicator.

Gas Radiator

$1.69

Four tubes, Almond finish, steel front, low pattern, 4 tube high style,

$1.98

Made of extra heavy tin, making ice cream in 5 minute, the best freezer made.

1 qt. size 49c
2 qt. size 75c
3 qt. size $1.25
4 qt. size $1.45

Limited Quantity.

Acme Ice Cream Freezer.

Preserving Kettle, Turquoise blue, white lined, 8 quart size,

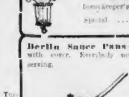
29c

Bake Pan Sets A complete set for home use, consisting of 2 pudding pans, 2 loaf bread pans, all are made of smooth black steel, set of 4 pans, set.....

35c

Glass Coffee Mill—A cast iron coffee mill with glass hopper with grooving cup, grinding entirely new. The housekeeper's delight.

59c



Berlin Sauce Pans—Gray enamelware, very serviceable goods. Specials this week.

6-qt. Size, Value 35c,

25c

$4,000 to CHARITY.

If you are interested in any Charitable or Benevolent Institution anywhere in the United states the name of such organization on a postal card or letter to Mr. Siegel, President and Editor, or mail to us. Each list of names received we will acknowledge, and when voted for will receive a portion of the $4,000 fund.

BISCUIT Big 10 Cleaner, raised biscuit, baked hot in our own ovens; original test of 50 years; if it doesn't please, money back. Per dozen.....

4c

PIES Washington Pies with finest filling and frosting; make hourly in our own ovens; always fresh delivered. Each.....

10c

PICNIC SHOULDERS Fancy little corn fed Pig shoulders, blocked cut, tender and sweet as a nut.....

12c

SALT PORK The best selected fat back pork, sliced to suit purchaser, better than ordinary "bean pork," special.....

12½c

BOILED HAM Armour's selected and boiled ham, sliced wafer thin by machine, per pkg.....

29c

SWEET POTATOES Finest Jersey grown, rock dry; 7 lbs. for 15c; per peck.....

25c

CRANBERRIES Selected, fine firm Cape Cod berries, quart.....

7c

GREEN TOMATOES Fine for pickling, firm, fresh picked, selected especially for canning and pickling; basket 85c; 15c per peck.....

15c

SOAP Proctor & Gamble's laundry soap at less than wholesale cost, 8 bars for.....

22c

BALL BROS. FRUIT JARS

Fitted with best porcelain-lined zinc caps and rubbers. Best quality green glass.

48c Doz.

A few hundred doz. pint size left at same price.

Price Each 4c

BALL BROS. SURE SEAL

All glass cover with wire fastening. Extra wide mouth.

Pint or Quart Sizes

Choice of Either Size 7c

MASON JARS

Plain White Porcelain Dinner-Ware at ⅓ Off

Choice at 5c

Plates, all sizes; Tea Mugs, Coffee Mugs, After Dinner Cups and Saucers; Tea or Coffee; Individual Butter Plates, Individual Vegetable Dishes.

Choice at 10c

Medium size Butter Plates, Open Dishes, etc.; Sugar Bowls, Tea Plates, all size Jugs

15c

Choice at 25c

Covered Vegetable Dishes, Soup Tureens, etc.

Individual Butters 1c

Preserve Saucers 2c

Henry Siegel Co., Oxford 2600 Calls Our Mail Order Dept.

DIVORCE GREATEST MENACE TO AMERICA, SAYS CARDINAL LOGUE

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—In the parlor of the Holy Cross rectory, Cardinal Logue, Archbishop of Armagh and Primate of all Ireland, granted an interview to a reporter on the topics of the day. Socialism was one of the first topics.

"The church is strongly opposed to so-called socialism," he said, "because it is anti-Christian. Professed Socialist leaders declare themselves either Free Thinkers or Atheists. Of course there can be no alliance between the church and such. The men and women who do not willingly submit themselves to God's laws and His disciples are not likely to regard human laws as possessing much binding force."

The kindly face of the Cardinal grew solemn when asked if he thought a national law would be better than State laws to curb divorce. He said:

Calls Divorce Polygamy.

"There should be no law at all giving divorce, as it is society's chief blot. Divorce should be obliterated. Too much cannot be said against this evil. The American laws are inconsistent in condemning Mormonism principally on account of polygamy, while they have polygamy themselves in a more objectionable form—their divorce laws. A Mormon has a number of wives, but he takes care of them, while divorce leads to the neglect of both wife and family. The only distinction I see between Mormonism and the state of things created by divorce is that Mormonism is simultaneous polygamy, and divorce leads to successive polygamy."

Concerning the prohibition movement in politics the Cardinal said:

"I think when prohibition laws are carried to extremes they become impractical. Some more direct means of promoting temperance should be used. In Ireland, for instance, we have temperance societies that are taking a vast influence in the country through their work. The same is true of the United States."

Favors Woman Suffrage.

What about the woman suffrage question," was asked.

The Cardinal smiled, took a pinch of snuff and then explained the smile.

"Well, I guess I want to live a little longer without having my head taken off and getting into trouble, and I have not given it much thought. However, the ladies in England, I think, will succeed in the end because they are fighting hard for it. The women who own property and pay rent and taxes should vote the same as others do, but otherwise they would be better off without it. Women in public life, I think do good work as teachers, as nurses and in some other capacities, but I believe women were designed to be subservient for the home."

"What about the religious condition in Spain and Portugal?" he was asked. He replied:

"I do not think the situation as bad as we read about. I was there, and, with the exception of Barcelona and Valencia, the people seemed quite contented. At present, of course, their Prime Minister is making an attack on the schools and convents, but the Spaniards won't stand long for that. As for the schools, the Catholic Church has always opposed the principle of your public school system. The children should be brought up in a religious atmosphere and have religious instruction.

Must Control Trusts.

"As I see it, there are a number of problems confronting the American people. Divorce, as I have said, is one of the greatest to be reckoned with. Then there's the negro question. Your negroes are not amalgamating, but they have been granted political rights; I think this will be a serious problem to solve. Then there are the trusts. I am of the opinion that they should be controlled so as not to permit a few people to get the whole trade of the country."

He was asked if King George's oath was now satisfactory to the church.

"It is no longer an insult to Catholics. A broader spirit is shown, and the King, during a struggle with the matter, gained the point, regardless of opposition."

Of Ireland he said:

"The principal benefits needed in Ireland to-day are industries. When they are increased and emigration lessened Ireland will be very much better off.

"The characteristic of the American people that most impresses me is their generosity. They have a heart and soul, my opinion is that they think a great deal about money."

FIND AGED WOMAN LOST IN STREET

Found wandering on Eastern avenue, Malden, an aged woman who gave her name as Catharine Donovan was taken to the Malden almshouse after the police had tried in vain to learn her antecedents. The woman is about 70 years old, 5 feet tall, has gray hair and is thin. She was dressed in black.

WOMAN KILLED BY TRAIN.

MIDDLEBORO, Oct. 4.—Stepping from behind an express train, Mrs. Seraphine Le Flamme, fifty-eight years old, walked into the rush directly in front of a train from Boston, near the Rock station, and was instantly killed.

ESSEX COUNTRY CLUB BACHELOR DINNER SETTING

By ELIZABETH ELLIOTT.

Among the important brides of October that of John W. Cutler of Brookline to Miss Rosalind Fish of New York, which is to take place the 22d is well to the fore. Mr. Cutler is to give his farewell bachelor dinner at the Essex Country Club, Manchester, Saturday night. Among his guests will be his ushers, including his brothers, Roger and George Cutler, Louis Agassiz Shaw and Francis Burr of Boston, and Hamilton Fish, Jr., a brother of the bride; Fulton Cutting, Gilbert and F. Shiddy von Stade of New York, most of them classmates, Harvard '09. Charles L. Appleton, Monroe D. Robinson, George B. Wagstaff, Clarence Hay, George P. Denny and Evelyn du Pont Irving are also to be guests. Mr. Cutler's brother, Roger, who graduated in '09 is to be best man. The ceremony is to take place at Garrison, N. Y., the summer home of Hamilton Fish and following the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Fish are to give the breakfast at their home near by.

Miss Fish has already chosen her attendants who are Miss Eleanor Isselhard, Miss Dagmar Wetmore, Miss Hortense Howland, Miss Jessie Thompson, Miss Helena Fish, a sister, Miss Edith Deacon who is to wed Mr. Peabody in January, Miss Helen Coster, Miss Alice Mackay, Miss Jeanette Alexander and Miss Katherine Dougherty, the two latter complete only on the North Shore the past season.

The town houses are gradually being opened and the Bay Bay district is taking on an air of life again.

Mrs. Samuel C. Mercy has closed her summer home at Beverly Farms and is at her town house on Marlboro street for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Blackwood Fay are still at their Manchester estate, but are planning to come up to their town house next week.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Parker Bremer have closed their cottage at Manchester and have returned to their home on Marlboro street.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles L. Scudder who spent the summer at Bedford, Maine, have opened their town house on Beacon street for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Mason who are planning to return to Boston the middle of October from Smith's Point, Manchester, where they have spent the summer have leased again the house on Gloucester street, which they occupied last winter.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Storer have closed their Manchester home and are at their country estate at Wellesley Hills where they plan to remain two months or more prior to opening their Beacon street house. Mrs. Storer is a daughter of the late Robert Treat Paine.

The Theodore G. Brenners who spent the Summer at their fine estate at Nahant Road, Cohasset, have returned to their Brookline home for the season.

Mrs. Samuel D. Warren of Marlboro street and her sons and daughters have concluded their season at Mattapoisett and are at their Dedham estate, "Karlstein," where they will probably remain throughout the winter. Mrs. Joseph Gardner Bradley, the elder daughter, who has been for the greater part of the summer with the The Warrens, will leave the middle of the month from Cumberland County, Pa., where she has been making an extended visit.

RETURNED GIRL SILENT.

LOWELL, Oct. 4.—Although Dora Martin, the eighteen-year-old girl who mysteriously disappeared from the school at St. Joseph's convent eight years ago, has suddenly returned to her father she refuses to tell of the circumstances surrounding her strange departure

Animal Items

A CAT owned by Mrs. Ida Hudes of Washington avenue, the Bronx, enraged because a dog belonging to Mrs. Jannie Brilliant had killed two of her kittens earlier in the day, attacked the latter and tore her face and neck so that a physician had to be called.

FIFTH COWS calmly chewed their cuds in the big, airy stables of Arthur Gullet near Elgin, Ill., while Chicago society men and women sat down in the same stable to an elaborate luncheon. The guests were shown during the meal how by the vacuum process fresh milk is converted into the condensed product. A pet calf went to sleep on one of the elaborately decorated tables during the luncheon.

A CUB LEOPARD is convalescing in the elephants' hay house at the Central Park Zoo in New York from operations for growths on both sides of his neck. Bill Snyder, the keeper, who used the knife, said the operation was extremely difficult because the little spotted beast put up a terrible fight. He had to go into the cage and catch the animal in a bag.

PETE, the famous bulldog of the Roosevelina era at the White House, is missing from the President's yacht. During the last administration Pete chased Ambassador Jusserand out of the grounds, made Cortelyou climb a tree and tore Jimmy Garfield's trousers. Then Roosevelt gave him to the crew of the Mayflower.

A BOSTON TERRIER owned by Edward W. Burns of the Hotel Massasoit at Spencer carried off the honors at the exhibition. The receiver was put close to the ear of the dog, while Emma Kenny in Worcester talked to him. When he saw that no one was in sight he looked at the receiver with a puzzled expression, cocked his head on one side and uttered a doleful yowl.

COWS will give an exhibition of being milked by electricity at the coming electrical exposition to be held in Madison Square Garden October 16 to 29.

You can "get in touch" with a business man quicker and more thoroughly over a well cooked and skilfully served meal than in any other way. The Rathskeller is a favorite with Business Men.
RATHSKELLER
Under the New American Plan
"Open Until Midnight."

Daffydils
THE OLD TOWN DON'T LOOK THE SAME SINCE JIMMY LEFT HOME
RAY NEVER COMES OUT UNLESS IT RAINS DOES HE?
WHAT RAY!
RAIN BOW HOORAY
PHEW I'M A PINWHEEL
RAY IS BLACK AND BLUE AND ALL COLORS
RAY WHO?
MOON HEE-HEE
I LOVE EVERY KNOT IN YOUR KNOB

HARVARD AIM TO RAISE STANDARD

The 968 students in the freshmen class at Harvard, and many other members of the university now beginning their first year of residence, attended the annual faculty reception in the Union. Dean Briggs presided. Dr. G. A. Gordon, '81, and J. W. Farley, '99, both members of the board of overseers, related the opportunities open to the enterprising college student. The latter, speaking in behalf of Dean Wells, said that the college office would this year attempt to bring a low standard of scholarship into as much disrepute as low standards in athletics.

SCHUESTER IS NOMINATED.

WORCESTER, Oct. 4.—Winfield F. Schuester of Douglas was nominated for councillor at the annual convention of the Seventh councillor convention to-day. Charles Gondy, also of Douglass, opposed Schuester at the convention, but did not receive delegates enough to insure the nomination.

CYMRIC TAKES BIG APPLE SHIPMENT

An extraordinary shipload of apples will be taken to Liverpool by the White Star liner Cymric. The 15,000 barrels placed end to end, would reach more than half way from Boston to Malden, and they form the biggest lot of fruit ever sent from this port this early in the season.

With the Cymric, the first of the season's enormous cargoes of freight will go across the Atlantic. She will be a full ship, for besides the apples, enough foodstuffs will go in her to provision an army for a whole campaign.

H. W. Metcalfe, a saloon passenger, who lives in Newcastle, Me., is United States consul at Newcastle, England, and has been for years. He feels at home in Newcastle, he says.

CENTENNIAL BANQUET.

The centennial banquet of Branch Manchester Tuley, I. O. O. F., will be held in Odd Fellows' Hall, No. 545 Tremont street, Monday evening, October 10. The guests of the evening will be the high officers of the national body.

INSTRUCTOR TELLS THINGS SCOUTS MAY DO IN DAILY LIFE

By MAJ. EDWIN RANDOLPH SHORT.
For 35 years United States Scout on the Indian frontier.

To-day I wish to tell the American Boy Scouts, and all the boys who want to know what scouts do, something about scouts in everyday life.

EDWIN R. SHORT

All around you, boys, are men who, without fuss or will to themselves, or [illegible] making show about what they do, may be said to be peace scouts. They are always ready when danger threatens, when a fire breaks out, when somebody has to be rescued at the peril of their lives, stopping runaway horses, rescuing people from drowning, and in a hundred other ways. The rank and file of the police force in our great American cities and every man of the fire departments are very practical and effective peace scouts.

In England they have a decoration which is known as the Victoria Cross. It is given to soldiers and sailors who perform some very brave deed at a great risk to themselves. But it is for the military heroes only.

England's Peace Medal.

They have also a decoration called the Albert Medal, which is really the peace Victoria Cross. This is awarded by the King for great bravery in everyday life. Some of the men who have received the Albert Medal have faced death in the most terrible forms. They have gone down into coal mines filled with the deadly fire damp and poisonous gases, and dragged out victims of accidents. They have dashed in front of a flow of melted iron to drag away some unfortunate and unconscious comrade.

In our own United States, where we do not go in quite so much for medals and decorations, Congress has in several instances awarded medals to its eminent soldiers and sailors.

Mr. Carnegie has set aside a sum of money, and the income of this is used to reward men who do heroic acts in ordinary life.

The motto of the American Boy Scout, as it is found on his official badge, is "Semper Paratus," which means "Always Prepared." Every American Boy Scout must be ever prepared to fight for his rights and the rights of his fellows. Let every American Boy Scout make up his mind to fight injustice and oppression, graft, whether it be in politics or in business, and all forms of dishonesty.

Salute the Flag!

Every American Boy Scout must be ready to act in any emergency, to rush to the rescue of those in peril without any thinking of himself. Let every American Boy Scout remember what the United States flag means and have his teacher tell him just what it symbolizes. Ask your teacher to tell you why the stars are there, why the field is of blue and why the stripes are red and white.

I ask every American Boy Scout when he has to pass the American flag to lift his hat or salute it. This is particularly important if you see a parade passing with the colors. It would be a good plan for every flag that stops down off the earth. If it be possible, take off your hat, and stand at "attention" until the colors pass. You can do this yourself, and you can teach all your boy friends to do it, whether they are in the American Boy Scouts ranks or not. Do not be afraid that somebody may laugh at you. The chances are that the crowd will cheer you and follow your example.

STOMACH AT FAULT

Indications of Disturbed Digestion Are Often Mistaken for Other Disorders and Cause Unnecessary Alarm.

Palpitation of the heart does not imply that the vital organ is diseased.

Pain in the back does not necessarily mean kidney disease.

Headache does not often indicate that there is anything wrong with your head.

All of these symptoms are caused by stomach trouble and when this is rightly set about they disappear. If you have them look to the condition of your stomach for the cause before you start to treat the symptoms rather than the disease.

If the sufferer from any form of stomach trouble is pale and the blood thin, the first step toward securing the activity of the stomach is to improve the condition of the blood. A supply of rich, well-oxygenated blood is necessary to the processes of digestion and with it, if errors in diet are avoided, nature will work a cure. This is known as the home treatment for indigestion and is illustrated by the experience of Mrs. C. L. Ritchey, of No. 1401 26th street, Rock Island, Ill., who owes her present health to a long trouble to a thorough trial of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. She says:

"I was sick for several months with stomach trouble and nervousness. I had no appetite and what I ate pained me and formed gas. I had palpitation of the heart. It was almost impossible for me to get any sleep, I became run down, weak, despondent and discouraged and could not bear to have any noise around me.

"As first I thought the doctor was helping me but I really became no better. When I heard of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I made up my mind to give them a trial. It was only a short time before I began to feel better, had a good appetite, could rest well and I was cured after taking only five boxes. I always depend upon Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and recommend them heartily.

The best treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills by building up the blood so that it can nourish and strengthen the weakened digestive system has made hundreds of cures in just these troys stomach disorders. A new edition of the booklet, "What to Eat and How to Eat," is free on request. Send a postal for it.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50c a box; six boxes for $2.50 by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is Pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. It destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. It cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. It relieves Teething Troubles, cures Constipation and Flatulency. It assimilates the Food, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS Bears the Signature of
Chas. H. Fletcher.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
In Use For Over 30 Years.
THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

A. B. SMITH & CO'S
3-20-8
EXTRA GOOD
BOSTON MASS.
Look for this label on the box.

A Better Cigar for You

—Better for the price than you ever had before.

The 3-20-8 has all the merits of an imported cigar—and a half the cost.

Because we buy in Cuba the choicest Havana Tobacco and import it direct to our newly equipped factory in Boston.

The duty money thus saved goes to you in the shape of added quality at less cost. You will appreciate this the moment you light your first 3-20-8 Cigar.

You simply can't help noticing the freshness, the flavor, the fragrance, the aroma—all the charms of fine imported tobacco.

Smoke one! It will be the best experiment you have tried for many a day.

Havana filler — Name die stamped in the Sumatra wrapper.

One Popular Shape

At All Dealers.

A. B. SMITH & CO., Boston, Mass.

ONE BRAND, ONE QUALITY, 10c EACH OR 3 FOR 25c

Equal to the Test

Hold a glass of Blue Ribbon Beer to the light. Note the beautiful amber color. Observe its clearness, undimmed even when just off the ice—a severe test of quality.

See the rich creamy foam—watch how it clings to the side of the glass—more evidence of quality. Now taste it—a flavor exquisite—found only in

Pabst Blue Ribbon

The Beer of Quality

Its the perfection of brewing—a table beverage that eye and palate and perfect digestion agree on acclaiming the best.

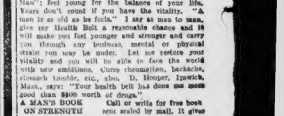
Insist on Pabst Blue Ribbon and add one more good thing to the list which makes for your health and enjoyment.

Made and Bottled only by Pabst at Milwaukee

Phone dealer below.

L. Speidel & Co.
51-Sleeper St.
Tel. Main 4155 and 4156

Perpetual Youth



Let me tell you how to regain all your old-time vim, vigor and strength. Be a "Health Bell Man"; feel young for the balance of your life. Years don't count if you have the vitality. A man is as old as he feels." I say as men to men, give my Health Belt a reasonable chance and it will make you feel younger and stronger and carry you through any business, mental or physical strain you may be under. Let me restore your vitality and you will be able to face the world with new ambitions. Cures rheumatism, backache, stomach trouble, etc., also. D. Hooper, Ipswich, Mass., says: "Your health belt has done me more good than $500 worth of drugs."

A MAN'S BOOK Call or write for free book on STRENGTH sent sealed by mail. It gives much information and fully describes my Health Belt. DR. D. G. SANDEN CO., 601 Washington St., Boston, Mass. Hours, 9 to 6.

LOW FARES WEST.

$72.15 Boston to San Francisco, Los Angeles, San Diego and other California and Mexico points; good going Sept. 29 to Oct. 14, $49.45 Boston to Spokane and Seattle, Wash., Portland, Ore., Vancouver, B. C., and other North Pacific Coast points; good going only to Oct. 14 inclusive. Best of service; personally conducted Pullman Tourist Sleepers at nominal cost. Booklets and full information gladly furnished. E. H. Boynton, N. E. P. A., Grand Trunk Ry. System, 256 Washington st., Boston, Mass.

MEMBER NATIONAL ASSOCIATION FOR CLEAN AND HEALTHFUL RECREATION
NATIONAL DEMONSTRATION EXPOSITION
LICENSE No. 12
AUTHORIZED AFTER INVESTIGATION

Consumers! Are you members of the Consumers' League? You can at least help on the cause of rightening buying by asking for the Consumers' League label (see cut above) in the stores.

A rule is now in progress at Houghton & Dutton's of cotton underwear bearing the label. But only a few kinds. Ask for the special brand of Consumers' League label. Send for Bulletin, explanatory leaflet, to the office of the Consumers' League of Massachusetts, 6 Joy St., Boston.

TO-NIGHT
Cascarets
BEST FOR THE BOWELS AND LIVER
10c. 25c. 50c.

Women's Health

may be protected by keeping the blood pure, the liver active and the bowels regular with

Beecham's Pills

In boxes with full directions 10c. and 25c.

GOLDBERG
Ladies' Tailor and Dressmaker
Good Fitting Guaranteed. REASONABLE PRICES
16 Minot St., Boston

"For the love of Mike, Mutt, be reasonable."

REPRODUCTION OF COVER DESIGN, EXACT SIZE

All Up For The

MUTT and JEFF

BOOK of CARTOONS

By BUD FISHER.

Done Into 61 Soul-stirring Pages by a Boston Crew of Highbinders.

Little Old Bud Fisher who is serving a life sentence as a cartoonist, has put one across. Following the urgent appeal of one hundred and sixty million people who can't sleep nights, he has conspired with a Boston publishing house to corral your old pals, MUTT and JEFF, into a volume of adventures hitherto unknown to science. The following dedication will serve to explain in a very cloudy way the main purpose of the book.

DEDICATION

WHEN I was very young, there was a kid of my own age who was a bit more favored by nature in physical prowess than I was; in other words, he had my goat. Not only that, but he knew he had it, and he never allowed me to forget it either. By way of impressing the fact on my memory, he would take a long and carefully aimed swing at my nasal organ every time we met. Occasionally his judgment of direction would be a trifle off, and my eye would act as backstop for the punch. To give him justice, however, I must admit that he seldom missed. I usually got it just where I was supposed to get it—right on the beak. I couldn't get even with him then, but I swore a mighty oath that, should I ever become President or get on the police force, or in any other manner get him in my power, I would make it my one aim in life to get revenge. Therefore, I dedicate this book to him, Charlie Harvey.

Now that nobody knows anything about it, you can take it from MUTT himself that he never was in better form in his life than in the narrow confines of his little cell, politely styled a book by the publishers.

It contains 61 full page drawings—the choice of Bud Fisher, himself—the best that have appeared in the Boston American, including many of the "Abroad" series, the "Trip to "Reno" and many of the best "Race Track" pictures.

The book is 5½ inches deep, 15 inches long, bound in heavy brown boards, printed on the finest heavy glazed paper and will make your mother-in-law laugh till her jaws ache.

HOW TO GET THE BOOK

Clip 7 Coupons of consecutive dates from the Daily and Sunday Boston American and present them with 35 cents. By mail 10 cents extra for postage. First Coupon appears Friday, Oct. 7; distribution begins Saturday morning, Oct. 15. Start saving with the first coupon and have your set complete by that time.

Boston American MUTT AND JEFF Cartoon Dept. 272 Devonshire Street Boston
Address Mail Orders to P. O. Box 227

DOVES FIGHT TO HAND LACING TO THE GIANTS TO-DAY

BOSTON·AMERICAN·SPORTS

RED SOX BATTLE FOR PENNANT WINNING ATHLETICS TO-DAY

COURSE MUST BE PATROLLED, SAY CUP RACERS

By J. C. KERRIBON.

The many fatalities and injuries incident to the running of the Vanderbilt Cup race last Saturday, has caused a feeling of unrest and dissatisfaction among the men who drive those powerful, speedy racing cars, as well as those who sanction conflicts and business in order that they may witness the tests of speed and endurance.

The Vanderbilt of this year will be established an unusual record list of fatalities and injuries, and many are now asking themselves whether or not the game is worth the price. The racing men themselves, who feel that their safety is more in jeopardy than anyone else, are outspoken in their condemnation as what they consider the lack of safeguarding the course, and the poor condition of certain portions of the roadway. One man said, "It is bad enough to drive in a race where the course is properly patrolled, but it is like tempting fate and driving right into the very face of death to drive as we were forced to, drive on saturday, through lines of living humanity, with every now and then some reckless individual dashing across the track with eminent risk to himself and to the operators."

When the Long Island Parkway was first talked of, and later established, it was done solely to give the race a course that was private, one that could be fenced off and kept free, it being remembered that the agitation for such course was brought about by the fatalities experienced in the second Vanderbilt. Just what the result of this carnival of death may be, is purely one of conjecture. It cannot, however, help but model in the better policing of the Grand Prize race on october 13.

It is doubted if the Board of supervisors of Nassau County will for a moment withdraw its sanction of the race on that day, as the racers have always carried into Long Island a vast amount of money. They have been the means of bringing trade and patronage, and in no small degree the cause of the development of that section. They were on the course Saturday a sufficient number of men to safeguard the contestants and the spectators, and it will be assumed that such was not the case. The trouble is that Lee special appointed deputy sheriffs invariably become so impressed in watching the contest that they forgot that they were there for another purpose.

The fatalities, however, cannot all be laid to the owner of the racing car, the racing men themselves, are mindful of their personal safety, but that of the public are growing to be more and more careful.

It will be remembered that two of the accidents to racing cars were caused by their jumping over bridges over the traffic. People who stood in that vicinity said it was a wonder that more were not killed when the loud of Stone, Knipper, and Chevrolet, as those cars were crossing those bridges and especially the right-weight cars, were heard. Immediately on the driver of at least twenty feet, there being a slight rise to and a drop from the crest of the bridge, so that when the car reached the crown of the bridge, it left the road and went careening through the air for at least twenty feet.

The course on the back stretch was said to be in bad condition and it was completely talk that but little s or thin oiling had been done to the course since the last race. There were many other things in connection with the Vanderbilt race that might be criticised, but they have all long been a part of the great successful and consideration of the fatalities.

A SALARY RAISER IN YOUR POCKET

The I. C. S. handbooks are time savers and salary raisers. Designed to fit the needs of the man on the job. Pronounced by mechanics to be the best handbooks published. A separate handbook for each occupation.

ELECTRICAL WORKERS
$1.6 pages of electrical information and formulas covering every branch of running a power plant.

BUILDING TRADES
372 pages of information, data and formulas for architects, builders, carpenters and bricklayers. Illustrated.

MACHINISTS
A book for every man whose daily task brings him in contact with machinery; 316 pages; 189 illustrated.

PLUMBERS AND FITTERS
Useful to helper or instructor. 330 pages; well illustrated; 300 valuable rules and formulas.

OFFICE WORKERS
300 pages of little things that save business men time and money.

MARINERS
A valuable book for any man who follows the sea for business or pleasure; 624 pages; well illustrated.

THE STEEL SQUARE
A practical treatise that costs your time in full; easy to understand; no difficult mathematics; numerous diagrams and illustrations.

Pocket size, indexed so that the information may be found instantly.

Worth $1.00. Sold for 50 cents in cloth and $1.00 in leather binding to advertise the FREE EXHIBIT of the International Correspondence Schools, 9 Boylston St., Boston.

Information on All Courses Free

ABSOLUTELY PURE. OLD CROW RYE

(Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.)

Delicious flavor. Sold only in our registered bottles. Never sold in bulk.

All Dealers

H. B. KIRK & CO., Sole Bottlers, N. Y.

It Was a Pippin While It Lasted — By Tad

ASK NER ABOUT THAT LITTLE FRIEMO AND WELL MAKE IT A FOURSOME
YES-UH-WELL THEM HARRY AND I WILL BE THERE WITH MUH MAYS AND THE NIGHT SCHEMEN AT 4 HEP AT JOES
HA-HA
YOU LOOK LIKE GENE MCGUIRE BUNK BUT ITS A BEAR
THIS FIT SHE
GEE I LOOK LIKE SOMETHING THE CAT DRAGGED IN BUT I'M GAME
HEY BUNK WHY DONT YOU PAY YOUR BITS AND GET THE REST OF THE KELLY
GEE I HOPE THEY SHOW UP
SAW IT REDINCK SAW US WITH THE TOMBSTONE PROFITS AND THE TWO BEAUTIES SAW HOM MOMMER

GEE I FEEL LIKE A CHEESE HARRY BUT I MUST LOOK GREAT
OH THIS IS THE ONLY LIFE BUNK FOR YOU HORN IN WITH THE RICH BIRDS
WELL COP THE GIRLS OUT BEFORE BUNK SHOWS UP
WHATRE YOU GUYS DOIN HERE ?
GEE IT WAS A PIPPIN WHILE IT LASTED

HARVARD TEAM STARTS SECRET DRILL TO-DAY

By E. V. B. PARKE.

If you had thought of going over to the Stadium this afternoon to watch the astute varsity scrub route the Harvard eleven prance through regular afternoon practice, and are for yourself how the big football coach develops a real varsity team, just forget it, for the Harvard candidates are now laboring behind closed doors. No reckoner will have the chance of casting his bupertinent eye upon the training of the big team until Thursday afternoon when the doors will be flung wide for a scrimmage. It will be the practice for the next several weeks, that the first three days of each week will be devoted to secret work, while public scrimmages will be held on Thursdays, Fridays the week will be of the highest variety, this being the day previous to a game. On this day the public will also be admitted.

This afternoon, and the other days this week when secret practice will be held, Coach Haughton and his staff of aids will lustruct their charges in many intricate and puzzling plays, which are aimed upon the foes of the Crimson will, it is calculated, completely befuddle the unforeseen foes. Anyhow, the Harvard coaches are trying to be smart though some hard work behind the closed doors, for word from him that which will make the Elis look exceedingly "fringe" when the fatal day comes along in November.

Long blue-card talks will precede the practice every day, in the sacred upper room in the Locker building, where none but the chosen few may enter. These talks will also become a regular occurrence after dinner at night at the Varsity Club, where the men will hereafter dine.

Players at Training Table.

Incidentally the varsity training table began this morning with breakfast, twenty-two men having been selected to eat from this festive board. The men were as follows: Backs—T. J. Campbell, '12, H. F. Corbett, '11, T. Frothingham, Jr., '12, E. A. Graydon, '11, C. Leslie, '11, L. E. Morrison, '12; quarterbacks—R. B. Wigglesworth, '12, S. S. Potter, '12, H. D. Gardner, '13, and H. Johnson, '11; ends—S. M. Felton, '12, H. Lewis, '12, J. F. Logan, '11, and L. B. Smith, '12; tackles—Captain Withington, '11, F. M. Leslie, '12, and G. McKay; Guards—R. T. Fisher, '12, W. W. Minot, '11; centers—P. D. Smith, '11, J. G. H. Perkins, '13, and F. D. Hunting ton, '12.

The practice of shutting out the vulgar herd of the "grandstand knights" at all of the home or double road in the works of the immortal Gideon, was a familiar sight in former days in season past. This in a degree may be attributed to the new rules governing football, possibly figuring out that it will take longer to work out the new formations which will be used adapted to the new rules, behind closed doors, longer than they have formerly.

At all events if some time in the future you should happen to pass the Stadium and stroll down to Soldiers Field with a view to taking a peep at the Crimson warriors, and should happen to notice a big white sign with the legend "Practice," just turn about and "beat it," for there is no getting by the red-capped ushers protecting all entrances to the covered edifice, which brings to mind the fallen glory of ancient Greece. These same red-capped ushers, are candidates for the position of freshmen football manager and assistant manager. Thirty-six of them have come out for the coveted honor this year, breaking all records for such contests. Manager de Windt of the varsity team is therefore finding it rather going in providing enough for these chaps to do, and is making excellent use of them as gatemen.

Fish Watches Practice.

One of the most prominent men admitted to the secret practice this afternoon was "Hiram" Fish, captain of the Crimson team last year and All-America tackle on Walter Camp's team-of-the-year. Fish has returned to Cambridge for the Law course, and will probably be seen very frequently on the gridiron on Soldiers Field during the coming weeks of football practice. "Jimy" Foster, captain of the team in the Fall of 1908 was also on the field watching the practice, while J. Wells Farley '09, was another prominent spectator.

The team under the direction of Coach Houghton was sent through signals at a rapid pace, several new formations being tried out. The teams, as they lined up were as follows:

VARSITY.		SUBS.
Felton, lt.	re.	Lewis
Withington, lg.	rt.	Leslie
Minot, lg.	r.g.	Parmenter
Perkins, c.	c.	D. Smith
Fisher, rg.	l.g.	Blodgett
Whittemore, rt.	l.t.	Hunting
L. D. Smith, re.	l.e.	Amory
Wigglesworth, qb.	r.h.	Gardner
Campbell, lhb.	f.b.	Morrison
Graydon, rhb.	l.h.	Pierce
H. C. Leslie, fb.	f.b.	Tryon

With the exception of Campbell at one of the halfback positions, it may safely be said that the varsit combination as it ran through signals yesterday, will remain in that shape during the year. The men, with the exception of Felton, are all of known worth in their respective positions, and there are probably no men of sufficient ability on the varsity squad who will be able to dislodge them.

Coach Men in New Plays.

At the present, Corbett is laid up with a bad hand. He cut it slightly one day recently and it became slightly infected, but the injury is not serious and he will be back again in togs in a day or so. During his layoff Campbell, the first substitute to the sorrel-topped back, is taking his place.

After the signal practice was over men were coached in their respective duties. Coaches Bingden and Greene took charge of the backfield, putting them through strenuous session in the art of breaking up interference and charging, while Coach Leary, and Coach Houghton delivered a lecture by Coach Leary, and Houghton just what they did wrong in the game with Bowdoin last Saturday.

The backs were given new plays and also on interference. This will be tested for over an hour. This will be the general type of work given to the men during the practice sessions, as there will be a scrimmage or two thrown in, to permit the new formations in operation before the practice, for in that way alone can their efficiency be tested, and it is not wholly to let the whole world know what the new plays are like.

YOUNGSTERS TO PLAY THE "OLD-TIMERS"

MIDDLEBORO, Oct. 4.—The last game of ball for this season will be played Saturday between the "old timers" and the present team. There is much interest in the game, as many of the old-time ball players will appear who have not been in town for many years. The lineup for the "old timers" will be Charlie Riley of Fall Bedford, pitcher; Jim Flynn, catcher; Sid Phillips, shortstop; Tom Brown of Bridgewater, first base; Bill Dugan of the Michigan State League, second base; Bert Reagan of Bridgewater, third base; Albion Merritt, Jim McCarthy and Charlie Chandler in the field. The game will be a benefit game for the players of the local team who have played all Summer.

MIDDLEBORO HIGH STRONG ON GRIDIRON

MIDDLEBORO, Oct. 4.—The local high school football eleven is out for a clear victory this year if possible, and the aggregation that they have in the makeup is good for a strong team after they have been worked out a trifle. They are being coached by W. A. Hathorne, the new commercial teacher in the school.

Lang has been elected captain and Rob Peunlman manager. The lineup is as follows: T. Kendall, right end; Ralph Burden, right tackle; Marshall Snow, right guard; Emil Perry, center; Burch Burgins, left guard; Earl Drake, left tackle; T. Anderson, left end; Ralph Lang, quarterback; K. Washburn, L. Morse, halfbacker; William Long, fullback.

CLIFTON

CLIFTON, 2¾ in. high BEDFORD, 2¾ in. high

The New ARROW Notch COLLARS

Sit snugly to the neck, the tops meet in front and there is ample space for the cravat.

15c. 2 for 25c. Cluett, Peabody & Co., Makers.

LANGFORD-JEANETTE BOUT IS CALLED OFF

Sam Langford having accepted a five-week theatrical engagement, and Joe Jeannette's hand being in bad shape, the bout between them at the Amory A. A. a week from to-night has been postponed.

COLORADO E. FAVORITE IN BIG FUTURITY

To-day, under the happiest auspices and attended by the finest hospitality this country affords, there will be raced upon the famous track at Lexington, Ky., the most important colt race the light harness world knows, the $21,000 Kentucky Futurity, which furnishes to the devoted followers of the trotting horse the same magnificent sport with all its generosity and open-handed good fellowship that marks the English Derby at Epsom Downs.

The meeting down to the Blue Grass country to-day is the last titanic struggle between the most remarkable collection of three-year-old trotters that have ever lived, and while the race seems certain to go to Colorado E. 2:05¾, the champion son of The Bondsman, who has not only lowered this year the world's futurity record but has also withstood defeat in the most sensational manner, still there are many who feel that the result may be much in doubt.

A new world's futurity trotting record seems certain to be recorded to-day, and one of the most interesting of light harness patrons are at Lexington for to-day's championship battle.

Fifteen Eligibles for Race.

There are fifteen eligibles for today's Kentucky Futurity as follows:

Colorado E., by The Bondsman; Native Belle, by Moko; Grace, by Peter the Great; Douglass McGregor, by Jay McGregor; Sue D., by Todd; J. Malcolm Forbes, by Bingen; Emily Ellen, by Todd-Ann, by Sir Valient Vincent; Georgo Todd, by Todd; Lola Allen, by Peter the Great; Lionello, by Bellini; Rex Bellini, by Bellini; Arona McKinney, by McKinney; Miss Vivant, by Bon Voyage; Bergen, by Bingara.

Colorado E., the overwhelming favorite for to-day's Kentucky Futurity, is the undisputed champion of his age and is a three-year-old, who, if forced seems capable of trotting a mile better than 2:05 to-day.

Native Belle, who will be the contender unless all signs fail, has been suffering with a cold and hoarse, still there are many who feel certain that the great bay daughter of Moko will be seen at her best to-day. Her fame is immortalizing herself this year by pulling the world's two-year-old trotting record of 2:07¾, causes her many admirers much concern.

Emily Ellen, winner of The Horsemen and Spirit of the Times Futurity, must also be reckoned with, together with Sue D., by Todd, 2:04¾, record 2:04 speed, and J. Malcolm Forbes, the fastest three-year-old colt ever trained over the Lexington track. While Grace, an own sister to Margaret Dillon, 2:08¾, is a worthy opponent, she will be handicapped by her dam. The rest of the field are hardly dangerous.

Pick Colorado E.

Viewing the race from every angle, and considering the season's affection of Native Belle, there seems little doubt that Colorado E., driven by the Lexington veteran, Jim Morey, will prove the winner. Still it will be one of the greatest of three-year-old battles this land and a magnificent gathering of patrons of the sport will be in the class.

It is a matter of pride to New England that in to-day's futurity five of the starters are by our grand sire Hingara, 2:06¾, sire of 7 in 2:10, 24 in 2:15, 2 pacers in 2:00, Todd, 2:14¾, namely George Todd, Todd Ann, Emily Ellen, Sue D., and Sue D., 2:04¾. The great Electioneer family has only one representative, Ben Vivant, 2:16¾, but is not a descendant of Ringer. The George Wilkes family is represented by five prospective starters, two of which, Colorado E., 2:05¾, and Native Belle, 2:07¾, are by sons of Baron Wilkes, 2:18, while four remaining entries, two are by Peter the Great, 2:07¾, son of Pilot Medium, and two are by Bellini, 2:13¾, son of Hillery, 2:21¾. Every starter in the futurity will be a descendant of Hredyk's Hambletonian in the direct male line.

ELCHO

ELCHO

25 Cents' Worth of Satisfaction in a 10 Cent Elcho Cigar

Union Hand Made

Quality From End to End

DRISCOLL & FITZGERALD, Cigar Operators and Manufacturers, Boston.

STANDING OF THE CLUBS

AMERICAN LEAGUE

HOW THE CLUBS STAND.

	W.	L.	P.C.		W.	L.	P.C.
Athletics	101	48	.678	Cleveland	86	63	.577
New York	85	64	.570	Washington	63	85	.426
Detroit	86	64	.573	Chicago	62	85	.422
BOSTON	80	68	.541	St. Louis	45	103	.304

TO-DAY'S GAMES.

Boston at Philadelphia; Athletics at Boston; Washington at New York.

YESTERDAY'S GAMES.

At Philadelphia—Athletics, 8; Red Sox, 5.
At New York—Washington, 4; New York, 0.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

HOW THE CLUBS STAND.

	W.	L.	P.C.		W.	L.	P.C.
Chicago	91	57	.615	Cincinnati	71	77	.480
New York	86	62	.581	Pittsburg	68	80	.459
Philadelphia	85	62	.584	St. Louis	59	86	.407
Phillies	73	73	.500	Brooklyn	59	91	.393

TO-DAY'S GAMES.

New York at Boston.
Pittsburg at St. Louis.
Chicago at Cincinnati.

YESTERDAY'S GAMES.

At Boston—New York, 4; Boston, 3.
At Philadelphia—Brooklyn, 5; Phillies, 0.
At Cincinnati—Cincinnati, 5; Chicago, 3.
At St. Louis—Pittsburg, 2; St. Louis, 0.

POSTS COIN FOR 115-POUND BOUT

Tommy Lee, manager of Frankie Burns, posted $250 to-day with the sporting editor of the BOSTON AMERICAN to bind a match with Johnny Coulon or Jimmie Walsh. Lee is eager to get his man on with either of the lads at 116 pounds, ringside.

He wants $1,000 side bet, but he is willing to waive that in case Walsh doesn't want to go that far and does want to meet Burns at 116 pounds and in Coulon's case he demands the side bet. Coulon has a newspaper decision over Burns and Burns has one over Coulon, but Lee wants a ringside decision and says he is willing to go to any reasonable length to get it.

He would like to have his man meet either Walsh or Coulon at the Armory Club in Boston, where he can get a decision, and when he posted his money today he said that that was the reason he wanted to stage the bout in Boston.

Lee came over to see the Moran-Moore bout to-night. He had with him Charley Sieger, "the iron man," of Hoboken, N. J., who says he would like to take on any 138 to 145-pound man in New England.

BOOM ROWING AT YALE.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 4.—Candidates for the crews were called out at a meeting in Yale Gymnasium. The response indicated that the interest in rowing has taken a boom, coincident with the new university boathouse.

I CURE ALCOHOLIC AND ALL DRUG ADDICTIONS

Patients receive careful and judicious treatment. The appetite for liquor and drugs thoroughly eliminated. Many years' experience in curing difficult cases of both sexes.

ADVICE FREE.

Dr. Jos. Grady
238 Tremont St. Boston

Hrs.: 10-12, 2-5, 7-8. Sun., 10-12. Closed Wed.

Big 6 The remedy for Gonorrhea, Gleets, Stop Pain. The Issue Chemical Co. Cincinnati, O. U.S.A.

Inflammations, Irritations or ulcerations of all mucous membranes, and discharges from the sexual organs. Sold by Druggists or in plain wrapper, on receipt of $1, or three bottles, $2.75. Booklet on request.

BROWN DIDN'T HAVE GOODS, SO THE DOVES LOST

By SID WHIPPLE.

It's getting cold out there on the South End grounds, but the men who will wake up in the press stand, clear up on the top of everything, need a few fur coats to keep them from freezing to death. Furthermore these games aren't exciting enough to keep the average fan warm.

The game yesterday was, however, the best game of this Giant series. The outcome was to doubt until the last inning, and the Doves made the Giants go the whole innings before they copped the game. Buster Brown wasn't equal to the occasion. That's the whole story. Buster didn't have the goods. And by the way, that's the story of every game that the Doves have lost in the last three weeks. The pitcher didn't have the goods yesterday, and not like the farces that were played Friday and Saturday—not quite as anyone would want to see. Up to the fifth inning Brown had the Giants' goat and had it good. But they couldn't hold their lead. Three put-outs how many times recently the Doves have been unable to hold their lead?

In more than one contest within the last few days the Birds have gone out and secured runs to win an ordinary kind of game, in the very first of the game. But then the pitchers weakened, and the end of it all has not been complimentary to Fred Lake's men.

This isn't knocking very hard. But it was disappointing to those who saw the contest the start the Doves made to have them finish in the pan the way they did in the last innings, and that is what has happened time and time again since the Birds have been in their home town. At times they play championship ball, and scarcely a day goes by but what they show that they could, if pressed to it, play the kind of game that makes the fan sit up and take notice. But they have spoiled it all by their frequent exhibitions during the latter part of the game. Runs are secured, as usual, a good lead in the first part of the game. They manage to put by scoring two runs in the first inning. Collins was sent over the plate by a base on balls, Wilson's error and Beck's hit, and Goode came across on the same plays. Then the Doves scored again in the fourth inning, two hits and a stolen base giving Newnham the tally. Up to this time not a Giant had seen third base, and the next inning they succeeded in getting but one man across.

The AMERICAN is the Great Home Paper.

I CURE MEN

SPECIALIST

DISEASES and WEAKNESSES of YOUNG, MIDDLE AGED and OLD MEN. Private and Expert Methods. No Cure, No Pay. Only reputable physicians of long experience and the shortest time possible consistent with a permanent cure guaranteed. Hrs. 9-1; Sun. 10-1.

ADVICE FREE

BLOOD, POISON cured in the quickest possible time, by the safest method. Kidney, Bladder and Rectal Diseases and SKIN DISEASES. Call or write for free book.

DR. KILLORY Rear Crawford House.

Every Woman

is interested and should know about the wonderful

MARVEL Whirling Spray

The new Vaginal Syringe. Best of all Hard Rubber Syringes. It cleanses thoroughly.

Are your druggists out it. Don't accept substitute. The MARVEL is always perfect, has illustrated book—sealed. It gives full directions (never before published) how to use it correctly. Invaluable to ladies. Sent prepaid in plain wrapper, $3.50. Send for booklet. MARVEL CO., 44 East 23rd St., NEW YORK.

For sale at all Riker-Jaynes Drug Stores. Mail orders solicited.

Medical and Surgical SPECIALIST ADVICE FREE

314 Columbus ave., long experience; all diseases of Men and Women. Terms low. Hours 10-8.

DR. J. BLACKMER, Specialist, 4096 Tremont st., Boston. Hours, 10 to 1 and 2 to 5. Sun., 10 to 1

All Diseases of Men and Women. Lady Assistant; expert treatment; cure guaranteed.

MORAN SLIGHT FAVORITE OVER MOORE TONIGHT

Pal Moore, who tackles Owen Moran at the Armory A. A. to-night, arrives in Boston to-day with his manager, Jimmy De Forest. Moran, accompanied by manager Jimmy Johnson, and Matt Wells arrived here last night.

To-night's contest will probably go the limit—twelve rounds. On account of his last bout with Moore in Philly, Moran is a favorite. Many believe that Moore will get the decision to-night, and that it will all mean another bout between the lads.

Moore is clever and has yet to show that he is not game, and the contest to-night should develop into an exhibition of cleverness, with Moore trying to offset Moran's ring generalship by youth and ambition.

Moore has made a great reputation by beating men whom he outweighed, but in Moran he will meet a man who will be close to the lightweight limit, a class that Moore is rapidly approaching.

Boston sports have heard a lot about Moran, and several bouts in which he was a leading actor. They want him to show them to-night that he's on the level, and that he won't do any stalling, no matter what the inducement may be. Moore has been so much talk of a frame-up that it's certainly up to Moran to put a quietus on it by his actions to-night.

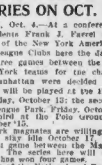
There will be three six-round preliminaries. Billy Hector of the Navy will meet Dick Howell of Canada; Jack Lowe of the North End, first fighter, Johnny Broderick of Charlestown, and Billy Nash of the Navy will go against Jim Cassidy of Roxbury.

GIANTS AND YANKS SERIES ON OCT. 13

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—At a conference between Presidents Frank J. Farrel and John T. Brush of the New York American and National League Clubs here the dates for the first three games between the respective New York teams for the championship of Manhattan were decided on. The first game will be played at the Polo Grounds Thursday, October 13, the second at American League Park, Friday, October 14, and the third at the Polo Grounds, Saturday, October 15.

The New York magnates are willing to let their team play all three games, the day for the first game between the Nashs and the Clubs. The series will end when the team has won four games.

Umpires Klem of the National and Evans of the American League were selected to officiate. Hugh McManus of Troy and William Locke of Pittsburg were chosen umpires representative.



American Furniture Record Vol. LXXX., 5 m.

ALWAYS IN FRONT

"The Quality Whiskey"

BERRY'S DIAMOND WEDDING WHISKEY

"The Quality Whiskey"

LEADING DEALERS.

C. BERRY & CO., 84-88 Leverett St. BOSTON.

Dr. Hallock's

Famous Remedies CURE TO STAY CURED

Men's Diseases and Weaknesses

Experience. Practice. Knowledge.

The three essentials to our success—the three pre-requisites to cure and secure before we promise to cure our patients. Are those not the best credentials? Do you want a new, positive guarantee to cure? Do you need a surer pledge of good faith? Do you want to be cured right at once and stay cured after others have failed? Do you need a cure for sexual weaknesses of all kinds and from whatever cause arising in young, middle aged and old men? Nervous and physical debility, exhausted vitality, impaired manhood, lost power, failing memory, unnatural drains, blood poison, stricture, varicocele, constipation and indigestion. Blood and skin diseases, including all forms of rash, pimples, blood boils, scrofula, chronic sores and ulcers, eczema and kidney complaints cured permanently. Call or write for free book.

Chronic diseases, long standing cases of kidney, bladder and kidney complaints, cured after others have failed. Rupture, piles, fistula, varicocele, hydrocele, stricture, blood poison and all private and difficult cases. No loss of time. A written guarantee to cure in every curable case. Charges satisfactorily low, payable as patient is able. Advice free. Our medical book is sealed in plain envelope and sent postpaid by mail, free, with question sheet. Hours, Daily, 9 to 5. Sun., 10 to 1.

DR. HALLOCK CO.

114 Court St., Boston, Mass.

Office 62 years at the same old stand, corner Court and Cornhill, opposite Scollay Square. Dr. Hallock is the oldest, most modern and most reliable in the country, as city papers show and all residents know.

GoatLymph Double Strength Tablets

(A COMPOUND)

Nature's own remedy for depleted nerve force; for exhaustion; for debility, for insomnia, now prepared in small tablet form. $2 per box. Lasts one month. Sold in Boston only by all

Riker-Jaynes Drug Stores.

DR. ADY, Specialist, Nervous Debility, Blood, Skin, Urinary Diseases, Men and Women. Cures Guaranteed. 10-5. 90 Berkeley St. C. Free.

BOSTON·AMERICAN·SPORTS

RICK COLORADO E. TO CAPTURE CLASSIC OF AMERICAN TURF

HARVARD ELEVEN IN SECRET DRILL AT THE STADIUM

Mutt Is Simply Daffy to Join a Fraternity at Harvard — By "Bud" Fisher

JEFF, HE MAY BE INVITED TO JOIN A FRATERNITY AT ANY MINUTE. THEY'RE VERY MYSTERIOUS ABOUT IT. THEY WALK UP AND TAP YOU ON THE SHOULDER AND MAKE YOU DO STUNTS. I'M DAFFY TO JOIN UMM!
YOUNG MAN, YOU HAVE BEEN SELECTED FOR THE Δ·K·E· YOU ARE ABOUT TO BE INITIATED. NOW BEND OVER, TAK YOUR HANDS TOUCH THE GROUND
OH, FINE! JEFF WILL BE CRAZY WHEN HE HEARS I'M A FRATERNITY MAN
88-89-90-91 92 - WE ARE NOW PASSING THROUGH THE FIRST DEGREE
I MUSTN'T WEAKEN
MAKE IT AS PAINLESS AS POSSIBLE, KIND SIR.
THIS IS WHAT WE CALL THE 6TH DEGREE. THERE ARE ONLY 79 MORE
WHAT IN
?
A-W, FOR THE LOVE OF MIKE, MUTT, BE REASONABLE
SOMETHING GIVES SURE!
Fisher

WORLD SERIES PLANS MADE; WHO WILL WIN?

BOSTON AMERICAN WORLD'S SERIES CONTEST.

Date.....

I estimate that the Philadelphia Americans (Athletics), and the Chicago Nationals (Cubs), will score as follows in the games for the world's baseball championship for 1910:

First Game—Philadelphia ..... Chicago .....
Second Game—Philadelphia ..... Chicago .....
Third Game—Philadelphia ..... Chicago .....
Fourth Game—Philadelphia ..... Chicago .....
Fifth Game—Philadelphia ..... Chicago .....
Sixth Game—Philadelphia ..... Chicago .....
Seventh Game—Philadelphia ..... Chicago .....

Signature.....

Address.....

.....

It's all settled now.

They are going to start the world's baseball series between the Cubs and Athletics October 17. That is a week from next Monday. You have less than two weeks then to guess out the results and take a shy at that $130 to be given by the BOSTON AMERICAN.

They will play the first two games Monday and Tuesday, October 17 and 18, at Philadelphia. Wednesday following will be an open date, to allow for rain or a tie game. Thursday and Friday, October 20 and 21, they will play in Chicago.

The first team to win four games wins the championship. It is possible—but not probable—that the series will be ended with the last of those two Chicago games.

If they have to play a fifth it will come off Saturday, October 22, at Philadelphia, and if a sixth is necessary, Sunday, October 23 will be the date, and Chicago the place. It may be that after that game each club will have annexed three games. In that case, the seventh will be played at a time and place to be decided later.

Let them worry about that. All that YOU have to do to be a candidate for one of the fifty-four prizes, amounting to $150, to be given away by the BOSTON AMERICAN is to guess the results of the games as well as you can, and send your guess to the WORLD'S SERIES EDITOR, BOSTON AMERICAN, P. O. Box No. 2770, Boston. Let the other fellows do the betting. You run do your guessing for prizes without risking anything, or without taking any chances at all.

You may guess as often as you wish. The one who guesses the result of the games most accurately will receive $25; the person whose guess is next in accuracy will be awarded $25; the third, $15 and the fourth $10. Fifty other guessers next nearest in accuracy, will receive $1 each.

In case of ties, the guesses postmarked earliest will receive preference, as it is wise to send in your guess early. No guesses will be received after noon of the day upon which the first game between the Cubs and Athletics is played.

WORLD'S SERIES GAMES BEGIN IN PHILLY OCT. 17

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 4.—The first game of the world's baseball championship series between the Philadelphia Athletics, champion of the American League, and the Chicago Cubs, champions of the National League, will be played in Philadelphia. The opening battle will start at 2 p. m. on Monday, October 17.

There has always been a superstition among baseball followers that the team winning the toss for first game loses the series. For this reason President Murphy of Chicago was not much downcast when President Ben Shibe of Philadelphia announced the turn of the half dollar today.

Forty-six players, twenty-three on each club, were certified as eligible for the series. They are:

Chicago National League Club—Archer, Beaumont, Brown, Cole, Clarke, Evers, Hofman, Hollocher, Kling, Kane, McIntyre, Needham, Overall, Pfiester, Ritchie, Reulbach, Sheckard, Steinfeldt, Schulte, Tinker, Weaver, Zimmerman.

Philadelphia American League Club—Adkins, Bender, Barry, Baker, Coombs, Collins, Dygert, Davis, Derrick, Houser, Hartsel, Krause, Lapp, Livingston, Lord, Morgan, Murphy, McInnis, Oldring, Plank, Thomas, Strunk.

The umpires selected by the National Commission are Francis Richter of Philadelphia, and Taylor Spink of St. Louis.

John Heydler, secretary to President Lynch of the National League, and Garry Herrmann, secretary to President Johnson of the American League, have been selected business managers of the series.

Fix Price of Tickets.

Reserved seat prices were fixed at from $1 to $5, while the price for general admission will be fifty cents.

As is usual, the players will receive 60 per cent of the proceeds of the first four games, but to allow the players to benefit by a Sunday game, the commission put a provision in the rules that, if none of the first four games receipts equals those of the Sunday game in Chicago, in case the latter game is played, the players' proportionate share shall be made on the basis of the Sunday game in Chicago. The rules committee also called attention to the rules section under which football the teams in any of the series which forfeit the game to give any part of the world's series proceeds to former team-mates who have been released to clubs in the same league this season, and prohibits giving of bonuses by the owners to the players of the two clubs.

In case any of the games are postponed by weather conditions after the first game are to be moved ahead, except that in any event the game scheduled for Monday, October 23, is to be played in Chicago.

Having in mind the trouble with ticket scalpers during past world's series, the commission today added the following warning to its announcement:

Bar Ticket Scalpers.

"The public is cautioned against paying any higher prices for tickets than those fixed in the official schedules. Every effort will be made to prevent ticket scalping, and the licenses granted to the ticket brokers will be revoked if they are found in the hands of scalpers.

"The commission requests the co-operation of the public to bring about proper results and has the assurance that the various municipal authorities will assist them in their work.

"The management of the respective clubs will announce immediately after the promulgation of this order at which time and at what places reserved seat tickets will be put on sale and the conditions applying to their purchase, the conditions of sale, however, to be subject to approval by the National Commission.

"Box holders have been limited in their sale of reserved seats, and no extra grounds nor a capacity of over 30,000 the public need have no fear as to gaining admission."

The commission also provided that said checks shall be issued each day, regardless of weather conditions.

DATES OF WORLD SERIES BATTLES

First game, Monday, October 17, at Philadelphia.
Second game, Tuesday, October 18, at Philadelphia.
Third game, Thursday, October 20, at Chicago.
Fourth game, Friday, October 21, at Chicago.
Fifth game, Saturday, October 22, at Philadelphia.
Sixth game, Sunday, October 23, at Chicago.
Place of seventh game, if necessary, to be decided by toss of coin.
Umpire—American League, Sheridan and Connolly; National League, O'Day and Rigler.

DAILY LESSONS FOR ATHLETICS

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 4.—A policy not followed or any other big league leader, but considered an important one by Manager Connie Mack, of the Athletics of Philadelphia, is a daily morning meeting of all his players.

This gathering, which is as essential according to Mack, as reporting for daily games, is attended by every member of the team.

Its purpose is to discuss plays, players and teams. Suggestions from every member of the Athletics on any point whatever are expected, and a general discussion follows.

The subjects are usually of plays that happened the day previous. If the team failed to score a run because of a minor fault of one of the players, he is told what to do when the same situation confronts him the next time.

Weaknesses and strong points of opposing players and teams also come in for much discussion, and the attack of the Athletics is planned accordingly.

The youngest and least experienced members, as well as the newest players, are listened to as much as the old heads. In case some recruit happens to know of some freak play he is expected to tell of it and it is threshed out among the entire squad.

Even following the days when the team wins the meetings go just the same. After the 16 inning tie between the Athletics and White Sox recently the players were closeted with Mack for only ten minutes Friday. Sometimes the meetings continue for thirty minutes.

DR. O'CONNOR TAKES HOLD AT DARTMOUTH

HANOVER, N. H., Oct. 4.—Dr. John C. O'Connor of Manchester, N. H., Dartmouth's famous head coach in 1907 and 1908 and captain of the Green's big varsity eleven in 1901, has arrived here to assist in the coaching.

BOWLING RETURNS IN THE AMERICAN

SECRETARIES of bowling leagues in Greater Boston are requested to send to the Boston American complete schedules of their matches as soon as arranged, and the official scorers are asked to mail the standing of the clubs early each week. Proprietors of bowling alleys are invited to forward a list of the leagues using their alleys. Bowling news of the teams or individual participating in the sport is welcomed at all times, and will be published.

Address Bowling Editor, The Boston American.

HARVARD GETS $57,308 PROFIT FROM FOOTBALL

Athletics netted Harvard $120,562.07 for the year ending July 31, according to the report of Graduate Treasurer William F. Garrison of the Harvard Athletic Association made public today. The expenses for the year were $63,253.99, leaving a balance of $57,308.08.

The finances of the Association run about the same each year, and it is a striking fact that there is but about one hundred and fifty dollars difference in the profit to the Association this year, as compared with last, the profit this year having decreased to that extent.

As always, the income and expenditures of the varsity football team were the largest items in the list. Last year the receipts of the football season were $88,287.14, representing a gain of nearly $10,000 over the year preceding. The expenses were almost exactly the same in the two years, amounting last season to $21,978.81.

The only other athletic ventures that pay expenses are the baseball team and the lawn tennis association. The profit from the three sources is used to support the large number of minor teams that are kept going by the athletic association.

The committee also appointed a rules committee to recommend a coach for the baseball team and to act as an advisory committee on baseball in general. The members are Dr. E. H. Nichols, Barrett Wendell, Jr., Dr. Channing Frothingham, William F. Garcelon and the captain of the nine, ex-officio, C. B. McLaughlin. Such action was made necessary by the retirement last Spring of Louis Pieper, who has had charge of the Harvard nine for the last four years. Baseball has been regarded as being on the big slide at Harvard, and the Athletic committee decided to regulate it by force of burning oil a better team next year than has been the case for the past few years.

The committee also ratified the election of B. McLaughlin as captain of the baseball team.

SAME COACH AT BROWN.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 4.—Fred W. Woodcock, who coached the Brown University baseball team last season, has been appointed coach for the season of 1911. Full practice is commenced to-day, and Coach Woodcock expects to have a large number of candidates report.

MACK THIRD BASEMAN SHADES CUB VETERAN

By BILL BAILEY.

Down Philadelphia way the fans have an idea that if there is one position in the infield where the Athletics will outclass the Cubs it is at third base.

They can't see Harry Steinfeldt. And they do regard Frank Baker as one crackling ball player.

That is their way of looking at it. But that is not true in Chicago. Down in Philadelphia they think that Steinfeldt has gone back, that he has slowed up, that he is but the shell of his old self. Out in Chicago they will tell you that Steinfeldt was also last year.

But they will also tell you that Steinfeldt proved that a man could come back; that Sieny has played one of the best games of his career this year.

And it is the belief of the writer that Steiny will come mighty near holding his own in this world's series. It would probably be going too far to say that he had anything on Baker. But Steinfeldt has not done by any means. And anybody who has an idea that he will probably discover much in this series.

In the matter of age the advantage is with the Philadelphia man. He is coming. He is a youth, almost. Being but twenty-four years old Steinfeldt is a veteran. He is ten years the senior of the man who will oppose him in the big series.

Rely On Steinfeldt's Arm.

Steinfeldt is and has been a peculiar third baseman. That is, a fast man on his feet. In fielding bunts, for instance, he could not and did not rely upon his ability to get to the ball in a hurry. But he had an arm that made it possible for him to field the ball a bit late and yet cut his man at first.

When it comes to arms there are arms and arms, but it is questionable whether a third baseman ever had a greater arm than this same Steinfeldt.

He could and can shoot that ball across the diamond with just as much speed behind it and with just as much accuracy as almost any man in the game to-day.

The manner in which the same Steinfeldt has come back is one of the big surprises of the year in baseball. At the end of last year it was believed by many of the fans that Harry was through; that he had seen his best days and that he scarcely would have to give way to some youngster.

Had Faith In Player.

The one man for a new one. But Chance entertained no such beliefs. You see, Chance and Steinfeldt have known each other for years, and if ever there was a manager who had an abiding faith in a ball player the manager was Chance and the player Steinfeldt.

Sticky trained during the greater part of the Winter. He claimed that he was heavy and that if he could get rid of the superfluous flesh that he would be as good as he ever was. Well, he trained faithfully and was in the game from the jump. And Sticky did come back. He played brilliant ball all during the season.

When it comes to hitting the figures give Baker the better of it. The Philadelphian has batting .279. Steinfeldt can't boast that. His mark is .241.

That both hit the ball hard is proved by the number of extra base hits each possesses. And the figures here again give the Philadelphian man the better of it.

Has Shade On Cub Vet.

Baker this year has slammed out twenty-four two-baggers, fifteen triples and three home runs. Steinfeldt is there with twenty-two two-base hits, four three-baggers, and two home runs. Of course, Steinfeldt has been in fewer games.

The Philadelphian also stole more bases than did the Chicago player, but neither did a great deal of pilfering. Baker swiped twenty bases, while Steinfeldt stole but nine.

Steinfeldt broke in to the game twelve years ago in Fort Worth, Texas. And even now he likes to tell of the days he spent in the Texas League. Sticky also bears the reputation of never having lost an argument. Doesn't make a great deal of difference what the conversation is about if there comes a knotty point Harry is right there with the decision.

Sticky was out of the game for quite a while this Summer. He injured his shoulder while the team was East and for almost a month was in his home town, Fort Cincinnati. And that was something unusual, too, for Sticky is a good fellow who is always on the job.

In Baker he will meet a mighty lively ball player. And one who came up in a hurry. Baker, you know, has played such excellent ball in the few years that he has been with the Athletics that the fans have the impression that he is a veteran.

When you hear this third baseman spoken of you invariably think of him as an old ball player. But he isn't. He was born at Trappe, Md., twenty-four years ago. Not until 1908 did he begin to play professional ball. Then he played at Reading, Pa., and Connie Mack heard of him. It will be remembered that Connie began recruiting his present team along about that time. Well, before the season was over Baker was a member of his team. Last year was the first time he was an entire season in a major league and he certainly created a furore. For he batted .307 and fielded .920.

STRAIGHT TIPS
FOR SPORT FANS

WANTED—By Second Inf., 10 first make league baseball bats in Boston. Liberal wages paid to the right party. No questions asked.

WILL OUT STARTING A DISCUSSION of whether prize ring bouts are brutal or immoral, what do you think of auto racing and aeroplaning as a fine, ladylike sport? The story of the Vanderbilt Cup race reads like a war report? Aero meets produce regular lists of killed and injured. Suppose they're in the interest of science, so it's all right. But if a big 100-mile-an-hour-pop gets his nose broken the reformers explode dynamite bombs under the prize ring, while when a report comes that four are killed and twenty-eight injured in an auto race they don't peep. I'm not thick-headed, but I can't see the logic.

WHILE YOU'RE ABOUT IT, DON'T blame the auto racing drivers for the catastrophes. As a rule they go into the race sober, careful and quick-witted. They inspect every part of their machines to see how far they can stand up under the terrific strain. They try out the courses. They do all in their power to get the last ounce of sped out of their machines, consistent with a reasonable degree of safety to themselves. Life is as sweet to them as to anybody else. But they can't build the courses safe, they can't keep fool spectators from crossing the track when the races are on and they can't keep drunken pleasure parties from madly racing their machines to the scene of action fresh from all-night cafes. Don't charge it up to the racing driver. He takes the greatest risk and the accidents are mainly due to the above-mentioned individuals.

IF THEY HAVE TO PLAY FIVE games in the world's series you'll see a mad baseball rush across half the continent on the night of October 21, and another mad rush back the next night if a sixth has to be played. On the night of October 23, the players and fans who follow them will have to have a special train from Chicago to Philadelphia. They can't make the distance in less than six teen hours. If they leave at 7 p. m. they will reach Philadelphia at noon Saturday—Eastern time—barring accident. They'll have to be in mighty good form to stand that kind of stuff. If they play a fifth game—which will probably happen—look out for upsets. Then figure out the sixth to be played the next day, Sunday, October 23, back in Chicago.

YOU CAN SEE HOW UNCERTAIN this guessing game is when you consider the accident to Johnny Evers, the Cubs' second baseman. Evers is the particular live wire of the Cubs. What the extent of his injury became known the odds of 2 to 1 against the Athletics dropped to 6 to 5, and they're stacking their money that way now. You fans who are going to divide that $150 to be given away by the AMERICAN won't take all of those things into consideration when you make out your estimates. It is always possible for some outsider to come on and get all the money in any baseball guessing bee.

Frisbie Collars
Cadillac
2 HEIGHTS
2½ SIZES
25 cents for Two
THE commanding Autumn Shape—the sightliest, sprightliest Collar of the season. Don't pinch, poke or pull. Curved to clasp the shirtband. The scarf-space simplifies knotting.
FRISBIE, COOK & CO.

$5 in Shoes

The demand for a stylish and service-giving shoe for men at $5 the pair prompted us to make a full line of these shoes.

We have incorporated Coes & Stodder into every pair—you know what that means to shoes.

This is only one of scores of styles—high and low cut—at $5.00

COES & STODDER

MEN'S SHOES

14 SCHOOL STREET

The Vanderbilt Cup Race Number of MoToR

Is Now Out—On Sale at All Newsstands

The October number of MoToR, the National Magazine of Motoring, contains the complete story of every Vanderbilt Cup Race ever run, and also of all the other automobile road races of the world.

This article is a complete historical account of every motor race from the Times-Herald race, in 1895, down to the last big race at Elgin, this year.

It gives a table of speeds ranging from less than 10 miles an hour in the 1895 race, to Nazarro's terrific Florio Cup average of over 74 miles an hour.

Anything you may want to know about automobile road racing, you will find in this entertaining, exhaustive article.

This account is profusely illustrated with nearly one hundred photographs of the winners of every race from the first winner, which was a four horsepower Duryea, to the fastest, Nazarro's Fiat, and the latest, Mulford's Lozier.

At the Nearest Newsstand, Get OCTOBER MoToR

381 Fourth Ave. —25c— New York City.

BOSTON AMERICAN'S DOUBLE

A Little Story for Parents

By ELLA WHEELER WILCOX

Copyright, 1910, by American-Journal-Examiner

If you are a father, read the following pretty, true story, and ask yourself if you are as thoughtful and helpful and considerate as the male thrush

"Without warning, the song of the hermit burst forth close to my ear, and not four feet away, on a low bush, sat my long-sought hermit thrush! He was aware of my presence, for his yellow-ringed eyes were fixed intently on me. Yet with head thrown back and wings slightly drooped, he sang fervently on, the quivering, arrow-spotted throat pouring forth rippling melody. Cautiously I set up and the singer hopped to another twig with apparent agitation, but continued his song.

"A low rustle of a dry leaf behind me caught my ear, and the secret was out. Crouched close to the ground, wings outspread, ran the little mate with a young bird almost ready to fly concealed under its wing. The whole affair was plain. I had chanced near the nest, built on the ground among the pine-needles, moss and grasses. The father had undertaken to attract my attention while the mother spirited away the offspring. The plucky plan would have been carried through without my knowledge."

Both husband and wife should bear the family burden.

Are You Helping Your Mate?

Is not that a touching little story of a sweet domestic life? What tact, what delicacy, what tenderness for both mate and offspring the pugs-bird exhibited.

Are you doing as much toward helping your mate to care for the children and to protect them from danger?

Or are you grumbling and fretting at your wife, scolding her for every trifling occurrence and making the children happy only when you leave the house?

And yet you feel that you are a higher order of creation than the birds. But are you? Not unless you are a considerate husband, a loving and sympathetic father; not unless you are controlling your temper and conducting yourself in a sober, orderly and decent manner when in your home, and bearing your share of the anxieties and cares which children entail.

And you, madam, the mother? What are you doing to make your home a port of safety and cheer to weary voyagers over life's sea?

One Mother's Method.

Are you controlling your nerves, keeping your voice low, making yourself attractive and filling the house with cheerful, loving thoughts, or you are indulging yourself in "moods," neglecting your personal appearance and talking of your troubles and your worries until your husband and children fly the house for peace and rest?

Not many years ago a young man whose face had always impressed me with its sad expression told me that he had been obliged to leave a home of material comfort, and even luxury, where he could have found constant employment as an assistant in his father, because his mother made the home a purgatory to him.

She was irritable over the least trifle and continually nagging and fretting at him. There was no comfort or happiness to be experienced in her atmosphere, so the young man in fitting out a new home for himself and seeking dreaded "duty calls" at his own house.

The woman believes herself to be a devout christian, and thinks her sins have all been washed away in the blood of Christ.

No belief, no adherence to orthodox rules of salvation can "save" such a woman from the final reaping of the harvest of misery she has been sowing for herself by her petty, selfish indulgence of her worst faults and weaknesses.

Are you an invalid? If so, do not make it an excuse for rendering everything about you miserable. Physical suffering is hard to endure, but some of the sweetest, most amiable and unselfish people I have ever known were invalids.

Remember that, while you are suffering from illness, those who wait upon you and attend you can become weary, nervous and discouraged. You and your ailments are not the only considerations on earth. Other people have rights and should be shown sympathy.

Your sickness is in all probability greatly your own fault. You have broken laws and are paying the penalty. Do not make every one about you suffer more than the mere fact of your illness necessitates. Be patient, be appreciative of kindness, be thoughtful and be as cheerful as you can. You will be surprised, if you try, to see how cheerful it is possible to become, even while suffering. Others have proven it so—you can.

Do YOU Understand YOUR Husband?

Too Many Wives Act as Jailers, Says Creator of "Daysey Mayme"

"Do YOU understand YOUR husband?"

The letter from "A Helpless Wife" published in the BOSTON AMERICAN attracted much attention because of its evident sincerity, and many letters have been received from readers of this newspaper offering suggestions to the woman who has been married for eighteen years and confesses that "I do not yet understand my husband." Brief letters are requested from other readers and they will be published from time to time.

Frances L. Garside, famous as the author of the Daysey Mayme articles, gives her views, as follows, on the all-absorbing topic:

By FRANCES L. GARSIDE

Not many years ago a timid little woman arose at a meeting of equal suffragists, and in a tear-soaked voice that was almost inaudible said:

"My husband no longer loves me. What can I do to retain his love"

There was silence for a moment. The question was an unusual one to come up at a suffrage meeting, for the reason that suffragists do not attach vital importance to man or his love. Then a gaunt, manish woman arose and in a voice that sounded like a foe born replied:

"Did you ever try feeding the brute?"

And between the opinion of romantic girlhood that man is an angel, and the verdict of the suffragist that he is a brute, every wife swings, and, in many cases, to the shame of the human race, she decides that the suffragist knows.

He Objects to Being Owned

For man is neither an angel nor a brute. He is just a big, hungry (stomach and heart) creature who wants to be fed regularly, though he is not as raven ous as the suffragist declares, but who wants more than regularity of meals the privileges of being let alone.

He doesn't want to be OWNED. And there is where the misunderstanding begins. He gets a wedding ring on her finger, and she looks at it, and thinks and thinks, and then it grows and grows, and becomes a collar, and she takes it off and puts it around his neck.

He is hers. She owns him. He is no longer free. The dog has more freedom.

Every woman has certain rules that she inherited from her mother and acquired from the women's magazines, and she demands that her husband obey them.

She demands that he be home when he comes in and goes out, and insists on the ceremony when the kiss between a peck, and a mere reference from her nose to her back hair, and is a mockery.

He begins to forget it with the discovery that she doesn't want him to kiss her, as much as she wants to find fault when he doesn't.

He has troubles down town, but he must also meet troubles at the door when he comes home.

He fails to realize the tragedy of burnt frosting on the cake; therefore he lacks sympathy.

He doesn't like the magazines she reads, largely devoted to rants of the men; therefore he lacks good judgment.

Continuous Praise Demanded

He is expected to praise what he eats between every mouthful, though it is not on record that he is praised for complying with his terms of the bargain in providing the wherewithal.

Matrimony must be one long hosanna; and the wife is on the throne and the husband in the chorus.

She thanks the Lord that she never did anything worse than crochet on Sunday. In his slate as clean?

He just listens, her more than his future, though it is his future that she lies solely to do with.

TELL IT TO A POLICEMAN — IF YOU ARE NOT HOME IN 30 MINUTES I'LL GO HOME TO MOTHER
MUST STAY DOWN TOWN - IMPORTANT BUSINESS
CAN'T YOU FIX IT?
HENRY YOU STAY RIGHT HERE
ER MY DEAR I MUST GO TO THE CLUB FOR AN IMPORTANT MEETING
HAND OVER THAT 50¢ YOU ARE KEEPING FROM YOUR WEEKS SALARY
THE ROLL
I-I LOST IT IN THE SUBWAY
LINA'S NOT LOONY
HUBBY'S CASH
LINA
WM. RIEL JOHNSON

SOME WOMEN DO UNDERSTAND HUSBANDS

She demands that he have no pleasures in which she can't participate, but instead of making her tastes conform with his, or letting him alone, she wants him made over to suit her.

In many particulars a husband who sits at the fireside and knits would be satisfactory. To such a man there could attach no suspicion.

She knows when he leaves the office and how long it should take him to reach home. There must always be "Oy Time" marked on his bulletin board, or "Why?"

If there are children, their love for their father is genuine in the beginning, but in later years he is the fortunate tree that never has enough on for exacting childhood, whose fault is it?

She finds fault because he doesn't exert himself to be more entertaining to their guests. In this particular, a man is forced to believe that the marriage vows made him promise he would treat all his guests at the front gate with a hearty hand, and entertain them only while he reads an address of welcome.

He starts off looking toward her, never sure his wife, and he should not have any at all toward his own.

He is a disappointment socially. On the rare occasions that she secures his company for a social event, all he has to say during the entire evening is, "I'm ready to go home."

If he becomes an invalid and a fabricator whose fault is it? Doesn't she force him into the invention of sudden chills, fever, appendicitis, etc., as an excuse for staying with him in bed?

Does a wife ever understand her husband? NEVER. If she did she wouldn't drive him to the mustard plaster and the hot water bag as a means of staying at home.

A girl is bought by him to pay her father's loan. It is easy to see why she still carries the keys and makes the boss stranger when she is married.

The number of bachelors is increasing because men are learning more about the jail.

A woman don't know, and never learns, what her husband is still the boy whose head line at a picnic never began till he got lost from his mother. And if his mother understood and was willing for him to get lost, he stayed all the closer by her side.

Married Trouble-Makers

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX.

My apartment was being painted, and for a week I had been dining at a nearby restaurant.

Those times during the week I had happened to sit near a couple in whom I had become interested.

The man was middle-aged, very good looking, well dressed, with "success" written all over him. The girl was a pretty little thing, rather overdressed in a cheap way, and her pretty head was, I fancy, rather an empty one.

But if empty of brains it was full of something else, and that was, thoughts of the man sitting opposite her.

She gazed at him as though he were all of heaven or earth, drinking in with delight the flattering words which he met obviously was uttering.

Toward the end of the week I had an engagement to lunch with a friend at one of the large uptown restaurants.

The Man Encountered

I was early and sat in the hall awaiting my hostess.

Presently a man took a seat opposite me and opened a newspaper. He, too, was evidently waiting for somebody.

He had waited about ten minutes, when there was a sound of laughing voices. A girl's soft voice exclaimed: "There he is, mother," and a handsome middle-aged woman and four young girls, all in motor costume, came down the corridor.

The man stood up and I really looked at him for the first time. He was the man of the downtown cafe.

"I'm sorry we are so late, dear," said the woman, laying an affectionate hand on his arm, "but we had a puncture and it took a long time to fix it."

"Daddy, darling," said a charming, pretty girl of about eighteen, "are you coming to the theatre with us? Do come, we haven't seen you since Sunday, and it's such fun to have you with us."

What of the Other Girl!

The man looked at her with all a father's love and pride in his eyes.

"I can't manage it, Pussy," he said, tenderly. "I must go back to the office and work this afternoon."

The group moved away, the husband and wife lingering behind the girls to chat.

And what of the other girl, I thought, the poor, pretty, little, empty-headed girl who is throwing herself away on this man.

He was very fond and proud of his family, one could see that at a glance.

But his wife was middle-aged. Romance and passion were worn out.

He was a tender, indulgent husband and father, all that was best in him was centred in his family. With his life he would defend the honor of those women who love his name and were so dear to him.

The pretty, little empty-headed girl was no older than his own daughter, and yet he was treating her in a way for which he would have killed the man who so treated his daughter.

His family were away; he was alone in town, bored and lonely; he was dining in the same by sacrificing the little empty-headed girl.

He took her on to dinner and flattered her and made love to her, and he would forget all about her in six months.

Beware the Married Man

His family he would love and protect all the rest of his life, and if the little, empty-headed girl made trouble he would sacrifice her ruthlessly.

And that's the part of this story that I want you to remember, girls. A married man will make love to you, but he will sacrifice you absolutely.

Your attraction for him is but a fleeting emotion. He will not leave his family for you, he is merely amusing himself.

Do you want to break your heart and ruin your life for a man's amusement?

Men are complex creatures and it seems impossible that the man who could break one girl's heart, could be a tender, loving father to another girl, but it is the case.

Never accept an invitation from a married man. A married man is a troublemaker, unless he is interested in one woman only, and that woman his wife.

The married man dines with the vain, silly little girl.

Women Write for Women

By WINIFRED BLACK

DEAR MISS BLACK:

I have been much interested for many years in studying the writings of newspaper correspondents, and in consequence thereof, I have come to the conclusion that writers of your sex, although, as a rule, they possess very ingenious and interesting articles, are not as capable or as versatile as writers of the male sex, nor do they seem to delve deeply into the truths of their subjects. Are they inferior in this respect?

I have the deepest admiration and respect for the ladies, and if I err in my opinions of their literary efforts, which I assure you is honest and formed only after careful consideration of such of their writings as I have been fortunate enough to peruse, I am most anxious to acknowledge my error and to crave their pardon.

I really would like to be convinced that I am wrong.

WILLIAM REID.

WELL, girls, what do you think of the above?

For a fair, honest, open criticism of us and our fussy little ways?

So we don't write as well as the men. We don't search as deeply into the truths of the subject, and we are not as capable or as versatile as men writers.

Well, let's bow our heads and say, "'Tis true, 'tis pity; pity 'tis 'tis true."

But fearless for one moment, pellucid, fair air of the disappointed Ideas.

Why do you suppose newspapers pay women to write for them when they can get plenty of men to do all the writing that is necessary—and more, too?

For the same reason, my good man, that you hire a man to mow the lawn and a woman to set the table and cook your dinner for you.

The newspaper woman writes articles which are supposed to interest women—and she does it.

That's what she is on the newspaper for and the very first thing a woman has to learn when she goes into newspaper work is that her work is valuable just as long as it shows in every available of it that it is the work of a woman—and one instant longer.

When little Miss Sweet Simplicity writes her first article for print, she doesn't always realize that the reason the editor buys it and pays for it is because no one could have done it in that way, knowing that it is written by little Miss Simplicity herself, and not by Mr. Dashing or Mr. Worldly-wise.

We don't pretend to be "deep," or "logical," or "thorough." We are not expected to be anything else than we wanted to, and we wouldn't if we could.

Why don't you trim your Fall hat with a wreath of lilies of the valley, Mr. Man, or get your tailor to embroider a pretty pattern of some sort upon the collar of your smart new coat—that's what the woman writer is doing.

And from your point of view we ought all to be exactly alike, oughtn't we?

The Country Boy

A Romance of the Stage from Behind the Scenes

Copyright, 1910, by American-Journal Examiner

CHAPTER XVIII.—(Continued).

"WELL, see what we can do," said Merkle; then, as there was no response, he asked:

"See Miss Le Roy to-night?"

"No, I called for her at the theatre, but she'd gone," he yawned. "If the old lady wants to see me to-night she'd better call quick."

"She'll be along as soon as she gets off her theatre rags," said Merkle, "she saw the show tonight."

"Did she?" Tom exhibited small interest.

"Yes," continued Merkle, "I want to talk with you about her, kid."

"About her?" Tom looked around sleepily.

"Miss Le Roy."

Tom turned indignantly, but Merkle continued quickly:

"Now, wait a minute, son; I know what you are going to say, it's none of my business, but I'm a bit older than you and I've seen a lot of things in this world more than you have, so don't think I'm butting in for fun of the thing. You're up against a hard proposition there, and I want to help you."

"I appreciate your kindness," returned Tom, with a toss of his head, "but I'm not in need of any help at present."

"Now, don't get sore, son!" said Merkle. "You're only one of a thousand others who have come down to this big city with a big heart full of love and sympathy for everybody in it, only to have it bruised by one or you by a shallow, fickle sad inconstant woman. And this woman isn't worth it!"

Tom rose and, faced him, his eyes blazing.

"Stop right there, Merkle! I don't concede your right to advise me in this or any other matter; and so far as Miss Le Roy is concerned, there is nothing you can tell me that I do not already know. She's been unfortunate—that is all—like a lot of other inexperienced girls that come to this city. But there is nothing in her life that she hasn't told me of herself."

"She told you herself?" cried Merkle, astonished.

"Everything!" said Tom, calmly. "And you will oblige me by dropping the subject."

"Well," thought Merkle, "that lets me out. I'm sorry I offended you, old man," he added aloud to Tom.

"I'm not offended," said Tom, still coldly, "only annoyed. You've simply voiced what every person in this house has been thinking for weeks, and it's unfair to her. I hope you won't speak of it again."

"I won't," said Merkle.

A knock announced Mrs. Bannan, who, in a huge dressing gown belted about with a tasselled chenille rope, passed in.

"I'll get out," said Merkle, edging toward his own apartment.

He started through the portiere, then turned back.

"Good-night, kid," he said gently, looking at the boy as a father would look at a wayward son.

Tom Gets Notice to Move.

"Good night," said Tom, and turned to Mrs. Bannan.

That lady swept grandly about the room once more, turning out the lights, then she confronted Tom.

"It's a good thing I was up late to-night myself," she scolded. "A nice time I'd have had waiting for you!"

"I'm sorry, said Tom, hastening to get the disagreeable interview over as soon as possible, "but I haven't anything for you."

Mrs. Bannan extended a letter. "This came for you after you left tonight," she said, hastily turning out the lights, then she confronted Tom.

"Here you," said Tom, adding, after he had looked at it, "I don't think it's going to be."

"From home, isn't it?" persisted Mrs. Bannan.

"Yes," said Tom, "from my mother."

"Better open it."

"I will, if you will excuse me."

She watched him as he broke the seal, then over the table and read the letter by the light, and let that she had anything low. He laid it down, disappointed.

"Well?" She picked up the letter.

"It's not—what I had expected."

"Didn't she send you a present?"

"I hadn't asked her to send me anything. She knows I have everything about me. It's about a friend of mine who is to be married."

Mrs. Wilson had written to Tom only three times since he left home, and was pressing his suit very hard, and that Jane had almost accepted him, so Tom's disordered mind this meant that the matter was all settled, and that his invitations were out. He had expected it; he thought he was prepared for it, but there was almost a sob in his voice as he spoke.

"Then, Mrs. Bannan's rasping voice broke in on his melancholy soul, "I am very sorry, Mr. Wilson, but—"

Tom forked up. "You needn't explain, Mrs. Bannan, I understand perfectly," he said. "You can't afford to keep me here, of course. You've been very good to put up with me as long as you have. I'll be gone in the morning."

Mrs. Bannan looked at him coldly.

Mrs. Bannan Won't Be "Stung."

"That's all very well," she said. "But where do I get off?"

"I'll send you what I owe you some day," said Tom. "In the meantime I'll leave you what I have. This watch is worth something." He took it from the table and extended it. It had been his father's, and it was worth a great deal to Tom. A pawnbroker, feeling happy and at peace with the world, might have loaned on it.

"I hope you understand my position, Mr. Wilson," said Mrs. Bannan, looking at the watch, "I have my own living to make, and I've been stung before."

"I have no one to blame but myself, Mrs. Bannan. Thank you for your trouble. Good night."

"I suppose you'll leave your trunk for security."

"Yes."

"Good night."

Before leaving she finally slipped the watch into the capacious pocket of her dressing gown she made a feeble sort of return it. There is good in landladies, dear reader, plenty of it, but after one has been "stung" again and again——. Well, Mrs. Bannan, that made the watch her own and sorely left the room.

Hardly had she closed the door when it was opened furtively, and Miss Amy Le Roy slipped in and looked around her. Discovering Tom, she started back with a little cry.

"Oh," she said; "I didn't know you were here."

"I've been hoping you'd come," said Tom. "Come in! I want to speak with you."

"I can't come in, Mr. Michelson is with me."

"Who?" Tom's face clouded.

"Jimmy Michelson. I didn't know the parlor was occupied. I was going to bring him in."

"What for?"

"He wants to say good-night to me." Miss Le Roy simpered, prettily, she thought.

"I see," said Tom.

"I can't keep him standing in the hall. It's so public!"

"I'm sorry to inconvenience Mr. Michelson," said Tom, sourly; "but I can't go into the street in this dress; better say good-night to him in the hall and then come back."

"Oh, I can't come back! Do you know what time it is? I'll see you in the morning."

"Better make it to-night, Amy," said Tom, "I may not be here in the morning."

"Are you going away?"

"Mrs. Bannan thinks I ought to. Tell Michelson good-night and come back."

"Oh," simpered Amy, "I know perfectly well that I oughtn't to be in a gentleman's room at this time of night, but you have such an influence over me."

She slipped out of the room, calling behind her: "Poor fellow! He's got to go all alone. Ain't it always the way?"

Tom stood quietly a second, then he heard a voice very like that of Miss Le Roy's and immediately outside the door Amy: "Sh-sh! Jimmy! Don't do that here!" You mustn't!"

Again the door opened, and Miss Le Roy stood before him. Tom closed it after her.

"Don't," she objected. "Don't close the door. Haven't you any regard for my reputation?"

"I don't think your reputation is in any danger," said Tom. "Sit down!"

To Be Continued To-morrow.

Your Liver is Clogged up

That's Why You're Tired—Out of Sorts—Have No Appetite.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS will put you right in a few days. They do your duty. Cure Constipation, Sick Headache, Indigestion, and Sick Headache.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE

Genuine must bear Signature

Brent Good

CHASE & SANBORN'S HIGH GRADE TEAS & COFFEES

Today's Best Story

BOOKER T. WASHINGTON, the negro educator, tells a story about a religious old darky of his acquaintance who had his faith badly shaken. He was the sexton for a white church, and one afternoon, as he was in front, sweeping the pavement, a sudden wind arose, tearing a piece of the cornice off and taking a few bricks out of the wall of the church. Realizing that a good run was better than a bad stand, the old man sought shelter in a saloon on the opposite side of the street.

Several minutes later a member of the church of which Uncle Isham was sexton came by. Noticing the old darky when he emerged, he reproved that he thought it an exceedingly strange place for one of the faith to seek shelter.

"Dat's so, sah," replied Uncle Isham. "I agrees wid yo'. But what's a man gwine ter do when de Lord begins ter throw bricks at 'im?"

A Prayer

By KENNET HARRIS.

My dear and only wife, I pray,
That you will straight forbear
To purchase ties in colors gay,
That I, perforce, must wear.

Your charming taste I'll not deny—
Denial were quite vain—
But when you give to me a tie
Also give me a brain.

You mean well, I am pleased to think,
But all the same it's true
Your choice is usually pink,
Unless it's baby blue.

Sometimes, of course, you'll get check,
And sometimes it's a plaid,
But, though I try to grin, by Heck!
They make me looping mad.

I'll let you my daily bread,
I'll let you buy up stock,
But, Sweetest Angel, on the dead,
Your neckwear makes me ache.

So grant this one request, my dear,
List while I make my moan:
Go buy your own infernal woman gear,
And let my ties alone.

YOUR own senses tell you the quality of Campbell's Tomato Soup.

When you see its fine natural color, and notice its fresh aroma, and taste its rich satisfying flavor, you know it must be made of choice materials. You know it must be pure.

In fact, there is nothing purer than

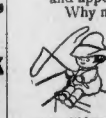
Campbell's TOMATO SOUP

No coloring is used in it; no preservative; no carrots nor potatoes nor cheap ingredients of any kind.

Everything in it is of the highest-grade that money can procure, and rich in food value.

It is hermetically sealed. It is sterilized by heat alone. And it comes to your table fresh and appetizing.

Why not enjoy it today?



21 kinds 10c a can

Asparagus, Beef, Bouillon, Celery, Chicken, Clam Bouillon (Okra), Clam Chowder, Consomme, Julienne, Mock Turtle, Mulligatawny, Mutton Broth, Ox Tail, Pea, Pepper Pot, Printanier, Tomato, Tomato-Okra, Vegetable, Vermicelli-Tomato

"Goldilox, Old Snoozers! Or I'll be a loser—
$ smell Campbell's Soup in the air.
The tea-kettle's humming
Just be up and coming.
We haven't a second to spare."

Just add hot water, bring to a boil, and serve.

Information, suggestion, real help—all in one volume—Campbell's Menu Book. Free.

JOSEPH CAMPBELL COMPANY
Camden, N J

Look for the red-and-white label

At Fountains & Elsewhere Ask for

"HORLICK'S"

The Original and Genuine

MALTED MILK

The Food-drink for All Ages.

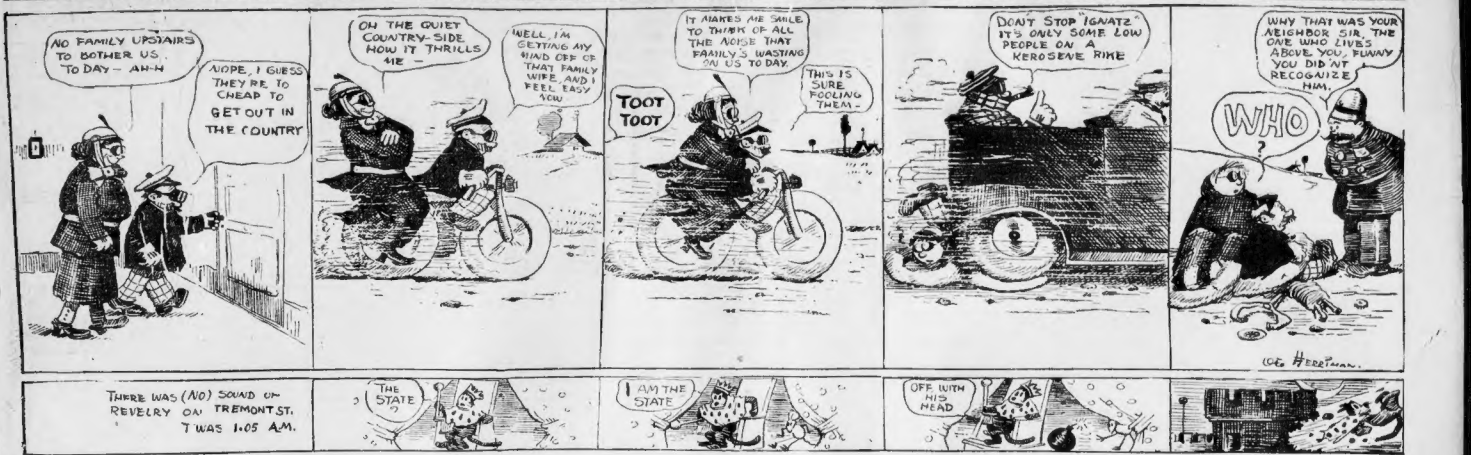
At restaurants, hotels, and fountains. Delicious, invigorating and sustaining. Keep it on your sideboard at home. Don't travel without it.

A quick lunch prepared in a minute. Take no imitation. Just say "HORLICK'S."

In No Combine or Trust

HOME MAGAZINE PAGE

The Family Upstairs—Dingbat Tried to Lose 'Em. Did He? By Herriman



NO FAMILY UPSTAIRS TO BOTHER US TO DAY - AH-H
NOPE, I GUESS THEY'RE TO CHEAP TO GET OUT IN THE COUNTRY
OH THE QUIET COUNTRY-SIDE HOW IT THRILLS ME -
WELL, I'M GETTING MY HAND OFF OF THAT FAMILY WIFE, AND I FEEL EASY NOW
TOOT TOOT
IT MAKES ME SMILE TO THINK OF ALL THE NOISE THAT FAMILY'S WASTING ON US TO DAY.
THIS IS SURE FOOLING THEM -
DON'T STOP IGNATZ IT'S ONLY SOME LOW PEOPLE ON A KEROSENE RIKE
WHY THAT WAS YOUR NEIGHBOR SIR, THE ONE WHO LIVES ABOVE YOU, FUNNY YOU DID'NT RECOGAIZE HIM, WHO ?
THERE WAS (NO) SQUAD OR REVELRY ON TREMONT ST. T WAS 1.05 A.M.
THE STATE
I AM THE STATE
OFF WITH HIS HEAD
GEO HERRIMAN.

THE LAUGHING SATYR

The Story of a Studio Murder Mystery, from "The Veil of Clay," by Meta Simmins

(Copyright in America by London Daily Mail, 1910)

THIRD INSTALMENT.

BUT that Beatrice could have had a hand in this inexplicable disappearance was, self-evidently, out of the question. He remembered asking her on his return that night if any one had called. No one, Mrs. Mellwraith had told him—though he had expected no one, not even Dominic Fleury, who he knew had been riding out and at a music hall afterward.

He came out of the bare, barnlike room into the squalid, fog-laden yard—what a resting place for this man with his fastidious love for the luxuries of life!—full of a pity that clutched at his heart.

Some one was coming across the yard to him, some one with a white face lit by two passionate eyes. It was Mrs. Stuyvesant. Evidently she had pulled herself together by some supreme effort of will; her manner was wildly excited as she approached him.

"How did my poor Lewis come there?" she demanded, feverishly. The words sounded almost like an accusation, and as he heard them Jardine was conscious of a little, creeping horror running over his nerves.

A Vow of Revenge

He disregarded the question.

"Mrs. Stuyvesant, what can I say to express all the horror, all the pity, I feel for you and for him?" he said earnestly.

"Pity—horror. What are they to me?" she broke out rebelliously. Even in that moment of tension Jardine was conscious how utterly the little American mannerisms that had lent a certain pliancy to her speech had fallen away. Only her voice was shriller, more nasal in her moment of emotion. "Idle words until I have known revenge on the man who took my poor Lewis's life!" she cried. "Oh, Heaven, I send that man to me, whoever it is; let him fall into my hands! The man who stabbed Lewis to death!" She made a movement of her large, cruel, strong-looking hands. Her wild, dilated eyes were bent fiercely on him as the words, breaking from the depths of a woman's anguish and despair, came to him.

He did not speak. What was there he could say?

Trapped in a Lie

"They say he has been in the water probably three weeks—three weeks ago he was at your flat in Watergate street. You tell me he walked out of the house in broad daylight—and from that moment no one has seen him again. But you did not tell me that he had phoned to you after he had left the flat—or what that message was——"

Her eyes were fastened on Jardine's face with a look that seemed to him to burn with suspicion. And yet until that moment suspicion as to that telephone message had never entered into Magda Stuyvesant's mind after her first wonder at Jardine's silence. She had never even mentioned the fact to the police, so trivial and its significance seemed to her.

"What telephone message—he sent me none," Jardine cried hastily. And even as he spoke for the first time the remembrance flashed across him of that scene in the studio when he had played a part before Dominic Fleury and had held a conversation over telegraph wires with a man who was dead! Incredible as it seemed, he had never thought of that scene till now—his overwrought nerves had played him this ghastly trick!

The woman saw the start he gave, his momentary hesitation.

Sweetheart and Mother

"Perhaps that was only a lie, too," she cried. "Like the lie you told me when you said that when Lewis called on you that morning you and he were alone in the flat! I know now that it was a lie—why did you tell me that lie? This girl was there all the time—this shameless girl I employed, who flung herself at my boy's head——"

"Hush! Mrs. Stuyvesant, you have no right to say that," he broke in sternly. "Whilst making every allowance for your state of mind, I will not permit her to be slandered in my hearing——"

In the excited passage of words neither had heard Mrs. Knowles's call for some time. Constance Knowles, like the two before her, had been scorched by her fears, at which the paper had confirmed so much, to rush up to learn the worst.

He went quickly towards her.

"It's not true, Dick—say it's not true about Lewis," she cried pitifully, clinging to him.

Mrs. Stuyvesant turned like a wild cat on Constance.

"You—by what right do you, too, come here?" she cried with passionate hostility.

"Because I was to have been his wife," the words issued hardly articulate from Constance's white lips. She was shuddering from head to foot.

Another Claimant

In the police station, as they came slowly back, a raised, excited voice reached them, and the words spoken started them with a new shock: evidently the newspaper report had drawn a fourth person to this place, where the dead man awaited identification.

It was a girl's voice: the shrill tones tinged with the cockney accent of a girl of the people.

"I want to see 'im . . . please. Guwd you're right—that the dead man is the Mr. Stuyvesant you say 'e is, and not the man I loved. . . . Only I must see 'im, no matter who's identified 'im, and whether she says she's 'is mother or not, I'm goin' to see 'im, to make sure that 'e isn't my Jim!"

A stranged sob cut short the excited words as the three, all so differently affected in their different ways by Lewis Stuyvesant's death, paused instinctively at the sound of the voice.

The faltering voice broke out again:

"It's My Jim!"

"It's more'n three weeks since I've seen my Jim—and I've heard no word of 'im—'e's been like a disgraced, and then I see this in the paper and the talk of the bungle. Just such a bangle as my Jim allus wore—'e was allus a dandy; and 'e wasn't tall—not near so tall as me—and you say the chap that's dead wasn't much over five feet?" she cried. "Oh, if it only is Mr. Stuyvesant, and not my Jim—not I'm afraid, terrible afraid!" she broke off piteously.

A moment or two later they saw the speaker as she came out into the passage to be shown to the place where the dead man lay—a tall, strikingly handsome girl of little more than twenty, with a wonderful red hair, and eyes dark green like jade, against which her face, white now with evident stress of emotion, showed up in vivid contrast.

After the shrill cockney tones of Whitechapel the sudden vision of this girl's striking, uncommon beauty was startling.

Escorted by a constable, she made her way past the group, who had stood back listening in startled wonder, scarcely glancing at them, all her thoughts bent absolutely on that dreary white building which the constable indicated as they crossed the yard.

The girl was looking for her lover; but at least—the thought was in Jardine's mind as he watched the tall figure in the cheap, rather pretentious piping of a previous fashion—walk excitedly toward the mortuary, hesitate for a moment, as if in dread, on the threshold, and then dart in swiftly—at least there was no such tragic ending to to-day's searching suspense for her as had been waiting for Constance.

Almost as the thought was in his mind they heard a terrible scream; then the girl rushed out like a demented creature, wringing her hands.

"It's my Jim!" she screamed. "It's a lie to say it's a Mr. Stuyvesant. It's Jim, as was to have married me! Jim——"

With the cry of her lover's name on her lips, she stumbled blindly forward and fell fainting.

* * * * *

CONSTANCE KNOWLES rose from her seat by the fire and walked restlessly across the room to the window.

It was three days now since the mad, swift rush in her motor had carried her down to that grim guest house of the dead, standing forlornly, mist-enshrouded, within sight of the river that was its ghastly mistress. Since then she had paid another visit to Greenwich and the police station in River row, to attend the inquest held on the thing that had once been Lewis Stuyvesant—a visit from which she had not long returned.

Now she was waiting the arrival of her brother, who was to accompany her to the funeral that was to take place at Highgate Cemetery that afternoon.

With a shiver Constance turned back from the window.

The vision of an imagined and horrible something that had once been a man that made a barely distinguishable outline beneath a mercifully concealing sheet; a vision that invariably concluded now with the silhouette of a girl's face, white and wild here—for now she realized that in some strange way the fact that Lewis Stuyvesant was dead, and dead by some violent means, had come to her that day when in her brother's studio in Watergate street she had first heard of her lover's disappearance.

"I wonder if that girl has found the man she called Jim, or if he is dead, too, poor wretch!" she asked herself, dully staring into the fire-red caverns of the fire. Then the thought of the girl faded from her mind. They had met more heart-rending sort of people, she thought; their affections were more akin to the instinct of the horror-stricken against the despairing gray veil of the mist. A girl with wonderful ruddy hair, who cried out a man's name in agony as she fell * * * a man's name—but not a name that she, Constance Knowles, was familiar with—not that; thank God, not that.

The Inquest

Since this morning, since the scene in the bare room at River-row, where the inquest had been held, there were other pictures to flash up unasked and undesired before her * * * pictures that, as they rose up before her mind, made the woman cry out aloud in the lonely silence of the room, burying her face among the cushions of the chair, pressing her fingers fiercely against her eyes in a vain endeavor to shut out the sight of them.

And not pictures only: fragments of the evidence repeated themselves in her mind endlessly. The engines of the motor, as it carried her homeward, had caught up detached sentences and woven them into a hideous rhythm.

"The body had been brought up to the surface by the anchor of a barge. Certainly that would account for the wounds in"——

Constance had thrust up her hands against her ears, refusing to listen to details. But there had been no need to listen: imagination supplied them all, supplemented them.

The Body weighted.

When all was said and done it had thrown very little light on the circumstances of Lewis Stuyvesant's death, the inquest held in the bare room that had seemed vibrant with the life of the river flowing past its walls—that had resulted in the open verdict of murder against some person or persons unknown. After all, Constance told herself, it had revealed enough that another had not already. Very soon forgotten, the agony of the girl with the wonderful flaming hair, amazingly popular with the women.

The medical evidence had proved very conclusively . . . the dreadful of her thoughts had brought her back to River row and and the inquest again . . . the medical evidence had proved beyond doubt . . . that death had taken place several hours previous to the immersion of the body in the river; the body had been placed in the river by the assassin merely in the hope of blotting out all trace of his crime.

Undoubted evidence also in favor of the theory of the body being cast into the river to cover up the traces of the crime * * * valuable evidence that had been promised in hosts—an old-fashioned leaden dumbbell with which the body had been weighted. It was possible that a pair may have been used, but if so, the other has been lost in the river, and its single companion, weighing five pounds, had sufficed to keep the body under water until the author . . . .

Horrible pictures, horrible thoughts and words and images pursuing each other madly through the woman's tortured mind.

The door of the drawing room opened and the grave-faced maid announced "Mr. Jardine." Even the servants in the flat at Knightsbridge shared in their mistress's gloom—the dead man had been amazingly popular with the women.

Constance started up with a little cry.

"Oh, Dick * * * Dick, thank God you've come. I felt as though I were going mad in the silence and loneliness."

"You shouldn't be alone . . . why isn't your priest with you to-day?" Jardine hardly knew what he said. He was glad when she drew away from him, for between Constance and himself he seemed to see the shadow of the hatred that she must feel for him if ever she guessed or knew even a little of the truth. . . . .

"Father Curwen?" . . . Constance gave a half petulant shrug: a ghost of her old self seemed to look out for an instant from her eyes. "I would not have him here to-day," she said. "He's so—so—I hardly know how to express myself, oh, good—a saint."

"We'd better be starting, Connie," Jardine said, glancing at his watch.

"I don't want to be late." Constance Knowles paused, pressing her hands nervously together. "Dick, you could nothing about this morning. What did you think? Oh, what can it all mean? That dumbbell, in heaven's name, who can have done my poor Lewis to death?"

"What can any one think?" Jardine muttered.

(To Be Continued To-morrow.)

Starr's

35-41 WINTER STREET

Challenge Sale — A Victory

$25 and $30 Skinner Satin Lined Suits

$14.95

One model like cut. A collection of suits constructed on lines of exclusive and popular models, embracing all the very newest effects. Materials are all wool broadcloths, gray mixtures, niggerhead and Lymansville cheviots, diagonals, etc., in all the most fashionable colorings. Coats are 32 and 34 inches long, Skinner satin lined, some braided, others severely tailored on mannish lines. Some skirts are fancy plaited, others modified hobble and plain effects. They are extraordinarily good garments at $20.00, $25.00 and $30.00. Challenge Sale Price less than at ½ Price Sales.....14.95

Crowded to the Doors

with many customers not waited on was the result of a much greater business than we expected on the first day of our Challenge Sale.

We desire to ask the pardon of those many persons who were not waited on and those who could not find their sizes or colors. Our stocks were virtually taken by storm and our supply was too small to meet the great demand.

We have wired orders, however, and on Wednesday shall have complete stocks of everything advertised or which we shall advertise this Challenge Week—DON'T MISS THIS SALE.

Starr's

A FEW DOSES END BACKACHE AND REGULATE KIDNEYS AND BLADDER.

If your kidneys are disordered or you suffer with backache or bladder misery a few doses of Pape's Diuretic now will effect a cure.

Put an end to kidney trouble while it is only trouble—before it develops into Dropsy, Diabetes, Gravel or Bright's Disease.

The moment you suspect any kidney, bladder or urinary disorder, or feel a dull, constant Backache, or the urine is thick, cloudy, offensive or full of sediment, irregular or of passage or attended by a scalding sensation, begin taking Pape's Diuretic as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine, at any price, made anywhere else in the world, which is so harmless or will effect so thorough and prompt a cure.

Pape's Diuretic acts directly upon the kidneys, bladder and urinary system; cleans, heals and regulates these organs, ducts and glands and completes the cure within a few days.

Pains in the back, sides or loins, rheumatic twinges, prostatic trouble, debilitating headache, nervousness, dizziness, weakness, bilious stomach, sleeplessness, inflamed or puffy eyelids, worn-out feeling and many other symptoms caused by clogged, inactive kidneys promptly vanish. Frequent, painful and uncontrollable urination due to a weak or irritable bladder is overcome.

Your physician, pharmacist, banker or any mercantile agency will vouch for the responsibility of Pape, Thompson & Pape of Cincinnati, who prepare Pape's Diuretic—50 cent treatment—sold by every druggist in the world.

A Handsome, Semi-Dressy Woman's Tailored Suit

Actually Worth 25.00 | 18.50

This handsome suit for fall wear is made of chiffon broadcloth in different shades, including navy and black. The coat is the popular 32-inch length, has the tailored notch collar and is effectively trimmed with self-covered buttons; guaranteed Skinner satin matched lining. The skirt is close fitting over hips, banded with self material at the knee and plaited front and back.

Special at 18.50

Women's New All Wool Diagonal Serge Coats

Actually Worth 20.00 | 15.00

One of the smartest and most fashionable models that we have shown this season. Decidedly dressy, and suitable alike for street or travel.

Semi-fitted style, full length, with inlaid satin collar, body and sleeves satin lined. Made to sell for 20.00.

Special at 15.00

Women's Apparel Section, Main Store, Second Floor

Jordan Marsh Company

TO-DAY'S STOCK MARKETS

STATE ST. NEWS FOR INVESTORS

Undoubtedly the street figures that business cannot be so bad if it pushes the banks to finance it, the only question being as to what will be done when trade improves. The banks never had so much money out as is the case now, and some of it is not within easy reach.

$ $ $

Trust companies and banks are active in the manipulation, and considerable business amongst the public has been developed. It is charged, and rightfully, that the current business on the floor of the Stock Exchange is made up in the main of the operation of the professional element, but no one would be bold enough to deny that this is better than to have no business at all.

$ $ $

That there is a tangible improvement is conceded, even though the large financial interests decline to become enthusiastic. Enthusiasm is just what they want to suppress at this stage for reasons that are public. A strenuous and campaign of talk time would lead to nothing but disaster later on.

$ $ $

The public is taking bonds with some freedom, mostly on the strength of the big people that a wholesale readjustment of values will soon take place. The readjustment of values will make bonds safer than they are now, and this accounts for the buying in that department of the market.

$ $ $

It is not official even now, but the statement can be made that there will be no advance of freight rates until January 1, at the earliest, and then the advance will be only part of what has been asked. State Street has been expecting an advance a few minutes after every decision in November, but the Interstate Commerce Commission, however much it might want to hurry the matter, finds itself unable to reach a fair conclusion under thirty months.

$ $ $

Even with the increased expenses practically every railroad in the country is reporting an increased earning capacity for the account of dividends and this is making it hard to smother the poverty plea before the Interstate Commerce Commission. The object of the request for a Rising January 1 is the earliest possible date for making a rate advance is undoubtedly to enable the railroads to get more reports of earnings, for in the last analysis the earnings of the roads are all the evidence the commission needs for fixing rates.

$ $ $

Sharp advance in cotton, due to Government pool of a short crop, is the second delight in State Street, apparently for no other reason than that it was an advance in the price of something. The advance in cotton and in turn the balance of international trade temporarily and prevent the export of gold before January 1, when the high authorities on international trade question whether even exports of gold or cotton will save the situation and they would not be surprised if gold were to be in a few weeks. The international trade balance is worrying high financiers far more than politics.

$ $ $

Decision by the United States Court of Appeals at Philadelphia on the Reading cases had been expected by some bankers but there is no fixed date for the announcement and the judges may hold it for weeks or months. If any decision is rendered they are prepared for an adverse decision, and would be surprised at anything else. Even from when this decision comes it probably will be greeted with a rally in the market regardless of its terms.

$ $ $

Corn Products is attracting much attention, but most of the buying there is given it the absent treatment, for they have tried actual contact with it and have come to sorrow. The directors of that company, like that of the Beet Sugar company, will be able to sell their entire capital stock when anybody shows a disposition to buy it, but Corn Products and Beet Sugar should do better because of the fortunate crops. Corn has not sold so low for nearly three years, and, with a three billion bushel yield assured, the Corn Products Company should make good this year if ever.

$ $ $

Banks in general are persisting in their refusal to finance the crop movement in cotton, and much of the money that has been going into high priced real estate the last two years is finding its way to the bond market. That there will be no lack of money seeking the bills market is proved by the fact that the Harriman lines alone have planned new issues to the extent of $250,000,000 in bonds and $200,000,000 of stock.

$ $ $

Action of Manhattan Elevated railway stock suggests a new department among the in the rejuvenated traction trust for the company. As a 7 per cent dividend stock it is too cheap, but the sudden interest there in the issue should be discounted for on purely investment grounds. The stock is practically a bond.

$ $ $

Reports are current on the board that there is considerable foreign absorption of Chesapeake & Ohio, in connection with the options exhibited in connection with the late placing almost a million shares of the company. According to the reports now received the pool in the stock has ample backing, of course, is determined to raise the price higher, and has not distributed much of its holding.

$ $ $

Thompson, Towne & Co.—One explanation of the strong position of the market is the fact that the public, who were hungry for securities and had been complaining on margin, have been steadily liquidating their holdings in the investment issues instead of increasing their liabilities. In the meantime stocks have passed into the hands of people with large resources who are willing to carry them for the dividends they yield or until such time as the market becomes broad enough to distribute them at higher prices.

$ $ $

George A. Fernald & Co. were the successful bidders for the $9,000 4s of 1929, dated May 1, 1910, maturing $1,000 annually in each of the years 1927 to 1935 inclusive.

POPULAR STEAMERS ON NEW YORK LINE

The big steel steamers which form the fleet of the Colonial Navigation Co. are equipped every luxury appliance which insures safety and comfort of passengers, and that is one reason why the Fall River steamer Priscilla to New York is so popular with the traveling public. There are many other reasons, the cabins are luxuriously furnished and brilliantly illuminated with electric lights, while some of the staterooms are provided with double brass beds. The cuisine compares favorably with that of the best metropolitan hotels; the prices are moderate and the menu always seasonable. The office of the Colonial Navigation Co. is at No. 250 Washington street, Boston.

COLUMBIA LEADS IN REGISTRATION

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Columbia University's registration figures place that institution in the lead of American universities in point of number of students. The total registration is 5,058, but as there are always late comers they will probably increase the number by two or three hundred. The total is three per cent less than last year's 5,090.

WALL STREET TRADING DULL

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Inactivity and continued dullness with few price changes marked the opening of the market in Wall street to-day. Northern Pacific, the leader of the upward movement of yesterday, was extremely dull to-day quoting a loss of ⅝ of a point. The best price of this stock during the early trading to-day was 118⅝.

A majority of the issues in both the standard railroad and industrial departments quoted fractional losses at the opening, but, after the first fifteen or twenty minutes of trading, these losses, in many instances were wiped out by fractional gains. Considerable strength was manifested throughout the market as the day progressed. Utah Copper, Steel, Reading and St. Paul were strong features.

The Harriman and the Hawley shares opened practically unchanged.

In London American stocks were heavy quoting declines ranging from ½ to ⅝ of a point in many issues. Copper stocks were irregular.

Trading on the curb was quiet with no material changes in prices.

BOSTON STOCKS.

Following is the range of prices for the leading Boston stocks to noon:

RAILROADS.

	High.	Low.	Noon.
Boston Elevated	128½	128½	128½
N. Y., N. H. & H.	153½	153½	153½

TELEPHONES.

American	138	137¾	138

ELECTRIC COMPANIES.

Georgia Ry. & Elec.	116	116	116
Mass. Electric	30½	29	30
Do. pfd.	84	84	84

MINING STOCKS.

Butte Coalition	19	18¾	18¾
Calumet & Arizona	79½	79½	79½
Calumet & Hecla	550	550	550
Copper Range	67¾	67¾	67¾
Daly-West	20	20	20
Granby	34	34	34
Greene-Cananea	6¾	6¾	6¾
La Salle Copper	10¾	10¾	10¾
North Butte	70	70	70
North Lake	29½	28½	29
Nevada Con.	19	19	19
Superior	31¾	31	31
Tamarack	69¾	69¾	69¾
Trinity	6¾	6	6¾
Utah Copper	47¾	47¾	47¾
Utah Con.	23¾	23¾	23¾
Winona	8¾	8¾	8¾

MISCELLANEOUS.

Mass. Gas	93¾	93¾	93¾
Mass. Gas pf.	92	92	92
U. S. Steel	64¾	64¾	64¾

UNLISTED SECURITIES.

Amal. Copper	65¾	65¼	65¼
Am. Zinc	28¾	28¾	28¾
Algomah	32	31¾	31¾
Indiana	15¾	15¾	15¾
Inde. Rubber	16	15¾	15¾
Lake Copper	26¾	26¾	26¾
Nipissing	9	8¾	8¾
Superior & Pitts.	12¾	12	12¾
Swift & Co.	102	102	102
U. S. Coal & Oil	40	39½	39½
U. S. Smelt	39¾	39¾	39¾
East Butte	9¾	9¾	9¾
U. S. S. Co.	77¾	77¾	77¾
Gilbert	7¾	7¾	7¾
Kerr Lake	6¾	6¾	6¾
North Lake	6¾	6¾	6¾
Ray Consol	20	20	20

BOSTON CURB.

Following is the range of prices to noon on leading Cobalt stocks:

QUALIFIED LIST.

Stocks.	Bid.	Asked.	Last.	Sales.
Amal. Nevada	13¾	14	13¾	12,400
Am. States Sec.	1	1¼	1	100
Boston Bk.	15¾	15¾	15¾	100
Butte Coalition	18¾	19	19	1,000
Child Con.	1 13-16	1¾	1¾	100
Davis-Daly	1¼	1⅜	1¼	1,000
Dom. Scotland	10½	10¾	10¾	100
Emerald	2	2¼	2¼	200
Florence Gold	2 5-16	2 7-16	2 5-16	2,000
Goldfield Con.	3¾	3¾	3¾	100
Granby	8 7-16	8 7-16	8 7-16	1,000
La Rose	3 13-16	3 15-16	3 13-16	1,000
Majestic	1¼	1⅜	1¼	1,000
Mohawk	55	57	55	100
Nipissing Mines	8¾	8¾	8¾	100
Mexican Metals	3⅜	3 9-16	3 9-16	100
Mass. Gas	93¾	94	93¾	210
Mass. Gas pf.	92	92	92	100
Nova Scotia	25	25½	25½	100
Rex	1¾	1¾	1¾	100
Ray Con.	20	20¼	20	1,000
Rhode Island	2	2¼	2¼	100
Tonopah Extension	1¼	1⅜	1¼	1,000
Tuolumne	50	55	55	100
Utah	20	20½	20½	100
Utah Consol Mines	3¾	3⅞	3¾	100
Yukon Gold	25	26	25	100
Bonanza	3¾	4	3¾	100
Mackinaw	30c	35c	30c	1,000
Rhode Island pf.	50	60	50	100
Rhode Coalition	87c	90	87c	100
Rhode Mining	30	35	30	100

UNQUALIFIED LIST.

Ark. Cen.	4¾	4¾	4¾
Bay State Gas	1 1-16	1 1-16	1 1-16
Chemung	70	75	70
Cuba	20	20½	20½
Cuba Central Steel	3	3¼	3
Elk Con.	25c	30c	25c
Hancock	3¾	4	3¾
Mackinaw	30c	35c	30c
Rhode Island pf.	50	60	50
Rhode Coalition	87c	90	87c
Rhode Mining	30	35	30

NEW YORK STOCKS.

Following is the range of prices for the leading New York stocks to noon:

RAILROADS.

	High.	Low.	Noon.
Atch., T. & S. F.	109½	109½	109½
At. T. & S. F. pf.	100½	100½	100½
Balt. & Ohio	107¾	107¾	107¾
Brooklyn Rap. Tr.	76¾	76⅝	76⅝
Canadian Pacific	253	252½	252½
Ches. & Ohio	80½	80⅝	80⅝
Chic. Gt. West.	24⅝	24⅝	24⅝
Chic., R. I. & P.	148¾	148¾	148¾
Chic. & N. W.	148	148	148
Chic. Mil. & St. P.	148¾	148¾	148¾
Denver & Rio G.	32¾	32	32
Erie	36¾	36¾	36¾
Erie 1st pf.	46¾	46	46
Erie 2nd pf.	42¾	42¾	42¾
Gt. Northern pf.	128¾	128¾	128¾
Ill. Central	141	140¾	140¾
Interborough	29¾	29¾	29¾
Louis. & Nash.	145¾	145¾	145¾
Mo., Kan. & Tex.	33¾	33¾	33¾
Mo. Pacific	54¾	54¾	54¾
N. Y. C. & Hud.	114¾	113¾	113¾
N. Y., O. & W.	39¾	39¾	39¾
Norfolk & W.	98¾	98¾	98¾
Northern Pac.	118¾	118⅝	118⅝
Pennsylvania	130¾	130	130
Reading	168¾	168¾	168¾
Rock Island	21¾	21¾	21¾
Southern Pacific	115¾	115¾	115¾
Texas & Pacific	27¾	27¾	27¾
Union Pacific	167¾	167¾	167¾
Union Pacific pf.	91¾	91¾	91¾
Wabash pf.	35¾	35¾	35¾
Wisconsin Cen.	50¾	50¾	50¾

INDUSTRIALS AND MISCELLANEOUS.

Amal. Copper	64¾	64⅝	64⅝
Am. Az. Chem.	43¾	43¾	43¾
Am. Cotton Oil	60	60	60
Am. Car & Fdy.	50¾	50¾	50¾
Am. Ice Secur.	18¾	18¾	18¾
Amer. Sm. & R.	69¾	69¾	69¾
Am. Sug. Ref.	116¾	116¾	116¾
Am. Tel. & Tel.	138	138	138
Colo. Fuel & Iron	32¾	32¾	32¾
Gen. Elec. (N. Y.)	157¾	157¾	157¾
Distill. Secur.	30	29¾	29¾
Gen. Chemical	100	100	100
Gen. Electric	140¾	140¾	140¾
General Lead	35¾	35¾	35¾
Northern Ore	57¾	57¾	57¾
Nevada Con.	19¾	19¾	19¾
Press. Steel Car	34¾	34¾	34¾
People's Gas	107¾	107¾	107¾
U. S. Rubber	37¾	36¾	37
Tenn. Copper	36¾	36¾	36¾
U. S. Cast Iron	26¾	26¾	26¾
U. S. Steel pf.	117¾	117¾	117¾
Utah Copper	47¾	47¾	47¾
Va. Car Chem.	59¾	59¾	59¾
Va. Iron, C. & C.	50¾	50¾	50¾
West. El. & Mfg.	67¾	67¾	67¾

The AMERICAN goes into more homes than all the other evening papers of Boston combined. It is the Quality newspaper.

MISS ELLIOTT IN NEW PLAY

Seen at the Shubert in Mrs. Burnett's "Dawn of a To-morrow."

By NICHOLAS YOUNG.

Science and health clasped hands in friendly fashion at the Shubert Theatre last evening and made it plain to every particular fan that things are never as bad as they seem. It was also made clear to the audience that a theatrical entertainment may take a turn toward the serious side of life and still yield a pleasant sensation. In "The Dawn of a To-morrow" cheerfulness was the watchword, even when death and the police were pounding on the front door.

It required no effort to feel the sunshine of Miss Gertrude Elliott's acting. She played it straight from the shoulder, and there was a lesson in every line. It was preaching, but, after the first fifteen or twenty minutes of trading, these losses, in many instances were wiped out by fractional gains. Considerable strength was manifested throughout the market as the day progressed. Utah Copper, Steel, Reading and St. Paul were strong features.

The Harriman and the Hawley shares opened practically unchanged.

In London American stocks were heavy quoting declines ranging from ½ to ⅝ of a point in many issues. Copper stocks were irregular.

Trading on the curb was quiet with no material changes in prices.

Star and two of her excellent support at the Shubert Theatre.

Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett's play carried a message of good cheer to the farthest corner of the evening, and Miss Elliott proved a messenger to be reckoned with. As Glad she was a complete dispensary for the foulest neighborhood in London, where she was having a hard time of it curing the social defects of the community. Her method belonged to the modern school—praying and asking, and waiting for the answer. Curiously enough her answers always came at the right moment, and it is to Mrs. Burnett's credit that she reached her conclusions by natural methods—she went to no place. The play, but a delightful play of logical reasoning.

The time is always ripe for new medicine, especially when the doctors resign. At least Glad thought so when she rolled out of the bundle of rags that proved big enough to prevent Sir Oliver Holt from indulging in a little revolver practice that he hoped would send him to the other side of the river. The medical specialist had announced the 6 o'clock whistle for him, and to avoid scandal he sought the back stairs to apply the finishing touches himself. There was much truth in Fuller Mellish's acting as Sir Oliver that you needed strong faith to keep you hold Hope long enough to reach the second act. So cracked and tortured body ever moved closer to the grave and came back.

The second act found Glad and Sir Oliver on even terms. Sir Oliver, a bachelor, a place not cheerful to look upon even with Glad's disinfectants in the air, was had rescued that it would be a safe place to escape from the fiery dragon of self-destruction. Glad argued that it was just the place for him to begin to live. She won and Sir Oliver soon had no trace of his wife's ghost. There was a lot of exciting events that kept the lamps burning all night in London's East End. His complete cure was performed next morning, and at dawn he was back in his Prince Albert and high hat airing and to chase ruffianly young lover, who was threatened with a dangerous attack of heart disease.

"The Dawn of a To-morrow" is a play of to-day that will evolve a to-morrow before the night. There is no great mystery involved in its telling, nor is it necessary to believe in supernatural happenings, for there are none. But it is a play that uplifts and holds out a friendly hand. Miss Elliott last evening gave herself seriously to the task of making Glad human, and the actor worthy of respect and admiration. She was a sign of good cheer. Miss Elliott was equally effective and played Sir Oliver close to life every minute of the long and trying performance.

The Dawn of a To-morrow" was rough on the doctors, but it was delicious to the audience.

Castle Square.

The John Craig stock company at the Castle Square Theatre presented last night the romantic comedy, "The Crown Prince."

The author is George M. Cohan, whose play was first produced by James K. Hackett several seasons ago. It's success last night was as complete as to its first appearance, and the audience was enthusiastic.

The play reminds one of the "Prisoner of Zenda" and "Rupert of Hentzau," for there is what makes the show, however, while Cohan has added a few humorous and melodramatic incidents for its success.

The plot of "Crown Prince" is not the best obvious, is composed of highly improbable situations, but the Prince and Princess are perfected without ever having known each other. Then they meet, still in love, and fall in love with each other. There's the ground work of the play. Mix with these elements a baffling conspiracy, a snatched kiss and a few documents of state importance and you have a romance in the hands of the Princess' friends. Stir well and you have an exciting and amusing drama.

Boston Theatre.

Oh, you Girlies! You've got the college boys writing poetry about you. That settles you to perish up to the box office with this little (Oscar) spiel:

"Say, Percy, how about that little raise, eh?" Or explain the concealed joke in Oscar Spiel (Joseph Cawthorn) is the hero of the play.) Just see what the morning mail brought in about the performance at the Boston Theatre last night:

Wheeze of your girls, your pouts and your gaieties.

Your girls is the town your girls at the theatre.

But the peachiest, peachiest remainder is that bouquet of violets. Please take it from me.

And we hasten to assure the writer that no one will say him nay. We likewise predict that the professors of Harvard, Yale and about Boston will have a pretty hard time to keep the attention of the boys on their instructions during the period that "Girlies" remains at the Boston Theatre.

The musical play bubbles with laughter from start to finish. It is a show of fun and frolic. Some of it is so old that it is new and some so new that it will never grow old. For instance, Cawthorn does with a little concertina stunt that he did several years ago, and it was one of the biggest hits of the evening. Maude Raymond, with all her vivacity and sparkle, is the part of a female Sherlock Holmes with comical adroitness.

There were specialties in the old but high class act, drew a cyclone of applause. Added to the cleverness of the travesties on "Madame X." and "The Spendthrift" was the fact that the audience thoroughly enjoyed them although neither of the plays had been seen in Boston. Above all it was the glorities themselves that made the big noise on the big night. They are the line about the dog—he is the funniest dog in the professorship. Miss Ethel Levey, Abrahams, George V. Hobart, your old friend Dinkelspiel, Wolfe the book, Jack Mason did the dances.

Majestic Theatre.

Stalwart Herbert Corthell and charming Miss Louise Mink succeeded Miss Appleman's "What Happened to Jones" come back last night at the Majestic. Yes, it came back with the original cast, the funny situations and with plenty of catchy music which Augustus Barnett has skilfully adapted into the various nooks of the courses in fast moving pace.

This year "The Girl and the Drummer" is the name given the piece. And Jones, the drummer, is the name given to the same quick witted genial fun maker that several years ago made Broadway's name a household one. Which makes it almost needless to tell about the plot. You remember, no doubt, the old professor goes to the prize fight, escapes when the battle is raked and brings home a drummer. The drummer takes the place of the expected bishop and there you are.

The music enters largely in making the play one which will again meet a hearty reception. To the interest of Sidney Jo a George Cohan style of song which Messrs. Corthell, Ryley and Robert sing with spirit.

Miss Mink's voice was never more pleasing, as she sang it with a subtle which is going to make the song "Lucy." "Morals" is another good song while the whistling success is to come in the song, "That Beautiful Waltz."

The cast is good although Miss Mink and Mr. Corthell are really the two who make it sing through to success. The chorus is strong and the dancing schemes novel.

Grand Opera House.

An old friend returned to town yesterday at the Grand Opera House when "The Thief" was given its first presentation at popular prices. This interesting play by Henri Bernstein was acted intelligently by the entire company, although special mention should be made of the excellent work of Miss Selma Herman, who played Louise.

Keith's.

Frank Fogerty is easily the individual star at Keith's Theatre this week. Styled "The Irish Pastel," Mr. Fogerty lives up to the name, for his act was a rapid fire unfolding of real wit. His stories were clever, and best of all, new, and his jokes taut were sprightly and snappy. The minstrel kept his audience on tiptoe every moment he was on the stage. Mr. Fogerty has something more than a jokester. He is an excellent singer, as his song about sailing to "Amerikey" proved. Moreover, he is a good entertainer emotionally and made a hit with his dramatic verse about the homecoming of an Irishman absent forty years from his birthplace.

Another feature act on the bill this week was that of the Russell and Smith minstrels. Blackface was never more before this time. Minstrels, and everybody from the audience over to the interlocutor was chock-a-block full of comedy wit and tender mirth. A number of sentimental ballads were given with fine effect.

Considerable interest appeared in amazing acrobatic stunts. The living pictures of Shepard's "Enchantment" were well received. "Wait by a Log" was the title of the one-act comedy that served George Ardid and Company as the vehicle that called for continued laughter. Bowman brothers in black and white scored as singers and comedians.

Other fine acts were Maximo, a clever black Wire performer; Alice Hanson and Gladys Bijou, a highly accomplished pair of entertainers, and Al White's "Jolly Jingers" in dazzling novelties.

Columbia Theatre.

"The Brigadiers" dropped in at the Columbia Theatre yesterday and furnished fun that was both finely and musical, and permitted Columbia patrons to see a score of handsome young women in several big ensembles.

Scenic Temple.

The new programme at the Scenic Temple yesterday was made up of several vaudeville novelties and a number of the newest motion picture films.

Waldron's Casino Theatre.

Not many burlesque organizations give the quality of entertainment that was furnished at Waldron's Casino Theatre yesterday by "The Ginger Girls." This company proved to be one of the best imported and to a week or less will go to Hot Springs, Va.

Piles Quickly Cured At Home

Instant Relief, Permanent Cure—Trial Package Mailed Free to All in Plain Wrapper.

Many cases of Piles have been cured by a trial package of Pyramid Pile Cure without further treatment. When it proves its value to you, get more from your druggist at 50 cents a box, and be sure you get what you ask for. Simply fill out free coupon below and mail today. Save yourself from the surgeon's knife and its torture, the doctor and his bills.

FREE PACKAGE COUPON

PYRAMID DRUG COMPANY, 268 Pyramid Bldg., Marshall, Mich. Kindly send me a sample of Pyramid Pile Cure, at once by mail, FREE, in plain wrapper.

Name.....

Street.....

City..... State.....

Royal Wedding Gown.

The wedding gown of Princess Ingeborg of Sweden, who was married to Prince Axel of Denmark, was of white satin, with a long train, and was trimmed with rare old lace. The veil was of tulle, and was held in place by a diamond crown.

Beauty Hints.

Lemon juice is a good bleach for the hands.

Cucumber juice is a good tonic for the hair.

Rose water is a good astringent for the face.

Cold cream is a good remedy for chapped hands.

Tomato juice is a good remedy for sunburn.

Buttermilk is a good cleanser for the face.

Olive oil is a good remedy for dandruff.

Vinegar is a good remedy for a sore throat.

Milk is a good remedy for a bad complexion.

Oatmeal is a good remedy for a rough skin.

Cucumber juice is a good remedy for freckles.

Lemon juice is a good remedy for a sallow skin.

Tomato juice is a good remedy for a muddy complexion.

Buttermilk is a good remedy for a sore throat.

Olive oil is a good remedy for a dry skin

AMERICAN WANT "ADS" BRING QUICK RESULTS

DALY CONDEMNS BACK BAY HOUSE AS 'FIRE TRAP.'

The four-story brick building at Nos. 5 and 6 Oxford terrace, Back Bay, which was badly damaged by a fire early last Friday, that endangered the lives of twelve families, has been condemned by Fire Commissioner Charles Daly as "an outrageous fire trap" in a report to Mayor Fitzgerald and Chief Whitney of the State Police.

Acting upon the recommendation of the fire commissioner, the matter has been referred to the building department of the city and action will probably be taken to-day. Chief Whitney also has the matter under consideration and it is probable an investigation of charges contained in the commissioner's report will be started immediately.

The property is owned by Nathan Mathews.

Commissioner Daly's letters were sent out following the receipt of Deputy Chief Byron's report on the fire and are as follows:

"I respectfully report that the department was called to the fire in the building Nos. 5 and 6 Oxford terrace, September 30, an alarm being given from Box 62, at 4.31 a. m., followed by a second alarm at 4.39 a. m.

"The building is a four-story brick apartment house occupied by twelve families. In the basement there is a carpenter shop and at the time of the fire the passageway in the basement was obstructed by barrels and old lumber, thus completely blocking the stairway leading from the upper floor to the exit.

"I suggest that the maintenance of a carpenter shop in the basement of this building is a serious menace to the property, and the matter should be brought to the attention of the fire inspection department of the Boston Fire and the building department of the city of Boston.

"Another and more serious charge by Fire Commissioner Daly to Chief Whitney, as follows:

"You will call the attention of all district chiefs to the condition prevailing the recent two-alarm fire in Oxford terrace. It appears from inspection and report that this piece of property was an outrageous fire trap. Though built of brick, the entire interior of this apartment house was of wood, with a small light shaft in the centre which served as a flue to a fire which started in the basement.

LOST AND FOUND

Diamond rings are pretty pretty things that belong to some and often times the owner is willing to pay a long and tedious hunt to get them back. A simple notice in this paper will in the majority of cases of lost articles advertised bring to two or three-fold the value of the article in a brief way about the time it will take the hunt is on the minute your ad. appears, and there will be no long waiting for it to be returned.

FOUND—A gentleman's gold watch. Owner may secure by identifying at Suite 3, 27 Bromfield st.

LOST—Saturday, a. m., So. Station; big containing two bank books. Finder please return; liberal remuneration with party known on card or 2 Wesley Park, Roxbury.

LOST—In K. Boston or Quincy, an Irish lily pin. Reward. Finder please return to office to be paid to finder. 508 Broadway, Everett, Mass. 2094-J.

LOST—Between Commercial Wharf and 163 Sparrow st., pocket book containing money and papers. Finder please return to 75 Sumner st., Somerville.

LOST—Lady's black leather handbag, with gilt top, containing purse, handkerchief and veil; returned to HOTEL TOURAINE; no questions asked.

LOST—Leverett st. and Bowdoin sq.; yellow pocketbook, initials on inside of flap. Finder please return to 4 FELDMAN, 3 Ashford.

LOST—Between Dover and Station; gold diamond ring; lib. reward. P. S. DORRING, Woods Hole, Mass.

Special Announcements.

TRUNKS, bags and suit cases; outer and inside damage to factory fire; prices to suit buyers; are selling above goods below cost. BOWKER Bros., 7 Columbia sq., corner Washington st., next st. Boston.

1000 BUSINESS CARDS, $1; display cards, $2. BRIEF BROS., 31 Leverett st., Boston.

CONFECTIONERY business for sale; cheap. Address MRS. ADY, 99 Berkeley st., suite 1.

Printing.

SEND 2c for superb sample cards, 10c per 100 up; other printing at equally low prices; if you can't beat that, SCOTT, no. 17, 5 Tremont Row.

100 EXCELSIOR CARDS and envelopes printed, $2. TREMONT PRESS, 24 Tremont Row.

Travel and Transportation.

Allan Line Royal Mail Steamers
Only DIRECT Service between BOSTON AND SCOTLAND.
Only DIRECT Service between BOSTON AND NORTH OF IRELAND.

Only Direct Service from Galway.
Superior accommodations for first, second and intermediate cabin passengers. Sailings every Saturday, Glasgow, Derry or Galway; $42.50 upward; third class, $26.00; through to Glasgow, Belfast or Londonderry. Prepaid steerage rate, $32.75. Excursion rates reserved for cabin or steerage. Children under half fare. H. & A. ALLAN, 110 State st., Boston.

For Sale—Miscellaneous.

Groceries, Markets, Restaurants, Etc. KIND store fixtures, refrigerators, scales, etc., for sale cheap; will sell or exchange for horse, buggy or harness. WHITMAN & CO., 1 Bromfield st.

WILL SELL 87 Encyclopedia Britannica, will sax bookcase for $40. R 984, Boston American.

Wanted—Miscellaneous.

SHAWMUT SHOE REPAIRING FACTORY, 203 Federal st.—Soles sewed, 50c; all work done accordingly; free shines with every job; boots and shoes made to order, $5 and up.

Sewing Machines.

DANDY SINGER, $5; White, $8; Domestic, $10; all others regularly, $15. PETER, 15 Essex st.

SLIGHTLY used drop-head Singer, $18; new Singers, $25. Factory Agt., 2250 Wash st., Rox.

Furs.

FURS remodelled, redyed, relined; first-class work guaranteed. MISS LEDFORD, 83 Worcester st.

KITZES-REINES FUR CO., wholesale & retail; repairing & remodeling a specialty. 8 Green st.

Photographs, Cameras, Etc.

PLATE CAMERA, 4x5, first-class new lense, 3 holders in fine leather condition; three holders, M 653, Boston American.

Hatters.

DERBY hats cleaned, band and binding, 50c; while you wait. Soft felt Panama mads over, $1. KELLEY'S 317 HOSPITAL, 23 Province st., 19 Bromfield. Telephone.

Dancing Academies.

W. S. STOKELL, 15b Tremont st.—We guarantee to teach old or young to dance in 6 private lessons, $4.

Cash Registers.

WALTON SELLS FOR LESS
NATIONAL and Hallwood Second Hand registers and supplies. 23 Devonshire st.; tel. Main 4546-6.

Wall Papers.

AT SIMON LINER, 49 Stanford st., removed from 809-39 Green st.—Paperhanging, $1.40; painting, $2.25; whitewashing, 20c. Hay, 2242-A.

Male Help Wanted.

LINEMEN WANTED.
EXPERIENCED electric light linemen for city and suburban work. Apply FRED T. LEE & CO., 642 East First st., So. Boston, Mass.

PHOTOGRAPHER
WANTED—Photographers, negative retoucher. Apply MORIZAU, 163 the year st.

ABLE-BODIED men wanted for the U. S. Marine Corps, between the ages of 18 and 35; must be native born or have first papers; monthly pay of $15 to $30; additional compensation results in clothing, quarters and medical attendance free; after 30 years' service can retire with 75 per cent. of pay and allowances; service on board ship and duties in all parts of the world. Apply at the U. S. Marine Corps Recruiting Office, 48 Court st., Boston.

A FEW MORE MEN to sell grocery and clothing weekly newspaper; permanent employment; big salary or our liberal goods on a side line on commission. MIS MFG. CO., 1 Madison square, N. Y.

BLACKSMITH—Wanted, immediately, a young man to work with blacksmith; shop with some experience preferred. J. ELMER ADAMS, Easton-dale, Mass.

BOY wanted to wholesale jewelry business, about seventeen years old. Address, in own handwriting, Accurate.

EXPERT MAN wanted for important property; wages $30 month. Address TIMINY, Roxbury Crossing.

SOLICITORS — Wanted, newspaper solicitors; permanent position; salary and commission; experience preferred. R 1024, Boston American.

TYNSMITH wanted. J. B. ELY & CO., 74 North st., Boston, Mass.

WANTED—A man who is familiar with running a Tire Heater seamless and cutting machine. Apply at WM. CAMPBELL CO., LTD., Bond Brook, Mass.

WANTED—Man for general farm work; must be good dry milker. C. E. CALDWELL, 504 Cabot st., Beverly.

Male Miscellaneous.

LEARN AUTO DRIVING AND REPAIRING in our repair shop; personal instruction; we have the largest and most complete school; now ready for coming classes; day or evening. Call or write for catalog. MOTOR MECHANICS' INSTITUTE, 1 Haverhill st., Boston; free catalog; always open.

YOU WANT to become a traveling salesman? write for particulars of our system. FIE GRAD-UATES' EMPLOYMENT BUREAU, Inc., Dept. 1, Buffalo, N. Y.

I MADE $50.00 in five days with a small mail order business; started with $5; send for free booklet; tells how. HEACOCK, 5102 Lo-kort, N. Y.

MEN WANTED, age 18 to 35, for cement mason and concrete construction work; $2.50 per day; steady employment; no experience necessary; state age; send stamp for particulars. ATLANTIC CEMENT CO., 30 Church st., Brooklyn, N. Y.

MEN WANTED to learn to drive and repair automobiles in our repair shops; day and evening classes; all the latest methods taught; catalog free. NEW ENGLAND AUTO CO., 309 Tremont st., Boston.

RAILWAY MAIL CLERKS wanted; average $1,100; examinations in every State soon; 6,000 appointments every year; common education sufficient; write immediately for free list of positions now obtainable. FRANKLIN INSTITUTE, Dept. 151-C, Rochester, N. Y.

Agents and Canvassers.

RELIABLE men and women agents wanted to sell our remedies; money easily earned; write terms. CRAFT CHEW & CO., Box 1449, Boston, Mass.

Male Situations Wanted.

A COLORED MAN like rooming or butler, all around man; can furnish best references; city or country. J. H. BURGESS, 1 Allston st.; telephone, Brighton 1288-M.

EXPERIENCED BUILDING SUPERINTENDENT of three years' experience, wishes position; good tracer. Boston American.

AS SIGN PAINTER—Paints all kinds of signs reasonably; window shades put on. Address 3 Lovett st., Boston; tel. 1959-3 Haymarket.

AS WATCHMAN—Man wants to learn; light; trustworthy; willing to start just for board. Address Watchman, 1 Allston st., Boston.

BAKER—Physician all-around man, good baker, wants steady; st. up. D 629, Boston American.

CHAUFFEUR—Experienced driving and repairing; references; city or country. J. J. LYONS, 33 Baker st., Roxbury.

GARDENER—Married man with small family wants position on private place; can furnish best of references. Address MR. ADY, 99 Berkeley st., suite 1.

GARDENER—Married man wants position as chief in private family; can furnish best of references; place 15 years; 90 Camden st., suite 1, city.

GARDENER—Married man wants position; understands care of lawn, trees, shrubbery, vegetables, reliable references. Address MR. ADY, 99 Berkeley st., suite 1.

ENGINEER—Of class, young, temperate and reliable, desires steady position; can handle any steam appliance, good mechanic, references; wants to learn electrical engineering. ENGINEER, 20 Bacon st., Waltham, Mass.

ENGINEER—A middle-aged man wants a situation as engineer or night watchman; has second-class license; can give good references. Address 179 Columbia st., Cambridge.

ENGINEER—Married, sober, steady; second class license. 49 Vermont st., Montclair, Mass.

GARDENER—Single and boilers cleaned and set for the Winter; heating troubles located. C. NEE-SON, Scituate, Mass.

GENERAL WORK—Position, for man and wife, on private place; city or country; references. Address MRS. ADY, 99 Berkeley st., suite 1.

GENERAL WORK—A handy, reliable, middle-aged man wants work about house or barns, city or country; good driver. A. for general work. 2 Coffeen st., Dorchester.

JANITOR—Wanted for a strictly temperate and trustworthy man a first-class janitor; also a watchman, or a position of trust. Address Box 75, Cary Station, Mc. C. DAVIS.

JANITOR—Situation wanted by a middle-aged man; understands steam heating; good references. Address JOHN MURPHY, 1 Allston st., Boston.

JANITOR—Young man wants work of any kind, city or country; can furnish good references. Address JOHN MURPHY, 1 Allston st., Boston.

JEWELRY ENGRAVER wishes position in manufacturing jewelry business; can furnish best of references. Address Engraver, Steamboat Newman's Restaurant, 1 Allston st., Boston.

JEWELRY ENGRAVER wishes position in manufacturing jewelry business; can furnish best of references. Address Engraver, 28 Allston st., Boston.

MACHINIST—24 years' experience; wants job at anything, will go anywhere. J. BOSEN, 16 Thorndike st., Boston.

ORDER COOK, waiter wants position in small boarding house or restaurant; city or country; temperate; excellent references. Address WAITER, 1 Allston st., Boston.

OPERATOR—Moving picture machine operator, 5 years' experience, wants position; can furnish best of references. Address MOVING PICTURES, 1 Allston st., Boston.

OYSTERS—Experienced opener, $18; new Singers, $25. Factory Agt., 2250 Wash st., Rox.

PLUMBER, first class, with license, wants steady job within Boston; new or jobbing. 2 Bellevue st., Boston.

STOVE REPAIRER—Work wanted repairing stoves at your home. 109 Hanover st. Boston; call or write.

TYPEWRITER—Position as a restaurant manager; have had good experience in buying. C 621, Boston American.

TEAMSTER—Situation wanted as teamster or chauffeur; several years' experience; good driver; can run. CHARLES CARTER, 129 West Concord st.

TEAMSTER—Young man wants a position on team, or work of any kind in a store, will go anywhere. G. B. 523 Columbia st., Boston.

UPHOLSTERER—Thoroughly understands his business, would like work or give estimates on; has receiving rug with him to have done; also all kinds of furniture repaired, stained, varnished, etc. Andrew L. K. PHINNEY, 188 Hampshire st., Cambridge; tel. 1919-2 Cambridge.

WAITER—I can work, but I cannot see a job; I want a good place; man and wife; would like steward, elevator, butler, or general housework, understand cooking; city or country; I am colored. Address V. M., 13 Kendall st., Roxbury.

Diamonds, Watches and Jewelry.

LENOX JEWELRY CO.
$1 DOWN, $1 WEEK—Diamonds, watches, jewelry; open an account now; we trust you. 373 Washington st., room 305.

WATCHES $1.00 A WEEK
L. S. ROUND & CO., 394 WASHINGTON ST., CRYSTALS, 15c; MAINSPRINGS, 25c.

MAINSPRINGS 25c; warranted, 2 years; watches cleaned, 50c; any lost jewel free, glasses $1. A. BEHTS, 749 Washington st.

COLONIAL LOAN EXCHANGE loans most on diamonds and relieved tickets bought. CLAFF, 19 Shawmut av.

Female Help Wanted

CHOCOLATE DIPPERS
Highest wages; steady work. Apply to Toursine Confectionery Co.
Office, 5th Floor, 251 Causeway st.

EXPERIENCED st. boy; also hand work; $6 per week; steady. 1068 Cambridge st., Cambridge Pub. st., North Cambridge.

GENERAL housework; small family; good wages; work in small South Boston home; steady. 199 Centre st.

HOUSEWORK—Girl for light housework; both sleep home; good chance to learn millinery; small st., suite 2.

LAUNDRY HELP—Feeders, folders and shakers wanted at the HIGHLAND LAUNDRY CO., Roxbury Crossing.

OPERATORS, experienced, wanted on opening and manufacturing garments; permanent employment. Address R 992, Boston American.

SIX FIRST-CLASS operators wanted. None others need apply. Also hand sewers. W. WHITE & CO., 89 Court st.

WANTED—General housework, waitresses, nurses, chambermaids; good wages; 15 references; hotel, institution, families. CAMBRIDGE EMPLOYMENT BUREAU, 2 Dana st., Cambridge.

WANTED—Young ladies over 18 yrs. as examiners and examiners' assistants; position pleasant; $10 a week to start. Apply room 217, 209 Washington st., Boston.

Female—Miscellaneous.

$5 STARTS YOU AT McDOWELL'S SCHOOL OF MILLINERY; the only individual instruction by expert teachers; we teach you the wholesale and retail method; we teach you to be your own designer; we teach you to be your own copyreader; we teach you to sell goods. McDOWELL'S SCHOOL OF MILLINERY, 2d floor, Tremont Row, 25 Winter st., Boston.

LADIES wanted to learn millinery; individual instruction; no class teaching; both day and evening classes; positions secured. THE MISSES HOWARD, 1 Bromfield st., Room 1, 2d floor.

MRS. CHEEL'S, 3 Park square, Boston, has a few reasonable rooms made from your own cloth; also remodeling and repairing; best of work and finest workmanship guaranteed.

WANTED—Young lady to learn shorthand during spare evenings. Call at 167 Boston American.

Female Situations Wanted.

A NEAT, respectable colored girl wants care of lady's or gent's apartment, rooms, or commercial office; will do anything at night. Address 1 Allston st., suite 2.

ALL RELIABLE colored laundress and fine ironer want work to do at home; will call for the bundle. MRS. WHITE, 29 Hudson st., Boston; tel. 1919-2 Cambridge.

A COLORED woman wants daily work. E. JONES, 70 Lincoln st., Boston.

A COLORED woman wants position as head baker in department or specialty store; can furnish best of references. Address MRS. ADY, 99 Berkeley st., suite 1.

A COLORED woman wishes work by the day; will wash machine or by hand; also will do ironing; can furnish best of references. Address MRS. ADY, 99 Berkeley st., suite 1.

A NEAT, respectable colored girl wants work; will wash machine or by hand; also will do ironing; can furnish best of references. Address MRS. ADY, 99 Berkeley st., suite 1.

CHAMBER WORK—A neat, respectable, colored girl wants chamber work; can furnish best of references. Address MRS. ADY, 99 Berkeley st., suite 1.

COOK'S position or general work wanted by a reliable girl. Tel. Cambridge 2094-J.

CLEANING and washing wanted by day or week; reasonable. BUTLER, 1 Allston st., Roxbury.

DAY WORK—Colored girl would like day's work or office work or washing to take home; no objection to going out of town. MISS WILLIS, 20 Northland st., care of F. BOWDEN, Suite 3.

DAY WORK—A colored woman wants work by day or hour; $1.25 per day; 25 cents hourly st., or 2d floor.

DAY WORK—A neat colored woman would like day's work or office work or washing to take home; can furnish best of references. MRS. J. M. SLADE, 38 Hudson st. Write or call.

DAYWORK—Colored girl wants work; $1.50 per day; excellent laundress, excellent cleaner; 15 and 20 Hancock st., Dorchester, 2d floor, Mrs. Thomas.

DAYWORK wanted by a colored girl, work by the day; can furnish best of references; call or write Lester st., E. M. BYERS.

DAYWORK or by the hour wanted; will take housekeepers position. Tel. 2094-2 Cambridge.

DAYWORK in Boston or near suburbs; $2 per day; Yemen st., Tel. 1357-2.

DAYWORK or fine work wanted; write or call after 6 p. m. MRS. L., 88 Warrenton st., suite 2.

DRESSMAKER—Colored girl, perfect fit guaranteed would like your work to do at home; high-grade experience in cutting and making all kinds of garments; remodeling a specialty. 47 Appleton st., Boston.

DRESSMAKER—Capable one all kinds of work; go to families at reasonable terms. M. A. BURNS, 2 Allston st.

GRAD. NURSE—Position wanted, maternity; experienced; can furnish best of references. 1 Worcester st., tel. Troy, 1425-1.

HOUSEKEEPER—Position as housekeeper or housekeeping; go home nights or care for entire family; best of references. MRS. ADY, 99 Berkeley st., suite 2, 2, R. R.; first-class laundry work, rough dry, plain work or fine work; can go home nights if you wish; also good day's work also. Apply 1 Allston st., suite 2.

HOUSEKEEPER—N. Y. lady, refined, educated, widow, with child, position as housekeeper for gentleman or widower in Boston or suburbs; best of references. MRS. M. E. KNOX, 1 Allston st., suite 2.

HOUSEKEEPER—Position wanted by middle-aged woman; is a widow's family; no objection to two in the family; state wages given. Address MRS. M. Mass.

HOUSEKEEPER—Position wanted by middle-aged woman; is a widower's family; no objection to two in the family; state wages given. Address MRS. M. Mass.

HOUSEKEEPER—Lady wants position as housekeeper; is a widower's family; no objection to children; good references. Address MRS. M. Mass.

HOUSEKEEPER—Elderly American woman, experienced, wishes position as housekeeper; would be glad to go to the country; best of references. Address MRS. M. Mass.

HOUSEKEEPER—Respectable American young woman wishes position as housekeeper; is a widower's family; no objection to children; good home more than wages; best of references. Address MRS. M. Mass.

HOUSEKEEPER—Position wanted by middle-aged woman; is a widower's family; no objection to two in the family; state wages given. Address MRS. M. Mass.

HOUSEKEEPER—Wanted, by refined American woman, position as housekeeper; is a widower's family; no objection to children; good home more than wages; best of references. Address MRS. M. Mass.

HOUSEKEEPER—Respectable American young lady wishes position as housekeeper; is a widower's family; no objection to children; good home more than wages; best of references. Address MRS. M. Mass.

HOUSEKEEPER—Wanted, by refined American woman, position as housekeeper; is a widower's family; no objection to children; good home more than wages; best of references. Address MRS. M. Mass.

HOUSEKEEPER—An American woman wants position as housekeeper; is a widower's family; no objection to children; good home more than wages; best of references. Address MRS. M. Mass.

HOUSEKEEPER—Position wanted by middle-aged woman; is a widower's family; no objection to children; good home more than wages; best of references. Address MRS. M. Mass.

HOUSEKEEPER—Elderly American woman, experienced, wishes position as housekeeper; is a widower's family; no objection to children; good home more than wages; best of references. Address MRS. M. Mass.

HOUSEWORK—A young woman with a child wants a position; is a widower's family; no objection to two in the family; state wages given. Address MRS. M. Mass.

HOUSEWORK—Position wanted by middle-aged woman; is a widower's family; no objection to two in the family; state wages given. Address MRS. M. Mass.

HOUSEWORK—A refined colored girl's work; $2 per week; 15 Temple st., Worcester, Mass.

HOUSEWORK—A refined colored girl's work; $2 per week; 15 Temple st., Worcester, Mass.

HOUSEWORK—Sewing, housework; girl wants general housework in family of two; good home more than wages; best of references. Address MRS. M. Mass.

HOUSEWORK—Sewing, housework; girl wants general housework in family of two; good home more than wages; best of references. Address MRS. M. Mass.

HOUSEKEEPER—American woman, 30, wants position as housekeeper; is a widower's family; no objection to two in the family; state wages given. Address MRS. M. Mass.

HOUSEKEEPER—Position wanted by a middle-aged woman; is a widower's family; no objection to two in the family; state wages given. Address MRS. M. Mass.

HOUSEKEEPER—Lady wants position as housekeeper; is a widower's family; no objection to children; good home more than wages; best of references. Address MRS. M. Mass.

HOUSEKEEPER—Wanted, by refined American woman, position as housekeeper; is a widower's family; no objection to children; good home more than wages; best of references. Address MRS. M. Mass.

HOUSEKEEPER—Respectable American young lady wishes position as housekeeper; is a widower's family; no objection to children; good home more than wages; best of references. Address MRS. M. Mass.

HOUSEKEEPER—An American woman wants position as housekeeper; is a widower's family; no objection to children; good home more than wages; best of references. Address MRS. M. Mass.

HOUSEKEEPER—Position wanted by middle-aged woman; is a widower's family; no objection to children; good home more than wages; best of references. Address MRS. M. Mass.

HOUSEKEEPER—Elderly American woman, experienced, wishes position as housekeeper; is a widower's family; no objection to children; good home more than wages; best of references. Address MRS. M. Mass.

HOUSEWORK—A young woman with a child wants a position; is a widower's family; no objection to children; good home more than wages; best of references. Address MRS. M. Mass.

HOUSEWORK—Position wanted by middle-aged woman; is a widower's family; no objection to children; good home more than wages; best of references. Address MRS. M. Mass.

HOUSEWORK—A refined colored girl's work; $2 per week; 15 Temple st., Worcester, Mass.

HOUSEWORK—A refined colored girl's work; $2 per week; 15 Temple st., Worcester, Mass.

HOUSEWORK—Sewing, housework; girl wants general housework in family of two; good home more than wages; best of references. Address MRS. M. Mass.

HOUSEWORK—Sewing, housework; girl wants general housework in family of two; good home more than wages; best of references. Address MRS. M. Mass.

HOUSEKEEPER—American woman, 30, wants position as housekeeper; is a widower's family; no objection to two in the family; state wages given. Address MRS. M. Mass.

HOUSEKEEPER—Position wanted by a middle-aged woman; is a widower's family; no objection to two in the family; state wages given. Address MRS. M. Mass.

HOUSEKEEPER—Lady wants position as housekeeper; is a widower's family; no objection to children; good home more than wages; best of references. Address MRS. M. Mass.

HOUSEKEEPER—Wanted, by refined American woman,

EDITORIAL PAGE OF THE BOSTON AMERICAN BOSTON, OCTOBER 4, 1910

BOSTON AMERICAN

80 AND 82 SUMMER ST., BOSTON, OCTOBER 4, 1910

"While Murphy Had His Dinner"

The Great Free and Independent Citizens Waited to Find Out Whom MURPHY Would Nominate and for Whom They Should Vote

Copyright, 1910, by American-Journal-Examiner

Charles F. Murphy, boss of Tammany Hall, nominated a ticket the other day at Rochester, N. Y. The New York Sun will support that ticket—not because it likes Murphy, but because it hates Roosevelt.

It is the New York Sun that we quote when we tell you that the convention supposed to represent free and intelligent voters waited for two hours while Murphy had his dinner, and then waited still longer while Murphy made up HIS mind what individuals he would select for the offices.

When you see hundreds of men supposed to represent millions of thoughtful citizens "waiting for Murphy to finish his dinner" and to learn from him what man he would name for Governor, what man for the judgeship, what man for every place on the ticket—you have a picture of American politics, of "free republican institutions" in the year of civilization 1910.

The Sun tells that while "waiting for Murphy to have his dinner" the crowd in the convention hall sang enthusiastically "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here!" Very appropriate, we should say. Remember that you cannot understand government or combat the rotten conditions in public affairs unless you appreciate the degradation of that mob of so-called "representatives" singing about its own slavish subjection to a boss, while the boss sits dining at his ease, deciding what man should be named for Governor of the greatest State in the Union, and what lawyer shall be put on the bench where the right kind of a lawyer can be so useful to the corporations behind the boss.

When the crowd of "representatives" that were "waiting for Murphy to finish his dinner" got tired of song they shouted, "What's the Matter with Murphy? He's All Right."

Murphy unquestionably IS all right individually.

The important question is, What is the matter with the people of New York State and of the country, when they tolerate in the filling of their most sacred and important public offices the absolute domination of an ignorant boss, to whose intelligence or honesty they would not confide even the least important of their private affairs?

Do the people of this country deserve any better government than they get, when a convention in a great State humbly waits while the boss dines and then as humbly accepts that boss's orders?

There Is One "Old-Fashioned Editor" Left in America

His Name Is General Felix Agnus, And He Is A NEW-Fashioned Editor Also

Copyright, 1910, by American-Journal-Examiner

Sometimes men ask whether all the fine "old-fashioned editors" are gone.

This newspaper begs to say that there is at least one of them left. And he is a good deal better than a majority of the old-fashioned great editors that we hear talked about.

General Agnus, who runs the Baltimore American in the morning and the Baltimore Star in the evening, is the best type of an old-fashioned editor, and also the best type of a new-fashioned editor.

Now, when Baltimore wants a great exhibition—Agnus is the man fighting for it, talking for it, and the man that will get it, if anybody can get it.

Whether it be a question of new canals, new industries, new developments of his native city, the rebuilding of a greater and better Baltimore, the protection of the interests of the average small individual, or fighting the selfishness of a big individual, Mr. Agnus, the old-fashioned and the new-fashioned editor, is always on the spot.

He recognizes the newest thing and gives it to his readers. He remembers the good old solid American principles, and very often makes his readers remember them.

Felix Agnus was a fighting soldier many years ago, and he is a fighting soldier to-day, with his white hair and fine courage. He is a man of French blood, American achievements and cosmopolitan thought. Baltimore ought to be proud of him and grateful to France that sent him.

If they ask you where the good old-fashioned editor is, you can say that he lives in Baltimore, in the office of Felix Agnus, and that in the same office lives the good, modern, up-to-date, new-fashioned editor.

Fortifying the Canal

Editors in Various Sections Support the American's Contention for Safeguarding Our Interests in Panama

From the San Francisco Chronicle.

Adverse foreign comment on the President's plan to fortify the Panama Canal is likely to crystallize public sentiment here in its favor.

A vast amount of American money and no foreign money at all is going into this enterprise. Under the existing treaty with Great Britain, it is made the duty of this country to police and protect the great work, though no act of war is countenanced in the canal itself.

It is unthinkable that Congress, after spending scores of millions on the canal, would refuse to safeguard it.

The argument that the canal would double the defensive strength of the American navy would fail to the ground if we had to admit that it would also double the radius of action of fleets opposed to us.

Americans built the canal and they will be doing all that is rationally expected of them if, while opening it to world commerce in time of peace, they look stoutly and supremely to their own interests in it in time of war.

From the Leavenworth Times.

The New York American publishes a recent cable message from William Randolph Hearst in regard to safeguarding the canal, in which he says: "I had rather see every spade and shovel withdrawn from the canal than to see it built without the right to fortify it in the interests of our country."

It seems that ever since the United States decided definitely to build the canal the question of securing to this country the absolute right to fortify it has been one of the foremost sources of contention among diplomats in drawing up treaties, and every time the effort has been made to deny the United States this right.

The American charges that during President Roosevelt's administration in 1901 there was presented to the Senate and urged the ratification of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty which contained the provision that the canal should be free and open "in time of war as in time of peace" to the vessels of all nations. This provision provoked a great deal of discussion, and the matter was finally settled by striking out the words "in time of war, as in time of peace," so that the United States now has the absolute right to control and protect the canal.

It certainly would be a ridiculous situation if, after going to the enormous expense of building the canal, this country should not have the right to protect it. It is not an international enterprise, although it is of international importance, and as Uncle Sam is footing the bill he will take the liberty of putting a few guns down there to protect the property in case the necessity to do so should arise.

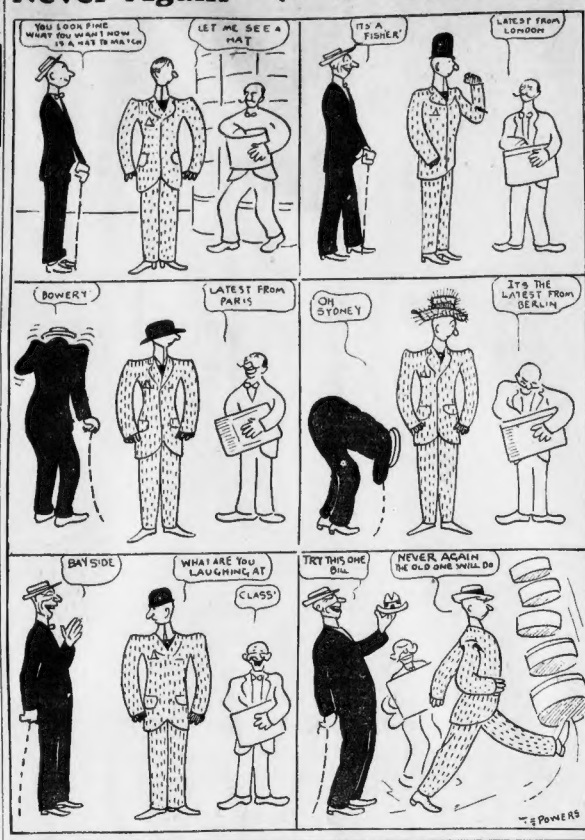
From the Portland Oregonian.

When the matter of fortifying the canal was first broached a few weeks ago there was a rumor of dissatisfaction in Europe and some talk of a violation of treaty agreements. Subsequent investigation has revealed the propriety of this government proceeding to build such fortifications and take any other steps necessary to safeguard our interests. At the existing treaties by which the rights of the United States in the Canal Zone recognized by other countries give this country the power to "police and protect" the canal, and such duty cannot be performed without the necessary fortifications, no valid objection can be made by other countries. It might, in fact, be of advantage to some of the Old World powers which may become involved in trouble to have this great highway between the two oceans well fortified against any possible interruption of service.

Never Again

By T. E. POWERS

Copyright, 1910, by American-Journal-Examiner



YOU LOOK FINE WHAT YOU WANT NOW IS A HAT TO MATCH
LET ME SEE A HAT
IT'S A FISHER
LATEST FROM LONDON
BOWERY
LATEST FROM PARIS
OH SYDNEY
IT'S THE LATEST FROM BERLIN
BAY SIDE
WHAT ARE YOU LAUGHING AT CLASS
TRY THIS ONE BILL
NEVER AGAIN THE OLD ONE WILL DO
T. E. POWERS

Temptations of St. Smith

By F. OPPER

Copyright, 1910, by American-Journal-Examiner

DON'T GET UP YET, SMITH. YOU CAN TAKE ANOTHER NAP AND HAVE PLENTY OF TIME TO CATCH YOUR TRAIN FOR CHICAGO
YOU SHUT UP AND GET OUT OF HERE!
AW, GO ON, SMITH, TAKE ANOTHER NAP. IT'S FOOLISH TO GET UP SO SOON.
WILL YOU GET OUT OF HERE, OR HAVE I GOT TO THROW YOU OUT?
2-2-2-2 CHUNK-A-LUNK KWA-H-H! KWA-H-H!
HAW HAW
LET ME THROUGH! I WANT TO GET THE CHICAGO EXPRESS!
TOO LATE, BOSS. SHE PULLED OUT TEN MINUTES AGO
TRACK 14
SMITH
F. OPPER

Irrigation

By THOMAS TAPPER

COUNTLESS acres of land in America have been transformed from a barren waste to a paradise of fertility.

The distant mountains, snow covered, have long cent little streams of water trickling down their furrowed sides. An observing mind puts one and one together and makes millions, simply by garnering the water into reservoirs and secfiding it in ditches to the barren acre.

At it is with land, so it is with the human mind.

Countless human beings are of the sand and sagebrush order. They produce nothing.

But if they can be made aware of the distant mountains of human thought; if they can be led to guide the streams and garner the water, and build sluices into their mental domain—then there will be a blossoming. This comes from observation, meditation, the study of men in action, of the treasures of books and art, of the high character of business and labor.

II.

OUR popular system of education is an effort to allow no unit to escape this contact. But as the mill will not grind with the water that has passed, so the mind cannot continue fertile from the water that flooded it in the years of childhood. It must be constantly fertilized.

Irrigation must never cease. From the accumulated wisdom of the world, from the vital Past and the living Present, there must flow constantly into a man's mental acreage the ening waters of life.

Stop the waters from the reservoir and the acreage is sagebrush and cactus again. Stop the flow of inspiration from the reservoir of wisdom, and the mind lowers to nonproduction and to imbecility.

But a man's business educates him! It often does.

But too often a man's business is but a single ditch from a little reservoir—it has not much power, and it does not touch the whole domain of his mental estate. For a man abounds infinitely beyond his conception, with undeveloped resources.

He must multiply his ditches.

III.

A RECLAIMED farm that produces its hundreds of acres of crops has a house on it and a flower garden. The house is for warmth and comfort, companionship, love, and the benedictions of life. The flower garden is for beauty and a sense of God's nearness. Every man may plant as much of his mind to business as he chooses; but unless he has a mental house and a mental flower garden into which to retire at times, HE IS THE OWNER OF AN ABANDONED FARM.

Irrigation is the one great process of land reclamation; and the reservoirs of human thought are no less fertilizing than the snow-capped mountains whose waters make the crops grow.

Build ditches and sluices, and reduce the unfertile spots in the mental acreage.

DON'T OWN AN ABANDONED FARM!

The Bread I Bake

By KENNETT HARRIS

You tell me that you hold me dear.
You say that for my love you sigh;
You're only happy when I'm near,
Without me you would want to die,
That's very nice, I won't deny.
Your heart I do not wish to break,
But will you joke about my pie
And will you scorn the bread I bake?

I've heard of husbands who would sneer
And scold when matters went awry,
Who keeps their wives in dread and fear,
Who carp and grumble and decry.
Of course, you know, I don't imply
That such a course you're apt to take
But how about the chops I fry,
And will you scorn the bread I bake?

Perchance within one fleeting year
You might not rate my charms so high,
You might say that my roast was queer
And call it tasteless, burnt and dry,
For me all dangers you'd defy.
You'd brave the gallows or the stake,
But will you call my coffee lye,
And will you scorn the bread I bake?

L'ENVOI.

There's this about the marriage tie:
You'd suffer all for my sweet sake,
But how about the hats I buy?
And will you scorn the bread I bake?

Little Bobbie

He Writes About Going to the Matinee

By WILLIAM F. KIRK

PA & Ma & me was all going to a matinay yesterday. Ma had a fread that was on the program, & Ma knew her wen she was a girl. She is a awful swell actress, Ma told Pa, goodness knows I never cud understand why she married a cut-up like the man she did. She cud have married anybody in her home town if she had only sed the word. She is the deerest looking littel thing you ever saw, & she has talent, too, sed Ma.

Well, sed Pa, I am not very keen as a rule for girls that has talent. There was four girl poets down to the offis yesterday trying to sell their sonnets, & they looked like four suffrygets, the kind that makes speeches up on the Commun every nite or so. On the square, sed Pa, one of them had eight 86 of them littel corkscrew curls that crazy peepul ware. I was to a dance at Danvers one nite, sed Pa, & all the foolish folks was there. Most of the ladies wore them littel corkscrew curls. Anyhoo, them talented ladies wich I have jest ben tellin' you about wus that kind; thay was the limit to look at. I often wonder why it is that so many talented women is so shy on looks. I have always been a grate admirer of lusty, sed Pa, wich I think is the reason why I married you. Buty is grater than talent.

I dount know wether that is a knock or a boost, sed Ma. Of course, I appreciate the fack that you think I am buetiful, but I am a littel doutful about that remark you made re-garding my talent. It seems that I must be a kind of a Joe, according to yure esty-mate, Ma sed. Back hoam, where I used to spell down the skool, thay all sed that I was a very bralny littel gurl, & if I do say it myself, I got the valedicktory at my class, & I was only sixteen. Jest think of it, I had the grate honor of saying goodby to my class at skool, graduating day. I was very glad.

Maybe thay was very glad to say goodby to you, sed Pa. But if you must see yure frend, & if you will promise to interduce me, I will take you & littel Bobbie.

So yesterday Pa calm hoam, but he dident have any tickets to the matinay. He has two 12) seets in the baseball gaim & a general admishun ticket for me. I can talk Bobbie in the grandstand, sed Pa, beekaus he is so littel.

Am I to understand that you are going to talk us to that awful ball gaim instead of to the matinay? sed Ma. Good hevings, Ma sed, I dount want to go & see that bunch playing ball. As far back as I can remember, Ma sed, thay have been down in the cellar. Why waste yure only afternoon off going to look at a lot of mutts? You are the limit, Ma sed. The good thing that you rib up for me often make me feel like Cleopatry being enter-tained by M. Antony, not. As a host, Ma sed, you are another sheriff. Why not talk Bobbie & me down to the dog pound, Ma sed, & let us look at the dogs. I won't go to any ball gaim, so there.

Well, Ma says So There Pa does what he thinks best, wich is what Ma thinks best.

Progress

By WEX JONES

IN Bombiloo, that peaceful isle, the natives lived like clams,
Happy beneath the flowing tide of plantains, fish and yams.
They all had grub enough to eat; there was no need of clothes;
Each had an airy little hut and a mat on which to doze.
Not one possessed a hank account; in fact, there were no banks—
Old Bangaroo, the cagey chief, alone in all the isle
Owned more than a banana tree and a broad, contented smile.

To Bombiloo there came one day a man all togged up trig,
But with many wrinkles on his brow and on his dome a wig.
He looked around the peaceful isle with a vivid glance of haste,
And sighed, "Ah, me, 'tis sad to see this labor gone to waste."

And straightway he proceeded to dr ill a well for oil
And then to turn the lazy crew into hustling sons of toil.
While Bangaroo looked on with pride, more gratified to learn
Progress was driving Bombiloo from her place so far astern.

The days went by and Bombiloo exported loads of oil,
Bananas, yams and plantains and such products of the soil;
The wrinkled stranger often said, "Progress, my boy, 's the dope,
You're getting even richer than you ever dared to hope."
He owned the houses, owned the land, owned everything that grew,
And the pussied Bombiloolooi felt he even owned them, too;
For, while they worked for him from dawn till they could see no more,
They hadn't got a single thing they hadn't had before.